1989 Farm Show A Great Success

Little five-year-old Angie Beshore, daughter of Jed and Susan Beshore, York County, allowed Governor Robert Casey to pet her yearling heifer. With Dad's permission, of course. The governor stopped to visit while on tour of the Farm Show last Sunday afternoon.

Weaver Has Grand Champion Steer

HARRISBURG — By the time the grand champion of the junior steer show was to be named here at the Farm Show Thursday afternoon, Lancaster County couldn't loose. They already had the three weight division champion ribbons plus a reserve champion title in their back pockets.

But don't think that all tension was removed. In fact, it became a guessing game at ringside of who would be the lucky winner: Jay Hess of Conestoga, the lightweight winner; Fred Weaver of Ephrata, the middleweight winner; or Kristin Chupp of New Holland, the heavyweight winner. And Judge Scott Schaake from the University of Kentucky didn't help relieve the tension. He added to it when he pretended to give the traditional slap on the rump to Chupp's winner and then finally walked to Weaver's steer and made his selection known.

That big moment brought TV cameras and news reporters swarming out of the woodwork to assail Weaver and his 1,265-pound crossbred steer named Maverick. Weaver, the 18-year-old son of ACRES CORN UPDATE: Corn futures prices closed lower from 1/2 to 2-3/4 cents this afternoon in response to spillover from beans and wheat. Heavy commercial led long liquidation pressured the spot option with some positioning also featured in advance of Friday's USDA reports. Estimates today projected corn production fractionally higher at 4.675 billion bushels, up from 4.671 projected in November, but well below 1987's figure of 7.064 billion. March ended today's session at $2.86-3/4 after briefly touching a high of $2.89-3/4 early in the session. Generic certificate bids firmed with some buyers offering face value.

ACRES SOYBEAN UPDATE: Soybean futures settled lower again today pressured by a late fund sell-off and continued long liquidation. Pressure continues from improved South American weather conditions and ideas that recent gains were overdone. Shortly after midday pressure was exerted by a break in oil. Some profit-taking was featured in advance of Friday's barage of reports which will include the final crop production, quarterly grain stocks and supply and demand figures. Pre-report estimates are calling for a slight increase in production at 1.524, up from 1.512 in November. Ending stocks were estimated at 1.393 billion bushels vs. 1.755 billion last year. January ended today's session 5 cents lower at $7.97-1/2 while March dropped 5-1/4 cents at $8.09-3/4.

ACRES WHEAT UPDATE: Wheat futures closed from 2-1/4 to 3-1/4 cents lower today on a combination of bearishly construed factors. The absence of a bid this week from the USSR coupled with heavy long liquidation pressured. Spillover from weaker soybeans added to the selling with losses magnified by the absence of ready buyers. Some positioning was featured in advance of Friday's crop reports which are expected to show a sharp increase in winter wheat plantings with acreage pegged at 53.141 million, up from 48.6 million last year. This increase is due

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

Get your ticket to superior performance by contacting your local Hoffman sales representative or our Landisville office. Call toll free 1-800-233-0137. In PA: 1-800-732-0456.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JAN. 9-15, 1989
Warmish but stormish.

Plough Monday, Jan 9, always the Monday after Twelfth Day Farm work continues after Christmas holiday and blessing of the ploughs Fuller Brush Man founder, A C Fuller, born Jan 13, 1885 in Nova Scotia Average length of days for the week 9 hours 21 minutes Thinking is the essence of wisdom

Ask the Old Farmer: This state [Arkansas] produces the greatest hog callers on earth The champion has called hogs for nearly two miles, with the wind with him Do you know of other states' champions? C N , Ark

In our coastal island area, men used to pasture stock on some of these uninhabited islands Boating them back and forth was tedious and worse, so a few of the old-timers used to practice calling for the stock Our local record is five miles, with the animals swimming the heft of that distance

Home Hints In a power outage a fully loaded freezer should stay frozen two days, if unopened

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: The week begins with a January thaw, turning to sprinkles Mild weather mid-week, followed by intermittent sleet and snow

Greater New York-New Jersey: Clear weather and turning mild Possibility of rain mid-week, then more mild weather to end the week

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Clear and warm to start, rain, but mild mid-week, then sunny at the tail-end with more showers coming

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny and warm for a day, then rain, very heavy in the west Warm weather helps, but still cloudy and wet

NEW SALE DATES
Monday, January 16 - 9:30 AM
Thursday, January 19 - 9:30 AM

Farmers with open ended contracts may want to wait until peak market prices occur at the auction before delivering tobacco to receiving areas. Prices have increased every week since our opening and we expect still another very TENSE week coming up!! If you want to see what TENSE means, fill our WAREHOUSE with tobacco from WALL TO WALL!

If you haven't already heard, all good tobacco was sold last week for $1.35 per pound to $1.40 per pound, and they were driving low-grade tobacco prices to higher levels to get a chance at your good tobacco. THEY WANT YOUR TOBACCO BADLY! Get your tobacco stripped NOW!

Remember, AUCTION IS WORKING for the whole farm community. We appreciate those farmers that have supported us to better prices for tobacco farmers as a whole.

WE AT PARADISE ARE SO VERY, VERY CLOSE TO CREATING AN ESTABLISHED TOBACCO MARKET. IT IS IMPORTANT FOR YOUR FUTURE THAT WE STAY! - SO REMEMBER US WHEN MARKETING ALL OF YOUR TOBACCO!

Remember, Our Wednesday sales now changed to Thursdays

Also, we will receive tobacco on Saturdays from 7:30 AM to 12 Noon.

OPINION

Special Event

The Farm Show is a special event, no matter how you look at it but, when you look at it closely, you see that what it really is is a lot of special things happening to special people. You can see it in the excitment on the faces of the people who attend as visitors as well as seasoned spectators and exhibitors.

It shows on the faces of children as they touch a lamb for the first time or get that blue ribbon they have worked so hard for all year.

The excitment does not necessarily go away with childhood. It was easy to see this morning watching Leon Arnold, 54, of Lebanon, in the swine barn of the Farm Show. He's at home . . . sitting on a bale of straw, talking to other exhibitors, friends and passers-by.

Arnold's pride and joy, Tilly, one of the six swine he entered was declared Grand Champion Yorkshire for the 1989 Farm Show. Tilly, all 350 pounds of her, slept, oblivious to all the excitement around her. In the 40 years Arnold has exhibited at the Farm Show, this is only his second Grand Champion — he took the same award in 1987.

Tilly was handpicked from a litter of 11 last March. When you consider she was just another pretty face in the crowd of Arnold's 1,300 piglets the odds are about the same as becoming Miss America.

Arnold and his son care for the swine "It's a full time, twenty-four hour a day job." Arnold likes it. He says "You have to like it, and like pigs" and you can tell he likes Tilly too, he describes his pigs as having different personalities, like people, and he thinks Tilly is "pretty nice." Watching him scratch her ears, as she nuzzled his hand, in her sleep, it's easy to believe.

There of his grandchildren will be ready for 4-H projects in another year — you can bet they'll have something to work for; a Grand Champion, just like grandpa.

NOW IS THE TIME

By Jay Irwin
Lancaster County Agriculture Agent

To Be Aware of the Meeting Season

This is the time of year that a lot of educational meetings are held and they're held during this season of year for a good reason — you have more time to attend meetings. During the spring, the summer and into the fall, there's just too much field work that must be done. Take the time to become acquainted with the meetings of interest to you and your operation. Some meetings are designed to reach certain production groups such as Dairy Days, Cattle Feeder's Day, Crops and Soils Day and Poultry Day, but others are programmed to reach all agri-business people like the Financial Management, Estate Planning and Farm Transfer Arrangement meetings.

Also, many agri-business and lending institutions conduct meetings to keep you abreast of the changes in their organizations. We urge you to mark your calendar as these meetings are announced and attend as many as possible.

To Look at a New Insecticide

Wouldn't it be nice to have an environmentally-safe insecticide made entirely from natural ingredients, one that would offer long-term protection and pose no threat to humans or pets and cost less than most chemical alternatives? Penn State Entomologists and a Pennsylvania company are working to combine distomaceous earth with an adhesive substance to produce such a product. Once approved by the Environmental Protection Agency, the product should be available for public use.

Bodies of most insects are protected with a waxy covering to prevent excessive losses of water. When insects crawl through this new insecticide, it clings to their body and destroys their waxy coat. This leads to excessive loss of water, dehydration and death.

To Control Mid-Winter Rat Problemns

Rats are dirty, they are destructive and they carry disease-spreading pests. We all know that, but did you know that one rat can cause an estimated 25% of all farm fires. Rats spread more than 35 diseases (which have killed more people than all the wars in history).

Rats are very profolic, they have new litters every 30 days — they multiply so rapidly that a pair could have 15,000 descendants in a year's life span. rats have sharp teeth, they can gnaw through lead pipes, sheet metal. cinder blocks and wiring. It's estimated that rats destroy about 20% of all crops planted each year.

This is an excellent time to check your bait stations and make sure they have fresh material. And be sure that children and dogs and cats cannot get to the bait. Let's do all we can to keep these expensive, destructive pests out of our buildings.

To Recognize Fertilizer Values

Since the cost of commercial fertilizer has increased, you should take a look at other sources of plant food; I am referring to farm manure and legume sods in our crop rotation.

The 1989-90 Agronomy Guide gives a very good comparison of these fertilizer values on page 19. With the amount of manure that is being applied to some of our livestock and poultry farms, it is quite possible that very little commercial fertilizer will be needed.

Alfalfa sod can add as much as 110 pounds of nitrogen per acre. This information is also found in the '89-90 Agronomy Guide on page 22. This is one advantage to having legumes in the crop rotation.

A complete soil test will reveal the needs for each field. Then the needs can be met by using farm manures, legume sods or commercial fertilizer. The new 1989-90 Agronomy Guide is available at the extension office for $5.00.

Southwestern Pa. Dairy Replacement Feeding School, Windmill Farms Restaurant, Blairsville, 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Continues Jan. 26.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

SANCTIFIED HOUSEBREAKING!

January 15, 1989

Background Scripture: Luke 5:12-26.

Devotional Reading: Psalms 103:1-13.

It seems to me that many of those who flocked to Jesus did so, not because they were interested in "religion" per se, but because they had needs that this man from Nazareth was able to meet. Note that the writers of the four gospels tell us nothing about the religious status of the people who ask Jesus for help. We don't know if they are Pharisees, Sadducees, or Essenes. The only times the gospel writers tell us anything specific is when the healees are gentiles instead of Jews.

So, essentially it is human need that brings most of these people to Jesus. They are broken in some way -- mind, body or spirit -- and they understand that he has the power to make them whole. It is not through studying the scriptures that they come to this conclusion, nor is it because of sermons by their rabbis. What convinces them that Jesus is a worker of miracles is that they have heard the good news about him that is spreading like wild-fire around the country.

AUDACIOUS BELIEF

So, a leper approaches him and declares: "Lord, if you will, you can make me clean" (Lk. 5:12). The man's audacious belief in Jesus is amazing. Here was a man who wasn't even supposed to come near other Jews because it was believed he might spiritually contaminate them. He was supposed to cry, "Unclean! Unclean!" so that people might avoid them. But he knew Jesus would not turn from him. His approach to Jesus is simple and straight-forward: "Lord, if you will, you can make me clean" (5:12).

According to custom, Jesus should have kept his distance from this man. But, not only did Jesus not shrink away, Luke tells us "he stretched out his hand, and touched him, saying, 'I will; be clean'." No elaborate rituals or protracted conversations about the man's religious views -- "And immediately the leprosy left him." We would like to think that this man's spirit was healed as well as his body and that this encounter changed his life, but Jesus did not make that a prerequisite.

Luke tells us of another incident of persistent faith that is even more impressive. Some men bring a paralytic friend to Jesus for healing, but the house is filled and they can't get in. Lots of people would have given up at that point and said, "Well, we tried!" But not these men -- taking the outside stairway up onto the roof, they begin to dig with their bare hands through the soft plaster of the roof until they have made a hole large enough through which to lower the paralytic on his stretcher!

PERSISTENT FAITH

Now that's true intercession: active, persistent love that just won't quit or be deterred by obstacles. They believed that Jesus had the power to make this man whole and they would not be deterred. Luke doesn't tell us if the paralytic had faith or not, but it is obvious that these men did. Quite a few of the people on my present daily prayer list are patients upon whom the medical profession has hung the prognosis "hopeless." Whenever I am tempted to stop praying for them and write them off, I remember these men in Luke 5 and their faith that would not quit even though the obstacles seemed insurmountable.

Some of the best names in the dairy industry recommend Pioneer® brand alfalfa.

Your cows have a very interesting way of letting you know how good your alfalfa is.

If they're strong, healthy, and consistently high in milk production, they're telling you they like what they're eating.

And that's why more and more dairymen are switching to Pioneer® brand alfalfa. Varieties like 5432 deliver the multiple pest resistance, high tonnage and long stand life you're looking for. But even more important, they give your cows the kind of high quality feed they need for top production.

This year, make the switch to Pioneer alfalfa. And join the herd.

FARM BUREAU ACRES

to reflect the USDA's reduction in set-aside requirements from 27.5% to 10% of base acres along with increased planting in response to higher prices and program flexibility. This year producers will have until April 14 to comply with program requirements with many producers planting their entire acreage base.

ACRES CATTLE UPDATE: Live and feeder cattle futures ended today's session lower on selling throughout the day linked to long liquidation. Reports of slow fed trading earlier in the day pressured the opening with increased packer activity propping prices midday. Ideas that packers will begin to rely on large numbers of contract cattle for slaughter needs the last half of this month offset support from active fed trading at higher prices. Some pressure was linked to spillover from the pork complex and selling on ideas the market had become overbought. Feeders ended today's session from 20 points higher on the September to 35 points lower on the January option.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady futures-steady.

ACRES HOG UPDATE: Live hog futures settled lower this afternoon with the February option leading declines. Selling was in response to weak cash fundamentals with many packers refraining from bidding because of unprofitable margins. Short covering late in the session boosted prices off session lows with further support linked to winter storm conditions in parts of the midwest. Bellies eased lower today but closed off session lows on late short-covering. February live hogs closed 75 points lower at $45.42 after touching $45.25 earlier in the day.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to weaker futures - steady to lower.

"All Things Being Equal, Bicep®+ Princep® Cost Less."

Bicep plus Princep herbicides give you the best combination for no-till weeds and grasses. Together, they easily penetrate trash and topsoil to move into the weed germinating zone for season-long control of annual broadleafs and grasses. They even stop late germinating grasses like crabgrass and fall panicum.

So go with Bicep plus Princep. You'll love the way they work in your cornfield, but the real plus is how they work within your budget.

BICEP+PRINCEP
They Cost Less.

Make mine W-L Alfalfa year after year.

"W-L has done better, in my opinion, cutting for cutting, all the way through, than most alfalfas. Good hay makes good milk, and the cows will tell you if it's good or not. W-L is finer stemmed than the others, and the cows consume more of it. It makes milk, it's got longevity, and the yield is good - it's a top quality alfalfa all around."

Local Dairy Family Honored

LOUISVILLE, KY — Kevin and Robin Martin, dairy farmers from Oxford, Pa., were among representatives of seven Dairymen, Inc. divisions participating in the Outstanding Young Dairymen Program during Dairymen's 20th Annual Meeting, Dec. 8-9 in Louisville, Ky.

Selected as the cooperative's overall Outstanding Young Dairymen were David and Linda Cox, representing the Old Dominion Division.

Dairymen, Inc. is a regional milk and dairy products marketing cooperative headquartered in Louisville, Ky. and is owned by more than 5,500 member-farmers in 17 mid-Atlantic, southeastern and midwestern states.

The co-op's Young Dairymen organization, with over 1,700 active members between the ages of 18 and 35, allows dairy farmers to gain a better understanding of their cooperative through a variety of programs, and helps them grow and learn more about problem-solving and decision-making on the farm.

The Martins, who represent the cooperative's Middle Atlantic Division, milk 52 Holstein cows at their Chester County farm.

Plan A Successful New Year In Agriculture

NEWARK, DE — The new year offers the chance of a clean slate in terms of farm management practices. But an important first step, strategic planning, is often hard to take.

"Planning is important for any business," says Jay Windsor, University of Delaware Sussex County Extension agricultural agent. "But it's often the hardest job we have. The very act of planning can be unsettling. It forces us to face the fact that the goals we have in mind may not be realistic."

To help farmers improve farm financial management, including strategic planning, county Extension offices in Delaware have available a series of video tapes that cover the principles of farm management in easy-to-understand, step-by-step format. Windsor says the video tapes, originally produced by Cooperative Extension in the Mid-West, are based on sound practices that are applicable to this area. Strategic planning is the subject of the first video in the nine-part series.

"It's tempting to avoid planning," the agent says. "By planning we're reminded that the future is risky. Planning takes time that could be spent on tasks with more immediate results. And it may cause conflict to surface within your family as you set priorities."

Strategic planning starts with some fundamental questions. Try to include your family in the planning process so that everyone will pull together for a common goal, the agent explains.

First ask yourself if you are in the right business. Second, what are your goals? What does it really cost you to produce your crop? Will interest rates go up or down? Will land value increase?

These questions have a real impact on your future.

Windsor says strategic planning involves seven steps and related questions.

1. Identify your goals. What do you wish to accomplish?
2. Inventory your resources. What do you have to work with?
3. Analyze your business performance. What have you done in the past?
4. Assess the future environment. What would you like to do?
5. Decide on a plan. What will you do?
6. Implement the plan. How will you get to your goal?
7. Evaluate your plan. Is it working?

"Because it involves a lot of self-evaluation, strategic planning's not easy," Windsor notes. "Long-range planning specifically compells us to ask for help when we realize we don't have all the answers. It is action oriented and forces a person to make decisions when they need to be made. Your plans should be long-range, but also flexible."

"Strategic planning does not guarantee success," Windsor says, "but it certainly improves the chances."

In addition to the initial tape Strategic Planning, the series includes Identifying Farm/Ranch and Family Goals, Selecting and Implementing Farm Record System, Preparing a Balance Sheet, Preparing an Income Statement, Analyzing Financial Performance, Preparing a Cash Flow Statement, Analyzing Business Adjustments: Whole-Farm Budgeting, and Analyzing Business Adjustments: Partial-Farm Budgeting.

Windsor suggests that the video tapes be viewed one at a time in order. To borrow a tape, call the county Extension office in Newark: 451-8965, Dover: 697-4000, or Georgetown: 856-7303.

What You Don't Know About Milk Fat

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Milk may be the America's health kick, but many people are in the dark when it comes to what's in it. According to a new Penn State study, a surprising number of consumers continue to be confused about how much fat is in the milk they drink.

In two phone surveys, 1,900 people were asked questions about changes in the foods they consume, including milk. In one part of the survey, respondents were asked to give the amount of fat in whole, low-fat and skim milk. The results showed that people really did not know the fat content of those different types of milk.

When respondents throughout the United States were asked to give the fat content of whole milk, two-thirds of the people answered that they did not know the amount, and 20 percent overestimated. Whole milk actually has a fat content of 3.25 percent.

People in the surveys did better with low-fat milk, which is usually labeled as containing 1 to 2 percent milk fat. Forty percent of the survey respondents said they didn't know and 9 percent overestimated.

Skim milk with less than .1 percent milk fat is virtually fat free, but 60 percent of the respondents said they didn't know while 10 percent overestimated the amount of fat. When people in a separate Pennsylvania sample were questioned, their responses were similar.

The results seem to indicate that many people are making decisions about their milk consumption without specific information. This is especially surprising in the case of low-fat milk, which often has the amount of milk fat printed on the container.

The study was conducted to learn why people do or do not drink milk. Robert Herrmann, Blair Smith and Rex Warland, researchers in Penn State's rural sociology and agricultural economics department, coordinated the two phone surveys, one for the United States and one for Pennsylvania.

Their primary purpose was to determine some of the attitudes and reasons why people have increased or decreased their milk consumption. The researchers' interest in the fat question was related.

"Since concern about fat is believed to be one of the culprits in the decrease in milk consumption, we wanted to see if the public was aware of the facts," Warland says.

In both the United States and the Pennsylvania samples, many people said they have adjusted their diets because of health reasons. A large number of people reported they were cutting back on eggs, pork and beef while eating more fish, chicken, fruits and vegetables.

But less than one-fourth of the respondents reported that they have changed the amount of milk they drink. For those who have changed, somewhat more have increased milk consumption than decreased it. Nationwide, 14 percent have increased the amount of milk they drink while 10 percent have decreased. The results for Pennsylvania were nearly identical.

Other responses also indicated that people are changing their diets for health reasons. Nearly half of those who had increased the amount of milk they drink cited calcium and other health reasons for drinking more milk.

Milk played a role int he decreasers' profile, as indicated by some of the most frequent reasons given for drinking less milk — reducing calories, fat consumption and cholesterol intake. Taste figured in increases and decreases, though taste was less significant than health concerns.

In the same study, many people who responded indicated they had decreased or increased certain types of food because of health reasons, yet few claimed they had changed the amount of milk they drink.

The idea that people are changing their diet habits for health reasons, even though they don't know the facts about milk fat, has led the researchers to become more interested in how consumers' beliefs affect their diets. They are conducting further studies about consumers' attitudes toward nutrition and milk.

Atlantic District 3 To Meet

SOUTHAMPTON, PA. — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative District 3 will hold its annual dinner meeting Jan. 17 at 11:45 a.m. at the Chestnut Level Presbyterian Church.

James R. Barnett, Atlantic's member relations manager, will be the guest speaker. Barnett will report on cooperative business.

During the meeting, Quality Milk Awards will be presented to Noah N. Sensenig, Quarryville; Abner L. and Sarah B. Stoltzfus, Peach Bottom; and Donsdell Farm, owned by Donald and Carol Trimble, Peach Bottom. The award recognizes those members who met Atlantic's quality milk standards for all 12 months during the past fiscal year.

Governor Heads Banquet And Farm Show Tour

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG—Governor Robert P. Casey entered the large area here Sunday in a horse-drawn surrey driven by Robert Decker of Garrett, Somerset, shortly after noon to the crescendo of the Lampeter Strasburg High School Band to officially open the 1989 Farm Show. The governor was accompanied by Mrs. Casey and Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff and Mrs. Wolff, and received presents from the commodity kings, queens, princesses and goodwill embassadors.

For the governor, the welcome had started the night before at the pre-Farm Show banquet across town where he declared agriculture the principle reason Pennsylvania is "the greatest state in the greatest country in the world."

"I want to congratulate you on the theme of the show: Pennsylvania Agriculture--Keystone of Our Economy," Casey said. "This week we will salute the men and women like you and tens of thousands like you who make this theme possible."

Casey said he daily "thanks the Good Lord for the honor of being governor of this state", and said that at no other time during the year is he prouder than when he walks through the barns at the Farm Show. He called the show spectacular, inspiring, heartwarming and unique to Pennsylvania.

As part of the pre-show banquet, the outstanding agri-business award was presented to Jay's Markets of York. Jay Miller, president, and Reid Skillman, vice president, accepted the award from Secretary Wolff.

The governor with his entourage arrived at the Farm Show front entrance at 11 a.m. sharp and immediately began his annual whirlwind walking tour of the exhibition hall and the livestock barns. Followed by a bevy of reporters and camera persons, the governor greeted exhibitors, sampled the traditional Farm Show potato, rode a tractor, petted a sheep and talked with dairymen. Then the official party climbed aboard the surrey and rode into the large arena, circled two times and pulled up to the grandstand. After a few remarks and the commodity presentations, the 1989 Farm Show was officially underway.

FARM MANAGEMENT

THE FAMILY FARM

ROLAND P. FREUND
Regional Farm Mgmt. Agent

There has been a lot of publicity, much of it filled with emotion, about the farm crisis, droughts, and now the Farmer's Home Administration letters to delinquent farm borrowers. All these things give us the impression that the family farm is becoming an "endangered specie." So it is important that we get some perspective on these matters before we jump to any conclusions about the future of agriculture.

The majority of Pennsylvanians are descendants of North-European peasant farmers who came to the new world seeking greater freedom and more abundant land. So there is a long history of farming which has developed from subsistence agriculture, through many technological changes, to the diverse forms of business which we see around us today.

Popular opinion seems to hold that there are two distinct different types of farms -- corporate giants and "family farms." It is suggested that the corporations are gobbling up more and more of the agricultural resources and are thereby threatening the very existence of the "Mom and Pop operations."

What is a family farm?

Actually it is impossible to divide the majority of farms into these two categories. There are a few investor-owned and professionally managed farms. But many of the very large farm businesses are in fact family owned and family operated. Even if a farm is structured as a corporation, the controlling family still views their business as a "family farm," just as the low income, the "way of life," and the part-time operators also feel that theirs is a "family farm."

Which farms are in trouble?

Drought and financial stress are no respectors of farms -- they strike all sizes and types of farms. However, some situations can make farms more prone to get into trouble. A farm that supported Grandpa's modest needs may not be able to provide the profits to finance the fancy machinery or the "faster lane" wants of today's generation of the farm family. Faulty planning can be blamed for much of the trouble which stems from:

- Optimistic expectations which overestimate yields and income and underestimate expenses and family living requirements
- Inadequate resources to generate the necessary profit margins
- Too much investment for the small margin which the business makes.

Which family farms will survive?

Only those farms which are able to maintain profitability, liquidity and solvency will see the next century as operating units. These accounting terms have to be understood and applied if any farm is to be successful. Any farm can 'survive' in the short-term so long as the cash-flow is maintained. The problem is that some have maintained cash-flow by refinancing debt to the point where the farm becomes insolvent.

Profitability

Profits are essential in every business. The family farm has to make enough operating profit to pay for the living needs of the family (a good wage for their labor) AND cover the debt obligations of the business AND in an average year provide some reserve to cover losses in a bad year.

When feed or fertilizer cannot be paid on time, when debt payment obligations cannot be met, or when normal family needs are not satisfied, we are seeing symptoms of inadequate profits from the business. These are also problems of:

Liquidity

Cash-flow is used to monitor liquidity. Making sure that there is sufficient inflow of cash to meet the necessary outflows is a vital part of business management and financial control. But unless this cash flow is generated from the underlying profits, the future of the business is very doubtful.

Off-farm income can be used to supplement the farm cash-flow. This is a good use of labor resources where farm labor needs are very seasonal, but care needs to be exercised when off-farm income is necessary to meet farm operating expenses. Then the family may just be better off without the farm.

Solvency

Equity (or net worth) is used to measure solvency. When there is none the business is insolvent or bankrupt. The financial progress of the business must be measured annually for both operating profit, and equity change. Unless there is a steady and positive growth in equity over the years, the chances of the farm's long-term survival are not good. The greater the equity in the business the better its chance of surviving any natural, financial or family catastrophy.

Planning for the 90's

There is a good future for the soundly managed family farm. Each family will have to explore different strategies and adopt the most profitable plans to ensure that their future is secure.

Penn State Extension is now equipped to provide farmers with computer generated analyses of planning alternatives which they might see for their farms in the future. The impact of changes that the farmer might like to consider in investments, in enterprises, or in debt financing arrangements can be measured in terms of profitability, liquidity and solvency. If you would like more information about this FINPACK or other farm management programs, contact your equal opportunity Penn State Extension office.

Cotner Receives Award

HARRISBURG — Donald and Jane Cotner of Danville received the prestigious National Soil and Water Award in conjunction with the 73rd Pennsylania Farm Show.

Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff made the presentation to the Cotner's on behalf of the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation and the DuPont Company, sponsors of the award.

The Cotner family was one of ten national finalists in the program. They were selected for their ability to accomplish comprehensive agricultural resource management and pollution abatement. They have a 1,000 acre crop, beef and poultry farm in Northumberland.

"Conservation is a crucial part of today's agriculture," Secretary Wolff said. "We have to conserve our resources so future farmers can accomplish more of the production miracles on which our citizens have come to depend. Tonight we pay tribute to some important people who protect soil and water resources as the farm.

"The Cotners symbolize the conservation efforts made by many of the producers in Pennsylvania. We recognize their efforts and we congratulate them for their award."

Don Cotner was a director of his local conservation district for 20 years. He has been at the forefront in implementing a number of new ways to protect national resources in agriculture. He was one of the first in central Pennsylvania to install contour strips. He has installed over four miles of permanent soil conservation practices such as terraces, diversions and grassed waterways. He was a pioneer in the county in adopting the no-till method of planting corn and has consistently been one of the highest producers. The same techniques are used to establish winter cover crops.

The Cotners also have animal waste facilities capable of storing over six months' accumulation of poultry manure from their 200,000 layers, so they don't have to spread manure on their fields in winter. Improved water quality is an important bonus from this conservation practice.

"Soil is our most important natural resource," Cotner said. "I have always felt that as stewards of the land we should strive to not only maintain our soil, but improve it as much as possible each year. Finally, it is more profitable to keep our plant food in our soil than to have it wash away and pollute our streams and rivers."

The National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation, established in June 1982 is a non-profit, non-political organization dedicated to conserving the nation's agricultural resources and promoting a sense of stewardship for the land by all Americans.

Grand Champion Steer

Roy and Carol Weaver, took the win in stride and answered questions with ease.

While the reserve champion received much less media attention, for Chupp, 17, daughter of Larry and Barbara Weaver, and her 1,275-pound Angus crossbred, it was still a nice win.

Before selecting any of the champions, Judge Schaake stressed that for most, to participate was to win.

According to several veteran ringside observers, this was the first time in recent history that Lancaster County 4-H beef club members dominated the Farm Show to such an extent that they captured all the division championships.

Jay Hess started the day with the champion lightweight. Kimberly Hopple of Cumberland County had the reserve champion lightweight.

Then came Weaver's eventual grand champion to the top of the middleweight division. Another Lancaster steer, owned by Nichole High, was the reserve champion middleweight.

In the heavyweight division, the eventual reserve grand champion was named division champion for Chupp. And Lori Cash of Center County had the reserve champion.

The number of steers at the show was lower than normal. Only 60 head were entered. The economic pressures on the livestock industry and the increased number of activities in the school systems have reduced the number of 4-H steer projects across the state.

REDUCING BROILER HEAT STRESS MORTALITY

Although winter has just started, it is not to early to begin planning for the hot weather that will occur next summer. Bird comfort is extremely important for maintaining productivity. Hot weather, especially sudden periods of high temperatures early in warmer months, usually results in bird discomfort with loss of appetite and weight gain. In some instances, the heat stress is sufficient to cause mortality. These sudden periods of high temperature usually occur before the birds have had an opportunity to acclimatize or become adapted to hot weather.

Assuming the ventilation system is designed and operated properly, broilers less than 6 weeks of age should not suffer mortality during high temperature periods. The critical heat stress period for broilers should be between 42 days of age and the time of processing. Broilers less than about 6 weeks of age are more tolerant to heat stress and the weight of broiler per square foot of broiler house is less for the younger birds.

A research article in the February 1988 issue of the Journal of Poultry Science presented an interesting management approach to alleviate the mortality of broilers exposed to high environmental temperatures late in the production period. The authors conducted a study to investigate the effects of heat stress of broilers during the 1st week of life on subsequent mortality resulting from exposure to high environmental temperature just prior to marketing. For the study, male broiler chicks were placed in floor pens and provided continuous light and a standard broiler feeding program. A brooding temperature of 85oF was maintained for the 1st week and then decreased 3 degrees per week to 70oF, which was then maintained for the duration of the experiment. The exception to this temperature program was that at 5 days of age one half of the chicks were exposed to 95-100oF for 24 hours.

On day 44 and again on day 45 of the experiment, one half of the control chicks and one half of the early heat stress chicks were exposed to 8 hours of 95-100oF temperatures. The remainder of the broilers were maintained at 70oF. The performance of the broilers is presented in the following table.

48 day Treatment*	Feed weight(lbs)	43-45 day efficiency	mortality(%)
Control-control	5.70	1.95	0.0
Control-late	5.67	1.99	12.3
Early-control	5.80	1.89	0.0
Early-late	5.76	1.91	0.8

*at 5 days of age, birds were maintained as controls or exposed to 95-100oF for 24 hours (early), whereas at 44 and 45 days of age, birds were exposed to either 70oF (control) or exposed to 95-100oF for 8 hours per day (late).

The authors concluded that "exposing birds to high environmental temperature at 5 days of age resulted in a significant decrease in mortality when the birds were exposed to a high environmental temperature late in life. In addition, feed efficiency was improved significantly in early heat stressed birds whereas body weight was not affected".

Trust Helps Save Manor Township Farms

LANCASTER — The Lancaster Farmland Trust has contributed $30,000 to Lancaster County toward permanent preservation of a key Manor Township farm according to Marilyn W. Lewis, vice president of the Trust.

"We are very pleased to have the opportunity to continue our support of Lancaster County's farmland preservation investments", Lewis said.

The Agricultural Preserve Board and County Commissioners went out of their way this year in allocating additional easement acquisition funds for saving two farms in Drumore and Manor townships.

The Manor farm of 171 acres was crucial, "The farm's preservation was of critical timing and we're glad to have been in a position to help make it happen with a contribution of funds representing about 23 percent of the easement value of $130,000", according to Alan Musselman, Executive Director of the Trust.

"The Trust's contribution was instrumental in supplementing County funds so that the farm could be saved in 1988" according to Karen Weiss, Acting Director of the Agricultural Preserve Board.

The Lancaster Farmland Trust is a private, non-profit member supported organization which continues to support public farmland preservation efforts and also functions independently in accepting and acquiring conservation easements, acquire farms outright to protect and resell them to young farmers and will be pursuing measures to enhance the agricultural economy locally.

"Commonwealth, County and private Trust commitments to preserving our countryside will be available for the first time in 1989," Musselman said.

the press and a large crowd gathered in anticipation of the event.

Denise Martin of Chambersburg in Franklin County exhibited her five-year-old, Pleasant Valley Superb Cashew to a grand championship in the Jersey show on her way to winning the title of supreme dairy champion and earning a $1,000 premium for that honor.

"We started this to encourage a better class of cows to come to the farm show and we feel we've been very successful. More than any other animal the dairy animal suffers from the trip to the farm show and we want to encourage breeders to make the trip," said Secretary of Agriculture, Boyd E. Wolff.

Selecting a supreme champion is all part of the promotional program to attract more people of diverse interests to the farm show, according to Wolff.

A large crowd gathered in the large arena as the time drew near for the grand champions to make their stroll into the ring. Televison cameras and many members of the press were on hand to record the event. Wolff said in a later interview the event was a success.

The three judges from the shows earlier in the day conferred on the six entries. Judge Leroy Plance said each cow was compared for being true to type. Plance said the height and width of the Jersey's rear udder and her sharp front end put her ahead of the other champions.

Plance said the their second choice for the supreme champion was the stylish Brown Swiss grand champion owned by Dean and Brenda Daubert of Bernville in Berks County.

Pleasant Valley Superb Cashew, a 5-year-old class winner was sired by B S Noble Superb to Top O' Hill TNT Carmel. Cashew was raised by Denise from birth and was her first 4-H animal. Denise is a member of the Greencastle Antrim Dairy Club. Jersey Show Champions

Pleasant Valley Jersey and the Martins were big winners all day long by taking many of the titles in the Farm Show Jersey competition. Denise Martin gathered both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners to add to her collection for the day. Champion udder also went to the grand champion.

The junior champion of the Jersey open and youth shows was Bridon Just Leta, Denise's intermediate yearling champion. Leta was sired by Patsys Adjustment to Bridon. Title Lena. Reserve junior champion was Douglas Martin's Clairwood Advancer Ginny, the second place winner in the intermediate yearling class.

Two Chester County breeders captured the reserve grand championship with the cow which was number two in the same class as the grand champion. Valhella Sparkler Leslie is owned by Patty and Elizabeth Jenkins of Toughkenamon in Chester County.

Parallel Parking for Cows, Yes!

Unlike the illegal parking of cars on a city street, when it comes to cows, this may be the new trend - in milking parlors, that is! Crazy, you say? Wait and let me tell you a few pros and cons. Actually, parallel milking is not really anything new. Years ago in the traditional stanchion or tie stall barn, cows were stabled parallel. When they came in from the pasture, they had to make a 90 degree turn into their stalls before milking.

Then came the new housing revolution of the late 1950s, and cows took up loose housing in much of this country, although some stables continue, and milking in "flat barns," i.e. nice, clean stables without bedding continues in places. Generally though, with the loose housing had to come the milking parlor as a separate facility; and cows walked into it in a "beeline," head to tail.

Many building variations evolved to this new concept of cows coming to the farmer for milking rather than the farmer coming to the cows. Head to tail or "tandem" was the simplest mode. But then you needed a long building, for say, 10 cows to be milked. Some smart operator thought of a can of sardines and arranged cows in a milking parlor in a "herringbone" packing mode. For the same 10 cows, this uses much less building, because the cows are staggered almost side by side instead of head to tail.

Still, the operator in the parlor has to walk at least half the length of each cow entering to be milked. And besides building investment, labor is probably the most precious part of today's dairy operation.

Thus, another smart operator thought why not parallel park cows in the parlor for milking? They did it in the stable, they still do it in the flat barn, but in either case milking was done from the side without problems. Now, parallel parking in the parlor means packing tight, no room for milking from the side. But, in some foreign countries, dairy animals are traditionally milked not from the side, but from the rear. In fact one of the first parallel milking parlors was built in 1980 by C.L.W. Donkers in Holland.

You might say again, I am crazy to even talk about it. But wait, the Dutch are some of the best and cleanest dairymen in the world, with some of the world's best-known Holstein cows. And they make some of the best Gouda, Edam and Boer cheeses. Last April I saw in the Gainesville, Fla., area, a herd of several hundred Holstein milked very well in a parallel parlor — and by a lady, by the way. I saw no problems there in cows marching in and turning 90 degrees for parallel parking.

Some recent Arizona studies indicate 10-12 percent increased milking efficiency because of faster cow entry and more rapid milking machine attachment. There is definitely less building cost because of the more compact arrangement of the cows. And most importantly, there is less distance for the men to walk between udders. There is also no machine kick-off since the milking hoses reach the udder from behind and between the legs rather than beside the legs.

A safety rail prevents any cow from trying to kick backwards. A splash panel between the cow and the operator to protect against cows "coughing" anything besides air, such as that green stuff and that nervous wet stuff. The cows' tails hang in-between and may need some trimming of the switch, but that could be a minor detail against the other advantages.

Besides Florida, parallel parking for milking is here already in Washington, California, Texas, New Mexico, and apparently in Pennsylvania and New York as well. If this will milk more cows in the same size parlor with less labor problems, it may just be the new successor to the Herringbone - and especially if combined with the rapid-exit individual gates, letting cows leave the milking parlor like horses from the starting gate - all parallel!

Berks County Swine Meetings Scheduled

LEESPORT (Berks) — All swine producers are invited to attend two Penn State Extension swine meetings scheduled for January 25 at Midway Diner on Rt. 78 (22), Exit #5, and January 26 at Fleetwood Grange on Rt. 662 just west of Fleetwood.

"Ask the Specialists" will be the theme of the 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. afternoon session at Midway on January 25. The speakers will spend a few minutes on major issues with the rest of the time spent on questions from producers. Speakers for the afternoon will be Jerry Clemens, Hatfield Quality Meats; Dr. Ken Kephart - PSU Extension agricultural engineer; Dr. Dan Meyer - PSU Extension agricultural engineer.

The same speakers will discuss subjects such as "Hatfield's New Grading System", "Protecting Yourself in Swine Buildings", "Today's Feeding Considerations", "Dealing Effectively With Neighbors", "Breeding for Profit", after the evening meal which starts at 6:30 p.m.

On January 26 from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Fleetwood Grange, Dr. Dan Meyer and Dr. Ken Kephart will offer a "Question and Answer" program to swine producers.

Cost of the educational meetings is $1 per person. The dinner on January 25 is $5. For more information and a flyer, contact Clyde Myers, Berks County Extension, Berks County Ag Center, P.O. Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533, telephone (215) 378-1327.

USDA Inspector General Retires

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Peter C. Myers announced the retirement of U.S. Department of Agriculture's Inspector General Robert W. Beuley. Beuley joined a Washington-area consulting firm upon his retirement December 26.

Myers accepted the resignation with personal regret and said, "He has served his country with integrity and loyalty for 27 years; he will be missed."

On August 13, 1986, President Reagan appointed Beuley USDA inspector general. He served as deputy inspector general from September 1985 until his confirmation.

The USDA inspector general directs a nationwide staff of 850 employees in carrying out the audit and investigate missions of his office.

A native of Pittsburgh, Beuley began his federal career in 1961 and served with distinction with the U.S. Army Audit Agency; the departments of Treasury, Commerce, and Interior, where he was assistant inspector general for auditing.

He received his master of business administration from Shippensburg State University, Shippensburg, Pa. and his bachelor of science degree from Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, Pa. He is certified as a public accountant, internal auditor and information systems auditor.

Beuley serves on the President's Council on Integrity and Efficiency, In 1984, he was selected by the President to receive the rank of Meritorious Executive.

Deputy Inspector General Leon Snead will serve as acting inspector general.

CHORE-TIME Baby Pig Saver™

Liquid Feeding System Designed For Automatically Feeding Pre-Nursery Age Pigs

A New Idea That Can Let You Cut 80% Of Baby Pig Losses

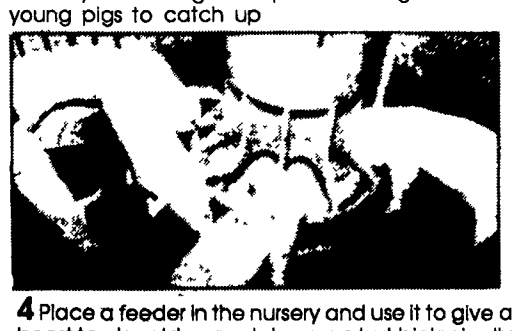
Up to 10 pigs - not more than 10 - can be placed on this feeder until old enough to digest dry feed without scouring: about 3 or 4 weeks of age. We do not recommend placing pigs less than 2 to 4 days of age on the feeder. Pigs must have sow's colostrum before going on the feeder.

Here's when to use this feeder

1 For small pigs having a hard time competing with littermates - or use it for the largest pigs of a litter, allowing smallest pigs to remain with the sow

2 If the sow stops lactating or dies, the Pig Saver will serve as a substitute for an entire litter of up to 10 pigs

3 In an all-in/all-out farrowing system, it's necessary to wean some pigs at less than 3 weeks of age Young piglets don't have a fully developed digestive system always able to handle plant proteins A few days on the Pig Saver post-weaning will allow young pigs to catch up



4 Place a feeder in the nursery and use it to give a boost to pigs old enough to wean but biologically not ready to be placed on dry feed A few days will let them catch up.

Garber Families Donate Easements To Lancaster Farmland Trust

LANCASTER — The Lancaster Farmland Trust has announced the permanent preservation of the Henry Garber family farm and two farms owned by the Gene Garber family, important and productive farms in western Lancaster County. All three farms are located in an Agricultural Area established in 1984.

The Garbers, in cooperation with both the private Trust and public Agricultural Preserve Board, "appreciate the assistance and initiatives of both organizations toward preserving and protecting farmland in Lancaster County."

Henry and Martha Garber have donated a perpetual conservation easement on their home farm of 64 acres on Bossler Road, West Donegal Township.

Gene and Karen Garber also have donated permanent easements on two farms, their home farm of 141 acres on Stone Mill Drive, West Donegal Township and their 90-acre farm on Hauenstein Road in both East and West Donegal townships.

Both families have expressed their interest to "protect the farms from non-farm development and assure the future agricultural use, character and stewardship of the land". Gene Garber said, "It is important that we have both private and public preservation efforts, that we're cooperating in the County and that this generation makes commitments to keeping the countryside."

Daniel C. Herr, president of the Trust expressed "respect and admiration of the initiative and commitment of the Garber families" and that the Lancaster Farmland Trust has accepted the conservation easements, to be held in trust as part of the properties deeds with great pleasure and gratitude."

"The Trust will establish an Easement Stewardship Endowment", according to Alan R. Musselman, executive director of the Trust, "to insure future monitoring and legal perpetuation of the easement interests".

The conservation easements were drafted to be tailored especially to the circumstances of each farm and to the wishes of the donors and include unusually restrictive limitations on new residences, firm protection of prime cropland and protection of forestland on part of one of the farms.

Both the Agricultural Preserve Board and Lancaster Farmland Trust are qualified recipients of conservation easements and both are prepared and receptive to working with farm families in considering land preservation options.

The Garbers' conservation easement donations represent the 17th, 18th and 19th farms protected by voluntary easement donation or sale in the Mount Joy - Elizabethtown area.

Countywide 1988 came to a close with 67 farms committed to an agricultural future via conservation easements. More than 200,000 acres of the County's farming countryside is also protected, but less firmly, by agricultural zoning and/or designated Agricultural Areas.

Cattle Feeder's Day Announced

The Lancaster County Cattle Feeder's Day is scheduled for Tuesday, January 31, at the Farm and Home Center, Lancaster. The theme for this year's event is "Diversity in Cattle Feeding."

Speakers will include Bob Loeb, from Mopac on "Producing and Marketing Kosher Beef"; H. Louis Moore, Penn State Extension Economist with "1989 Cattle Feeder Economics"; Jim Hogue of Renaissance Nutrition, presenting "Useful Concepts in Cattle Feeding"; Dr. John Comerford, Penn State Extension Beef Specialist, addressing both "Feeding Dairy Beef" and "Writing Custom Feeding Contracts" and Dr. Tom Drake, Penn State Extension Veterinarian with updated information on "Receiving Programs for Feeder Cattle." Bill McCoy, President of the Lancaster Stockyards will review with you the "Past, Present, and Future" of the local stockyards and Dave Ivan, new Executive Director of the Pa. Beef Council will report on their activities since the "checkoff."

Anyone interested in cattle feeding is invited to attend. No reservations are necessary. Lunch tickets may be purchased at the door until 11:30 a.m. In addition to the formal program there will be an opportunity to inspect commercial exhibits and visit other cattlemen. The event will begin at 8:30 a.m. with exhibit visitation and the program starts promptly at 9:30 a.m. This meeting conducted by the Penn State Cooperative Extension concludes at 3:15 p.m. with a question and answer session. Our sponsors for this year's event are Dauphin Deposit Bank and Hamilton Bank.

Atlantic District 12 To Meet

SOUTHAMPTON — The Quarryville and Christiana Locals of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative District 12 will hold their annual dinner meeting Jan. 19 at 11:45 a.m. at the Hoffman Building in Quarryville.

Don M. Breiner, Atlantic's quality and field services manager, will be the guest speaker. Breiner will report on cooperative business and quality milk regulations.

In addition, a business meeting will be held to elect officers and delegates for the coming year. Also, membership plaques will be presented to Ezra H. Beiler, New Providence, 25 years, and the Fred R. Esbenshade Family, Quarryville, 50 years.

Ag Security Meeting At East Nottingham

NOTTINGHAM—East Nottingham Township (Chester) farmers and other landowners are invited to an informational meeting on Agricultural Security Areas (PA Act 43) to be held Tuesday, January 17, 1989, at the East Nottingham Township Building. Starting time is 8 p.m.

Representatives from the Chester County Agricultural Development Counsel will be on hand to explain Act 43. Also the recently approved legislation to implement PA ag conservation easement program will be discussed.

Farm & Home Annual Banquet Set

LANCASTER — The Farm and Home Foundation of Lancaster County will celebrate its 25th anniversary at its annual banquet on Thursday, January 26 at the Farm and Home Center, beginning with a social at 6:00 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Speaker for the anniversary celebration will be WGAL-TV's Wendall Woodbury who will entertain the audience with stories of work on his television commentaries, "Wendall's World." Musical entertainment will be provided by the Hempfield High School Jazz Band, under the direction of Gary Luckenbill.

Lancaster County's agricultural community has been attending meetings at the Farm and Home Center since January of 1968, exactly thirteen years ago when the fourth annual meeting of the Farm and Home Foundation was held in the basement training room. The dream of holding meetings in a centrally located office, large enough to meet the needs of Lancaster's dynamic agricultural industry began long before that time.

The first recorded meeting at which an agricultural facility was proposed was held on February 9, 1954 at the farm Bureau Cooperative with J. Robert Hess, president of the Senior Extension Club, presiding. At that meeting it was pointed out that a group of agricultural leaders had met in the summer of 1953 at a corn roast at the home of Allen Risser to discuss the potential for an agricul-

Schlosser, Sollenberger Honored By Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association

The Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association presented R. Blaine Schlosser (center) and his wife, Julie (left) with the Dairymen's Extension Award at the 118th annual meeting held in Harrisburg on Tuesday evening. Dairymen's President E. Wayne Beshore (right) made the presentation. Schlosser is the Crawford County agent and has served on the Penn State Extension staff for 28 years.

Norman Sollenberger of Franklin County was honored at the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association 118th annual meeting in Harrisburg on Tuesday evening. Sollenberger (right) was presented with the Charles Cowan Award for outstanding contributions and leadership to the Pennsylvania dairy industry. His son Lane (left) and his wife Lois (center) joined Norman for the presentation. Sollenberger began farming in 1941.

Disease Ratings[1]

Footnotes:

1. The disease ratings for competitive varieties were checked against the "Alfalfa Varieties for '88" article which appeared in the November 1987 issue of the Hay and Forage Grower magazine. The ratings for PRO-CUT are shown as presented for the Plant Variety Protection Certificate and as presented to the Alfalfa Variety Review Board

HR = Highly Resistant R = Resistant
MR = Moderately Resistant
LR = Low Resistant S = Susceptible

2. The Disease Rating Index is a cumulative measure of a variety's disease resistance to the five diseases listed. For each disease that a variety is Highly Resistant to, it receives a rating of 5, Resistant to a 4, Moderately Resistant to a 3, Low Resistant to a 2 and Susceptible to a 1 rating The ratings are then added to determine the Disease Rating Index. A total of 25 would be ideal. The varieties in the chart with a — shown for a particular disease were tabulated as a 1.

3. The Insect Ratings were taken from the same sources as described in footnote 2.

Real Seal Dairy Booth Gets Attention

HARRISBURG — The Farm Show exhibit that seems to be getting all the attention this year is the REAL SEAL dairy promotion booth. It's not the free milk samples that's drawing the crowds . . . although they're a nice touch . . . it's Suzette the Robot Mannequin.

The booth reflects the theme of how easily consumers are fooled by imitation dairy products. Suzanne exhibits the ultimate in muscle control as she imitates a real mannequin. Suzette and the mannequin look amazingly alike, very attractive with their blond ponytails and matching outfits.

Only Suzette is handing dairy recipe brochures to the audience. Her fashionable red jogging suit has a patch that says "Do You Know Who's Real?"

Never blinking, never sneezing and barely breathing, she pivots and bends ever so slightly when someone reaches for a brochure. Several State Police troopers were seen in their attempts to make her laugh. She never flinches, but she does make very subtle gestures as if to laugh behind the backs of those brave enough to step up for a brochure.

Suzette performs every day in the dairy barn between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Her Farm Show appearance is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Area, the Mid-East United Dairy Industry Association and the American Dairy Association.

When asked during a short break about her amazing performance, Suzette said "you have to pace yourself." She has been working as a mannequin or robot for about ten years, appearing all around the East Coast at events like food shows, trade shows and grand openings.

This was her first appearance at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and she commented, "I never realized the Farm Show was so large . . . I'm really impressed!" Hopefully, she was as impressed with the Farm show as the Farm Show visitors were with her.

Local Dairy Farmers Attend Dairymen's Meeting

LOUISVILLE, KY — Forty dairy farm families from Pennsylvania were among more than 2,500 members and guests who participated in the 20th Annual Meeting of Dairymen, Inc. last month.

Dairymen is a milk, marketing cooperative with 5,500 members located in 16 Southeastern, Mid-Atlantic and Midwestern states.

As part of the Delegation from Pennsylvania, Joyce A. Bupp, Seven Valleys; Robert L. Grove, Greencastle; H. Bailey Herring, Farmington; Gene Kilby, Peach Bottom; Harold H. Martin, Oxford; Albert H. Mellinger, Strasburg; and Paul R. Waybright, Gettysburg, officially represented local dairy farmer members at the meeting as delegates.

During the meeting, the local members learned that their cooperative remains financially strong with sale of $985 million during fiscal 1988, which ended on August 31, 1988. Dairymen members marketed over 5.2 billion pounds of milk through their cooperative during that period with the average amount paid per Grade A member a record $132,200 up $1,000 from the previous year.

James W. McDowell, Jr., Dairymen's new chief executive officer who began his present duties in mid-year, presented his first report. He pledged that Dairymen would work to meet its No. 1 Goal, "To meet the economic needs of our members." He noted that Dairymen is accomplishing this in two ways, by working to increase the price of milk and by continuing to reduce costs, which were cut to 12 percent this past year.

The Cooperative's chief financial officer, James E. Mueller, reported on Dairymen's financial condition, noting a net margin of $3.5 million. He also reported that the cooperative paid out $23.7 million in over order premiums to members for an average of 46.5 cents per hundredweight. In addition, Dairymen returned to members approximately $13.8 million of equity investments during the past year.

Looking ahead, Dairymen's Chief Economist, Dr. Albert J. Ortego, Senior Vice President of Marketing/Planning, predicted that while milk production will remain about the same in 1989 as it was in 1988, milk prices will average about 50 cents per hundredweight higher next year.

"For good managers of dairy farm operations," said Ortego, "1989 offers a good outlook."

In addition to the delegates and directors listed above, approximately 200 members and guests of the Middle Atlantic Division of Dairymen, Inc. attended the Annual Meeting.

On-Foot On-Rail Beef Evaluation Program

LEESPORT (Berks) — Beef producers in southeast Pennsylvania are invited to participate in a beef evaluation program where the live animal and its carcass will be evaluated. The live evaluation will be held on January 31, 1989, beginnig at 7:30 p.m. at Leesport Farmer's Market on Route 61, just north of Leesport. The carcass evaluation will be held on February 2, 1989, at 7:30 p.m. at Peters Bros. Meats in Lenhartsville, PA.

Sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension in southeast Pennsylvania and the Berks County Cattlemen, the event will help sharpen producer's judging eye. It also will allow breeders to evaluate the genetic characteristics of their herd and feeders to evaluate their feeding program.

On Tuesday evening, January 31, 1989, each animal will be evaluated by everyone participating and a buyer from Moyer's Packing. The animal will be judged on quality grade, yield grade, size of rib eye and depth of fat over rib.

On Thursday, February 2, 1989, Dr. William Henning, PSU Extension meat specialist, will evaluate each carcass for dressing percentage, marbling score, maturity, quality grade, rib eye area, fat over rib and yield grade. That evening Bill will help everyone evaluate each carcass.

The cost to bring an animal is $20, which will be used as membership in the Berks and Pennsylvania Cattlemen groups and for a subscription to Beef Week magazine. Those attending the event and who are not going to join the cattlemen's groups will be changed $4 for the program.

For more information and an application form, contact Clyde Myers, Berks County Ag Center, P.O. Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533; 215/378-1327.

It took many years, nearly one-half million dollars and thousands of hours of volunteer time before the dream became a reality, but the perseverance of those early leaders and the very dramatic need for a facility for agriculture kept the dream alive. The present Farm and Home Center not only meets the needs of home economics and agricultural events, but has become the site of numerous community functions fulfilling a very definite need in Lancaster County.

The early meeting in 1954 resulted in a questionnaire being devised to investigate all available facilities and to find out the need for a centralized office and meeting place. There was also a suggestion that a Farm and Home Foundation be formed as a means of acquiring funds for such a building. In July, 1957, there is a record indicating that the project had the solid backing of agricultural interests.

The real beginning of the project was on May 18, 1960, when Elmer L. Esbenshade agreed to give a tract of land and $100,000 toward the construction of a building, provided the people of the county and city would match the figure. This decision was reached by Esbenshade with the very strong encouragement of Levi S. Brubaker, a Master Farmer farming at Rohrerstown, who, along with M. M. Smith, county agricultural agent, had made many contacts with Esbenshade between February, 1958 and May, 1960.

Esbenshade was a farmer, like his father and grandfather, and his land became valuable with the northward expansion of the city of Lancaster. Nevertheless, Esbenshade continued to live frugally and continued his deep concern for his local friends and his lifetime vocation. He first made an offer to contribute $250,000 toward a Community Center for the city and county, but when this offer did not materialize, farm leaders, led by Brubaker and Smith, convinced him to provide the basis for an agricultural center.

When the offer was made, the donor remained anonymous; indeed for several years Elmer Esbenshade's identity was not known to the community at large. On May 25, 1960, an exploratory committee heard the generous offer. This committee followed up by chartering and incorporating the Farm and Home Foundation as a non-profit organization on October 29, 1960. The initial fund drive was delayed, however, because the Internal Revenue Service would not grant the Foundation a tax exemption status and ruled that gifts were not tax deductible. Follow-up work got the ruling changed to a favorable decision, and the campaign went ahead, under the professional work of Richard Pontz and Associates.

Willis Z. Esbenshade was elected first president of the Farm and Home Foundation's Board of Directors, and he spearheaded many of the early efforts in getting the project underway.

The Farm and Home Center was a first in Pennsylvania and during the campaign it was pointed out that it was the first time the public was asked to contribute to a program aimed largely at serving local agricultural interests. It was also the only known project of its kind in the country which was seeking to go forward with funds only from local sources. It was stressed throughout the fund-raising campaign that no federal or state funds were being sought. Leaders at the time expressed the feeling that an agricultural center would symbolize the importance of agriculture to the county.

The first fund drive got underway in January of 1965, with the aim of raising $375,000. As the drive progressed, there was an announcement on February 15, 1965 that $102,460 in pledges and gifts from 1,000 families and farm-related businesses had been reached. By March 10, pledges and gifts reached $162,031.

In total, the 1965 campaign pledged $260,000 from 2,400 individuals and businesses. Levi Brubaker served as agricultural chairman and Larry Skromme, vice-president for engineering, at Sperry New Holland, served as industrial chairman.

1966 was the pivotal year for the Farm and Home Center. The Board decided to proceed with the entire project, including both office space and meeting facilities. The total cost was now projected at close to $490,000, but the project proceeded with groundbreaking on November 30,1966. Completion came in February, 1968.

In July, 1966, Esbenshade made another challenge gift of $25,000 which was to be matched by the Board of Directors with an additional $25,000. September, 1966, marked the passing of the $300,000 mark in the fund-raising campaign.

In 1967, a completion fund campaign was organized to raise an additional $100,000 toward the cost of the building.

The fund raising campaign was carried out with the help of hundreds of volunteers who called on their rural neighbors and businesses and secured pledges toward the center. A Founders Book contains all the names of the original contributors and a plaque in the lobby of the Center holds the names of contributors in the following categories: Leadership gifts of $5,000 or more; sponsorship gifts of $3,000 to $4,999.99; $1,000 - $2,999.99; $500 - $599.99; and $100 - $499.99.

In addition to Elmer Esbenshade's great interest in the Farm and Home Center, he was also interested in farm youth. Before his death he set up a $50,000 irrevocable trust fund with the earnings to be used for college scholarships in agriculture and home economics, to be administered by the Farm and Home Foundation. The first scholarships, in the amount of $250.00 each, were given to one student in agriculture and one in home economics in 1966.

Established to coordinate the building of a complex to provide offices and meeting space for Lancaster County's agricultural community, the Foundation now manages the building and provides annual college scholarships of $1,000 each to young people majoring in agriculture or home economics. Funds for the scholarships come from interest on a trust fund established by the late Elmer Esbenshade. The first award was made in 1966 in the amount of $250.00 to one agriculture and one home economics student. In 1988 scholarships were given to 12 high school seniors.

The Farm and Home Center was the first building of its kind in Pennsylvania, and was built with funds raised solely from local sources. No state or federal funds were used. At the time leaders felt the agricultural center symbolized the strength of agriculture to Lancaster County.

The cost of the building was approximately $500,000, with construction started on December 1, 1966 and completed in February, 1968. The $245,000 mortgage on the building was burned on January 29, 1981, completing two decades of work.

Tickets for the dinner can be purchased from any member of the Board of Directors of the Farm and Home Foundation or by calling the Penn State Extension Service at 394-6851 or the Farm and Home Center at 392-4911. Cost of tickets is $10.00.

Southeast Counties Plan Special Dairy Days

EPHRATA (Lancaster) — Berks, Chester and Bucks-Montgomery Extension Offices will offer their Dairy Days with an agricultural engineering theme, and Dr. Alan Rotz of the USDA Forage Research Center in Wisconsin will be the special guest speaker.

Rotz is an agricultural engineer at the USDA Forage Research Center, and a native of Franklin County with a B.S. and a Ph.D. from Penn State University in Mechanical Engineering and Agricultural Engineering. He spent three years on faculty at Michigan State University.

Rotz has been in his present position for eight years. His current project at the Forage Research Center is developing models for 1990 dairy farms and looking at the long-term benefits of new technologies and alternative management strategies for the future dairy farm.

Rotz's topics will include: "Forage Losses During Harvesting and Storage and The Effect On The Dairy Animal" and "New Technology and Alternate Management Strategies in Forage Production For The 1990 Dairy Farm."

In addition, Dr. Robert Graves, Penn State Extension agricultural engineer, will discuss "Year Round Cow Comfort." Pat Richie, multi-county extension agent in agricultural engineering, will talk about "Concrete and New Building Technology."

The meeting information for each county is listed below:

A special thanks to Meridian Bank, Agri-Business Department for sponsoring Dr. Rotz and to Hamilton Bank, Agri-Business Department for general dairy day sponsorship.

Chamber Hosts Ag Banquet

YORK — The York Area Chamber of Commerce is hosting its second annual agriculture recognition banquet Thursday, January 26, at 7:00 p.m. at Wisehaven Hall. The featured speaker is U.S. Representative Fred Grandy, R-Iowa, more commonly known as "Gopher" on the popular television series "Love Boat".

Representative Grandy began his career in public service as a legislative aide and speech writer after he graduated from Harvard University in 1970. After that he appeared in several successful off-broadway plays and two films before landing his role on the Love Boat in 1975. Grandy re-entered the public service arena in 1986 when he was elected to the U.S. House of Representative. He was re-elected in 1988.

Tickets are $12 per person and available by contacting the Chamber of Commerce at One Market Way East or 848-4000. Seating is limited. Make your reservations by January 23, 1989.

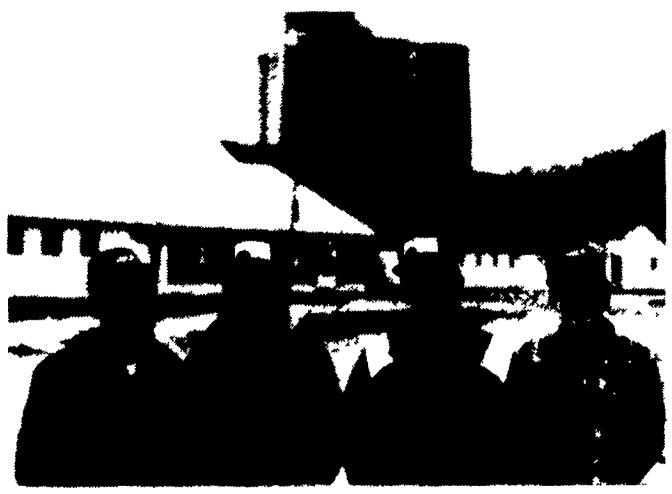
John, David, Dave Jr. & Frank Burket

"We try to put our haylage in the Harvestore structure at about 40-45% moisture. With our Harvestore System, we're able to feed a fermented feed all the time. Anybody who knows anything at all about milking cows knows that green feed is not good for them. The cows seem to have a very good appetite for the Harvestore-processed haylage. We had no trouble switching the cows to the haylage."

"Why did we build a Harvestore® system from Penn Jersey for haylage? Convenience!! We didn't like the dirty chute. And now we have the convenience of being able to fill and feed out at the same time. With Harvestore-processed haylage, we felt we would be able to make a substantial savings in purchased feed costs."



Dave Burket, Jr. with the Goliath unloader

"We feed about 2/3 Harvestore-processed haylage and 1/3 corn silage in our feed ration to the milk cows. Our total mixed ration is mixed for 60 lbs. milk in a stanchion barn."

"The butterfat is better on our dairy herd since feeding haylage from our Harvestore System. Our test is significantly higher. It's an average of two points better with Harvestore-processed haylage."

"And our Goliath® unloader does a good job taking feed out of the Harvestore structure. It takes 12 min. three times a day to feed the 100 milk cows with the new update kit on the unloader."

Thanks to our many customers and friends who stopped by to say hello during Farm Show!

The results you may achieve with your Harvestore® System depend primarily upon your management skills and may vary from successful results achieved by others. Any application to a particular farming operation requires the advice of qualified experts and is subject to limitations of good management, weather and other conditions present at the individual location.

The Woman Who Married Into The Extension Services

BY LOU ANN GOOD

Editor's Note: This year marks 75 years for the Cooperative Extension Services. Farm Show exhibits in Harrisburg show the multi-faceted services of the extension. To make these services available, it takes more than 12,000 volunteers. Alvena Kneasel of Lebanon is representative of the volunteers who contribute time, effort and enthusiasm for these worthy services.

LEBANON — "Everyone should be so fortunate to have an Alvena Kneasel in their lives," claims Arletta Schadler, interim southeast regional director for Penn State extension.

Alvena is the type of volunteer that every organization dreams of having.

"I wish we could clone her," said Schadler. "She has added tremendous assets to the extension program."

Alvena modestly describes herself as a city girl who married into the extension.

Her mother-in-law was deeply involved with the extension program and her enthusiasm for the program spilled over into Alvena's life. So much so, that Alvena, who began at the local extension level, continued into leadership at the regional, state and national levels.

Alvena explained that her mother never like the bother of having her in the kitchen so she learned how from her mother-in-law.

Intrigued, Alvena avidly learned all she could by taking night courses in home economics and through Penn State extension.

It wasn't long before Alvena was sharing her cooking skills with others. For 11 years she taught 4-H cooking classes.

"I love having kids in the kitchen," she said. "I don't mind the mess in teaching them."

She's especially pleased that her own son, who was also one of her 4-H cooking students, graduated from culinary school and is now a chef.

Five years ago, when Alvena was diagnosed as a diabetic, she switched from teaching 4-H cooking to teaching computer usage and crocheting.

Convinced that the 4-H program should be supported by both local and state funding, Alvena has thrown her energies into many different phases of the program.

Starting out as a 4-H leader, she later became involved on the local board. Then she became regional chairman and today she is president of the Capitol Regional board and secretary of the PA Council Cooperative Extension Associations.

In those capacities, she's convinced many, from school board members to state legislators, of the value of the 4-H program. She has been instrumental in getting local and national funding for extension programs.

Of the multitude of activities in which Alvena has been involved in the extension programs, she received the most satisfaction by being part of the hearings for the Shamokin Dam project, which was sponsored by the Republican Policy Committee in 1988.

"I had my little voice speaking for 12 million people," she said. The event was televised and covered by the press nationwide.

She believes it was the first time congressmen really sat and listened to what people had to say from the agricultural perspective.

Alvena would like to see more people visit their legislators. She said, "You learn a lot when you talk to county commissioners and government officials. They want to know what lay people are thinking."

Alvena also served on the advisory board when the extension home economic curriculum was reviewed. After suggestions were implemented, she helped pilot the projects for three summers to get as much input as possible. She recorded the likes and dislikes of activities and of the recipes used in the 4-H foods program. It was her role to pass the kids' reaction along to the university who decided what to change.

"The kids were great. They were really honest," Alvena reported. "And many changes were made to incorporate their wishes."

Today the curriculum derived from that study is now used in 4-H food projects nationwide.

Alvena said, "It's great for kids to learn more about nutrition. The emphasis is sorely needed."

She draws that conclusion from watching the students in the Cornwall-Lebanon School District where she works as a baker.

She said, "I've worked there for 15 years, but I never get use to the waste. Everyday I see what the kids eat and don't eat."

When she sees trays of food dumped away she said, "Sometimes it brings tears to my eyes when I think of those like boat people who starve to death. How happy they would be to have the food the kids dump away."

She believes wastefulness reflects upon the home lifestyle. She said, "You don't see kids from the farm throw food away like that. They respect the time and energy that goes into growing and preparing it."

To substantiate her beliefs, she tells of two separate banquets held at their school. At the honor society banquet almost all the food was thrown away. At the ag banquet only a small amount was discarded.

To meet the desires of the students, the school offers three choices: the traditional Type A menu, a fast-food line and a soup and salad line.

"The fast-food line is terrible nutritionally," she said. "I think it's a mistake. But that's what the kids want."

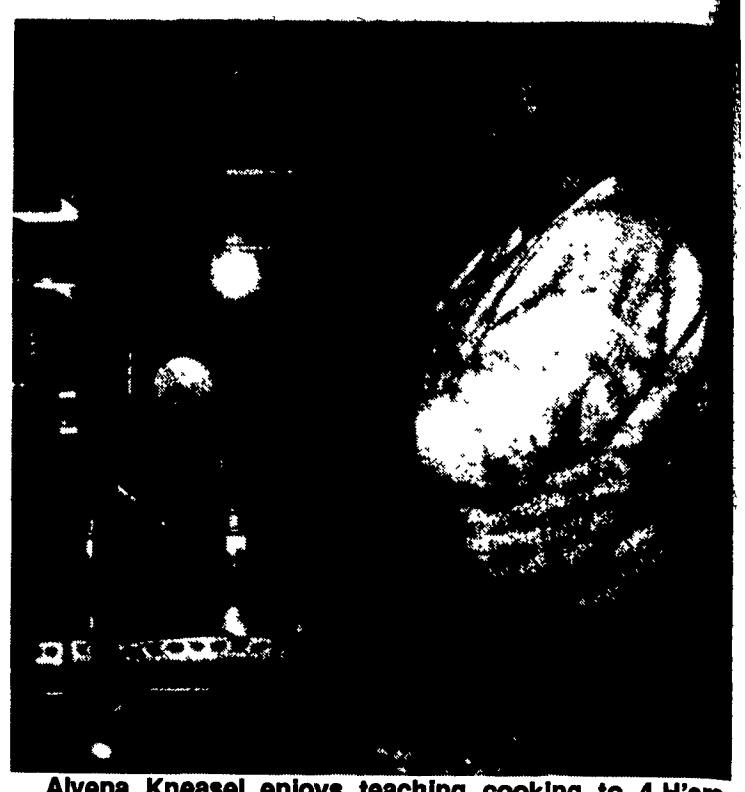
The 4-H'ers who take Alvena's cooking classes are educated to eat nutrionally. To help them make the right choices, Alvena devised a board game that makes learning about nutrition fun.

According to Ken Winebark, Lebanon County Extension agent, "Alvena is open and interested in everyone, whether a government official or a neighbor, and that quality has enabled her to work in many capacities and with many people at all levels."

He added, "Alvena is someone who goes above and beyond the call of duty. She is a real go getter."

One time she went beyond the call of duty was when she helped 4-H'ers hold a Hawaiin luau at the Lebanon Fairgrounds. The menu included roast pig, fried rice, fresh fruits and vegetables, ambrosia, pao doce, Hawaiian wedding cake, and fruit punch. Typical of Alvena's dedication to go all out, she ordered poi, a taro root that is considered a staple in the island's diet. It was flown in from Hawaii to give an authentic touch to the extravaganza, which served 70.

The setting was complete with Palm trees fashioned from cardboard tubes and crepe paper, a fountain, a flower decorated trellis and pineapple centerpieces. As guests arrived, 4-H'ers placed leis, which they had made, around their necks.



Alvena Kneasel enjoys teaching cooking to 4-H'ers. "Most of my students are boys," she said. Her most memorable 4-H cooking event during her 11 years of teaching them was the time the club manned a Hawaiian food stand at the Lebanon Fairgrounds.

Visitors to the Hawaiian luau were greeted by 4-H'ers who placed a lei around their necks. Entertainment included a hula dance, flaming torches and an Hawaiian war chant.

Alvena would like to see more students take advantage of 4-H programs. She said, "It's hard to get minorities involved and to convince others that the program is not just for farm kids."

Alvena has nothing but high praises for 4-H leaders, extension agents and 4-H'ers. She said, "The caliber of people involved in 4-H makes it fun and interesting."

The most trying part in her 4-H involvement according to Alvena is trying to get people to serve on the board. "People don't realize how important they are. The extension works on a four-year-plan and each person is a valuable part. Sometimes people get frustrated because they don't think they're doing anything important. But they are."

People ask her, "Why do you hang in there teaching at 4-H? Your kids are all out of the program?"

She answers, "I'm making a difference in someone's life. I watch them change. I like to help people."

Alvena is also active as president of the Lebanon Church of the Brethren Women's Club and she helps with the Lebanon noon meal program which serves 3,000 meals a month to hungry people.

Looking over the stacks of paper work, Alvena Kneasel jokes, "I married into the extension." Growing up in the city, Alvena did not become acquainted with extension services until she met her mother-in-law who taught her canning and sewing and encourage her to get involved in extension classes. Today Alvena provides leadership to the PA Council of Cooperative Extension Association.

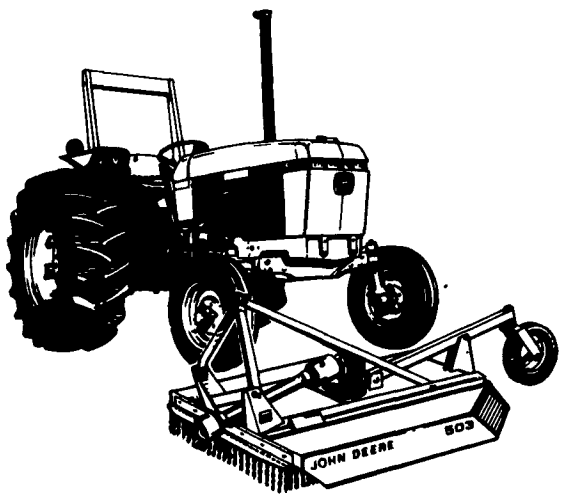
COST CUTTING CUTTING COMBO



- Here's a combination that will do the job on grass, weeds and light brush — without doing a job on your budget: a John Deere "Price Fighter" Tractor and John Deere light-duty or utility rotary cutter.
- Tractors 55-85 hp. 4-, 5- and 6-foot cutters. Match up a cost-cutting team.

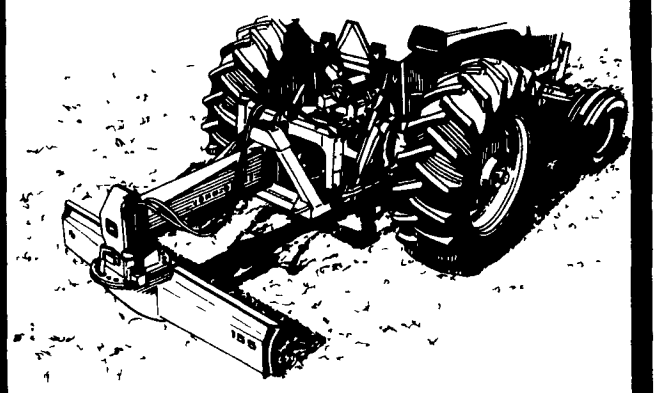
ROLL THE LOAD. DON'T PUSH IT



- John Deere rear blades are precisely curved to roll material along, rather than push it. Works easier and faster, uses less horsepower.
- You can adjust the blade to the job — change tilt, pitch, angle and offset. Reverse it, too. Cutting edges also reverse on some models, for extra life.
- Choose from five sizes.

The Long Green Line™

JOHN DEERE

Nothing runs like a Deere™

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Enhanced by the darkness, the sound of each careful footstep echoed through the night's silence.

With each slow step I took, those ahead of me moved carefully. Melting snow rose into the air as a thick fog, intensifying the lack of visibility and adding to the mystery of the dark.

In the deep shadows of the foggy night, I could sense more than see that the figure ahead had paused. Waiting. Listening. Creeping carefully closer, ever closer, slowly, slowly, I edged nearer.

And, in one final triumphant lunge, the culprit was in hand.

"Eeeeeerrrrrrreeeeeeccccccccch hhhhhh!" she shrieked, a blood-curdling sound that tore at the very fiber of the thick veil of the night.

Victory was indeed sweet.

I swept up the squirming bundle of feathers, tucked the still screaming white hen under my arm, crawled over the heifer pen gate, and penned another of the flock.

It was a done deed. Our barnyard flock of chickens was corralled and ready to meet its new owner.

Ancestry of this flock traces to a single robust rooster and one gentle hen, brought together from two separate directions by The Farmer who had sympathized with their loneliness. The course of nature being such as it is, it wasn't long until we had more chickens, and more chickens, and ..... well, you get the idea.

That was over ten years ago. Periodically, we've run a chicken reduction operation, either via the freezer or sharing with anyone who could be persuaded to add a few live chickens to their lifestyle.

Now, once again the poultry population threatened to overrun the farmstead, especially two feathered families of chickens bound to make the dairy barn their home. An advertisement brought quick response from a fellow keeper of free-roaming, backyard poultry. Catching the birds became the next order of business. Since chickens sit tight in the dark, the roundup got under way that very evening.

Most perched by late afternoon at the same spot on a gate in the old barn. Catching was a matter of picking them up and carrying them into a pen. But, the dairy barn bunch saw me coming and scattered.

So, teaming up in the darkness after milking, our eldest caught while I relayed. One hen, however, seemed blessed with night vision. Though she got away as we crawled under the grain cart in pursuit, we outsmarted her under the silage cart. She called us every nasty chicken-language name she'd ever heard.

Figuring the job was done, I returned to the old barn to close up doors for the night. And began discovering chickens in places I'd forgotten to inspect earlier. All but two got away in the dim light.

Off went the lights; and I returned armed with a flashlight. This hide-n-seek with three-pound slippery hens and cursing roosters was becoming a challenge.

Under cover of dark, fog, stealthy tiptoeing and an occasional burst of flashlight, a dozen escapees were, one by one, found. A white hen in the weaned calves' pen. A charcoal one hiding in a free stall. And a loudly-protesting, wing-flopper snagged on a windowsill.

Finally, only one remained at large. And I vowed to hunt her down, because she was of mixed Leghorn lineage, the most ill-tempered strain in this assorted flock.

In the foggy darkness, she crept ahead of me, out through the heifer's hayrack and on into an open-sided hayrack along the outer wall of the old barn. Hopping over the edge, she sneaked through the legs of the bred heifers outside, and made tracks for the sawdust pile.

With a final dive from behind a heifer- thankfully- tame, I landed one furious hen.

This feathred tale does have a happy ending, at least for one new flock owner, one old flock owner, and, no doubt, one milk inspector.

Actually, the chickens were the only ones to raise a sqwawk about it.

Blue Ribbon Apple Pie

HARRISBURG — Thirty-seven of the state's finest apple pies were judged Sunday in the first annual Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest at the 73rd State Farm Show.

Exhibitors in this category had to be a certified winner at their county or local agricultural fairy throughout the 1988 fair season, so only 112 individuals were eligible to enter the competition.

Mary Hassinger of Hartleton, representing the Union County West End Fair, captured first place and $60 in the new contest. All of the judges agreed that her pie best represented a traditional apple pie.

Mary sent her pie to the Farm Show Complex with her county agent and Farm Show security officers hid it in the Pennsylvania Room where the contest was to be held. Mary Grimm, the contest coordinator, said it "almost got missed!"

Minnie Schlegel of Fleetwood, representing the Reading Fair, placed second with her Bavarian Apple Pie. Despite the horrible weather, Minnie personally delivered her pie for the contest. Keith Martin, one of the judges, like her pie so well he took the remainder home with him. All of the judges agreed Minnie's pie was unique and very creative.

Judy Crawford of Chambersburg, representing the Franklin County Fair took third place honors and $40 for her pie.

The apple pie judges included Connie Bramson, food editor of the Harrisburg Patriot News; Christopher Fickes, news director of WHP-TV; Keith Martin, anchorman of WGAL-TV; and Susan Martis, executive producer of Susquehanna People for WGAL. The pies were judged on their overall appearance, creativity, crust and filling.

Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff and Mrs. Wolff were on hand along with many of the Farm Show exhibitors to sample the pies after the judging was completed.

Following is the winning recipe for Mary Hassinger's pie:

Crust

1½ cups flour
½ cup lard
2½ tablespoons water
Dash of salt

Filling

6 cups of MacIntosh apples, sliced
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup flour
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
1½ tablespoons butter

Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes; reduce to 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Good old home-style cooking in a microwave oven. You bet! That's what winners in the Amana Microwave Division at the 1988 Iowa State Fair said.

You'll agree these recipes are winners. They're super-tasting, quick to make and use everyday ingredients.

The first-place winner of a $300 Amana microwave oven was the Iowa cook who produced TRIPLE-LAYER MICROWAVE BROWNIES. As its title suggests, it is a three-step recipe; yet, it's not complicated to make. Total microwave time is about 12 minutes. The bottom oat layer is cooked first, a chocolate layer added and cooked. After cooling, the brownies are frosted with a luscious rich fudge frosting.

Medium power is used for cooking both layers, for more even cooking, and especially to help the center cook before the outside corners overcook. The baking dish is rotated once during each cooking period, again for even cooking. Cooling the brownies on a flat surface, rather than a wire rack, helps the center bottom finish cooking.

The second-place winner, APPLE PECAN CRISP, is a clever and easy way to prepare apple crisp. Instead of the usual way, apples are topped with a crumbly mixture and microwaved. The apple mixture is cooked separately, so it can be stirred. The already-crunchy and browned topping of granola-type cereal mixed with melted butter is sprinkled on top and microwaved briefly just to heat. You'll notice the topping is soft right after microwaving. Let it stand, as the recipe directs, for five minutes and it will be crisp.

SHORT-CUT MICROWAVE SCALLOPED POTATOES is the third prize-winning recipe. It's a very quick main dish or potato dish. A can of potatoes and ingredients for the cheese sauce cook together in minutes. Stirring is necessary after each minute of cooking to allow the sauce to thicken properly and prevent cheese from curdling. A sprinkle of paprika or cornflake crumbs can add a finished look.

Triple-Layer Microwave Brownies

1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate
3 tablespoons butter
¾ cup quick-cooking rolled oats (not instant)
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
⅓ cup packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup all-purpose flour
¼ tsp. baking powder
⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 slightly beaten egg
½ teaspoons vanilla
⅓ cup chopped nuts
CHOCOLATE FROSTING (below)

In a microwave-safe mixing bowl, melt chocolate and 3 tablespoons butter by microwaving (High) 1½ minutes or until melted; set aside.

In mixing bowl stir together oats, ⅓ cup flour, brown sugar, and soda until well mixed. Stir in melted butter. Pat into ungreased microwave-safe 8x8-inch baking dish. Microwave, uncovered, on Medium (50 percent power), 325-350 watts) 3 to 4 minutes; rotating dish a quarter turn after 2 minutes. Surface will appear dry. Cool on counter or wooden board while preparing next layer.

Meanwhile, stir together ½ cup flour and baking powder; set aside. Stir sugar and water into cooled chocolate mixture. Add egg and vanilla; stir gently until combined. Stir in dry ingredients; then, gently stir in nuts. Spread evenly over oat layer. Microwave, uncovered, on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 5½ to 6½ minutes. Scratch the slightly wet surface near the center with a wooden pick. The brownies should be cooked underneath. Cool on counter or wooden board. Frost with CHOCOLATE FROSTING (below). Makes 16 large brownies.

Chocolate Frosting

1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1-1½ tablespoons hot water

In a small microwave-safe bowl, combine chocolate and butter. Microwave (High) 1½ minutes or until melted. Stir in powdered sugar and vanilla. Stir in hot water to make a spreadable frosting.

(Each brownie: 193 calories, 3gm protein, 11gm fat, 24gm carbohydrate, 93mg sodium, 33mg cholesterol.)

Apple Pecan Crisp

6 cups sliced apples (about 6 apples, peeled)
4 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
¼ cup water
½ cup packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup broken pecans
1½ cups granola cereal, crushed
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine sliced apples, water and lemon juice in microwave-safe 8x8-inch dish. In a small bowl, mix flour, cinnamon and nuts; add to apples and mix gently. Microwave (High) 7 to 9 minutes, stirring after each 2 minutes, or until apples are tender and sauce is thick. After cooking, stir apples and spread evenly in dish.

Meanwhile, crush granola in plastic bag with rolling pin, remove to a bowl; stir in melted butter. Sprinkle over apples. Microwave (High) 1½ to 2½ minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Serve warm. If desired, serve with yogurt, ice cream or cream. Makes 9 servings.

(Each serving: 254 calories, 2gm protein, 13gm fat, 36gm carbohydrate, 106mg sodium, 16mg cholesterol.)

Recipes in this column are tested in 600- to 700-watt microwave ovens. With an oven of different wattage output, timings may need slight adjustment.

Try These Bread Baking Recipes

Counting grocery costs? Buying cheap, untasty bread?

Here's a tip—if you've never baked your own bread, now could be a good time to try.

Bread baking is a delight, an experience no cook should miss, and, what's more, you save money over buying name-brand loaves.

With these recipes, you'll find bread baking surprisingly simple and the results will so far outrank any bought product you'll wonder why you didn't start baking sooner.

BREAD

½ cup brown sugar or honey
½ cup butter
3 tablespoons salt
3 cups scalded milk
1 tablespoon yeast, dissolved in
1¼ cup warm water
2 cups cold water
4 cups whole wheat flour
11 cups high gluten flour

Stir sugar, butter, salt and milk together until butter melts. Add the 2 cups cold water to bring temperature to warm. Add yeast dissolved in water. Using mixer, mix in about 8 cups flour. Place dough in greased dishpan. Knead with hands adding a cup of flour at a time, until dough is no longer sticky. Knead well. Cover, set in a warm place to rise until double. Punch down and let rise ½ hour. Divide in 6 equal parts. Roll out on greased board and roll up to make a loaf. Place in greased pans. Let rise. Bake at 350 degrees for approximately 30 minutes. Spread top of loaves with butter.

OVERNIGHT BUNS

2 packages dry yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup warm water
1 cup oil
3 teaspoons salt
½ cup sugar
4 cups warm water
14 cups flour, approximately

At 6 p.m., mix together the first 3 ingredients; let stand for 10 minutes. Add the remaining ingredients. Let rise until 9 p.m. Punch down. Let rise until 11 p.m. Punch down and form about 4½ dozen balls, 2-inches in diameter. Place in 10x15x2-inch pan. Let rise until 6 a.m. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

SOUR DOUGH STARTER

3 tablespoons potato flakes
1 cup flour
1 cup warm water
¾ cups sugar

Let set at room temperature for 3 days or until it is foamy as it has to ferment. Feed mixture with:

3 tablespoons potato flakes
1 cup flour
1 cup warm water
6 cup sugar

Let set at room temperature for 8 hours. Refrigerate. Use in 3 to 5 days.

SOUR DOUGH BREAD

6 cups flour
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1½ cups warm water
½ cup oil
1 cup starter

Mix ingredients. Knead until no longer sticky. Let rise for 8 hours. Shape loaves. Let rise until desired size or double in size (6 to 8 hours). Bake 375 degrees for 25 minutes.

Contributor writes that dough makes good cinnamon rolls, plain hot rolls and coffee cake.

FRUITFUL YOGURT QUICK BREAD

½ dried apricots, chopped
½ dried prunes, chopped
½ cup maraschino cheeries
2 cups flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2 large eggs
1 cup low-fat yogurt
10 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract

Butter 9x5-inch loaf pan. Dust with flour. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Chop fruits and mix with the flour. Set aside. Sift dry ingredients. Set aside. Beat eggs. Stir in yogurt, melted butter, sugar and extract. Stir in chopped fruit. Stir in dry ingredients until lightly blended. Pour into prepared loaf pan. Bake 55 to 60 minutes or until bread tests done in center with toothpick. (When using glass pan, reduce oven temperature 25 degrees and bake 5 to 10 minutes longer). Cool on wire rack for 30 minutes. Then remove from pan.

A slice of bread with some homemade jam is satisfying anytime of the day.

HERB-CHEDDAR BISCUITS

1½ cups flour
⅔ cup whole wheat flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 tablespoon fresh basil, finely chopped OR
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 tablespoon fresh oregano, finely chopped OR
1 teaspoon dried oregano
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
2 cups butter
1 cup dairy sour cream
4 cups milk
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Combine flours, baking powder, herbs, salt and baking soda in a large mixing bowl. Stir in cheese. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in sour cream and milk. Mix just until all ingredients are moistened. Knead dough gently 10 times on lightly floured surface. Roll out to ½ -inch thickness. Cut with floured star shape cutter. Reroll and cut scraps. Combine egg and water. Brush tops of biscuits. Bake on unbuttered cookie sheet 15 to 18 minutes, or until golden. Cool completely on wire rack.

BLUE CHEESE WALNUT BREAD

3½ cups buttermilk baking mix
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup finely crumbled blue cheese
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon chives
1⅓ cups milk
1 egg, beaten

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine baking mix and sugar in large mixing bowl. Stir in cheese, nuts and chives. Combine milk and egg. Stir into dry mixture just until blended. Spoon batter into four buttered 5¾ x3¼ -inch loaf pans. Bake 40 to 45 minutes, or until a wooden pick inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove from pan and cool completely on wire rack.

RYE BREAD

2 packages dry yeast
2 cups warm water
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup black strap molasses
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
3 cups rye flour
3 cups white bread flour

Mix brown sugar, shortening, salt and molasses together. Add warm water. Mix yeast with half of the flour and add to the liquid mixture. Stir in enough additional flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn out on a floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl. Cover and let rise for 2 hours.

Punch down. Put on a board. Let rest for 10 minutes. Shape into 2 long or round loaves. Place each loaf on a cornmeal covered cookie sheet. Slash the top with a knife. Cover, let rise 45 minutes to 1 hour. Brush with egg wash (Egg wash is 1 egg beaten with 1 tablespoon water). Bake 375 degrees for 10 minutes. Egg wash again. Bake another 35 minutes. The bread will be fairly dark because of the sugar and molasses content. To make the bread crusty, place a pan of hot water on the bottom of the oven.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't seem to find it anywhere, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION - A Fleetwood reader would like a recipe for toaster breakfast pastries. If we do not receive an answer to this request within the next two weeks, we will assume no one knows the answer and drop this request.

QUESTION - R.G. Kamoda, Monongahela, requests recipes using a farm-dressed stewing hen for chicken noodle soup and chicken and biscuits.

QUESTION — Helen Kalwasinek, Portage, asks, "Does anyone can geese?" Since some can beef and chicken, she suspects that geese can be canned but would like directions.

QUESTION — A reader from York County wants directions for cooking homemade tripe that will come out snowy white.

QUESTION — Mrs. Eleanor Lesko of Newton, N.J. is looking for a recipe for Kentucky Fried Chicken®.

QUESTION — T.L. Martin of Strasburg requests recipes for homemade yeast made with either pumpkin or hops. She'd also like to know where the recipes came from.

QUESTION — Jane Blymire of Windsor requests a recipe for mashed potato filling.

QUESTION — Charles Mark Jr. from Englishtown, N. J. requests a recipe for green tomato relish.

QUESTION — Mrs. Cyril Cassner of Newburg requests a recipe for scalloped noodles. She believes it contains noodles, chicken and canned soup.

QUESTION — Karen Adams of Hamburg requests ways to use homemade sauerkraut other than with hot dogs or pork.

QUESTION — Adna Hewit of Madison, N.Y. requests a recipe for a two-crust pie made with slices of ripe, red tomatoes. She believes it is an old English recipe.

QUESTION — Charles M. Mark Jr., Englishtown, N.J., writes that when living in Ecuador several years ago, he made a 13-hour bread. He writes, "In the morning after mixing and putting the dough in a pan, it was placed on the roof to rise in the hot sun until evening. Then it was baked in an oven." He has lost the recipe and would appreciate if someone shares it.

ANSWER — A reader requested information on ordering the cookbook from which Bonnie Brechbill used recipes that appeared in the December 31 issue of "Home On The Range." The cookbook may be ordered from Mrs. Amos Conley, R.D. 3, Box 801, Mt. Joy, PA 17552. Enclose $9.25.

ANSWER — Mrs. Joseph Peters of Danboro wrote that the recipe for Cheese Cake that appeared in the November 19 issue did not list the amount of cornstarch needed. We are sorry for this omission. The complete recipe from Thelma Hostetter follows.

Cheese Cake

1 pound cottage cheese
1 pound cream cheese
1½ cup sugar
4 eggs, lightly beaten
Juice of ½ lemon
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ pound butter, melted
1 pint sour cream

Cream cheeses in bowl. Add sugar gradually. Add eggs.

Beat well until smooth. Stir in lemon juice, vanilla, flour and cornstarch. Add butter. Mix until smooth. Blend in sour cream.

Pour into greased 9-inch springform pan or angel food pan with removable bottoms. Bake in moderate oven at 325 degrees for 1 hour. Allow cake to remain in oven for 2 hours longer. Don't open door.

ANSWER — Helen Kalwasinek, Portage, requested a recipe for deli rye bread similar to that made by Stroehmann's. Thanks T.L. Martin from Strasburg, who submitted one that is printed on page B6 for the "Home On The Range" section, which features bread recipes this week.

ANSWER — A reader from Snyder County requested a recipe for Wisconsin cheese soup. Thanks Emma Lutz of Mohrsville for sending one.

Wisconsin Cheese Soup

1 pound fresh broccoli or 10-ounce package of frozen cut broccoli
½ cup water
1½ teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules
2 medium carrots, thinly bias-sliced
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sliced green onion
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon white pepper
3 cups milk
2 cups shredded Wisconsin Colby cheese
1 cup shredded Wisconsin Swiss cheese
¼ cup dry sherry

If using fresh broccoli, remove outer leaves and tough parts of stalks. Cut stalks into small bite sized pieces, about 4 cups. In a large saucepan, combine the water and chicken bouillon granules; heat to boiling.

Add the carrots and fresh or thawed broccoli. Cover and cook about 10 minutes or until vegetables are crisp-tender.

Drain, reserving liquid. If necessary, add enough water to the liquid to equal ½ cup.

Set the liquid and vegetables aside.

In the same saucepan, melt the butter. Add green onion. Cook until tender but not brown. Stir in flour, nutmeg and white pepper. Add the milk and the reserved liquid all at once. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir 1 to 2 minutes more. Add the Colby cheese and Swiss cheese; cook and stir until cheeses are melted. Stir in the cooked vegetables and sherry; cook and stir until heated thoroughly.

To serve, ladle into soup bowls. Top each serving with additional shredded Colby cheese, if desired. Makes 6 servings. Preparation time: 40 minutes.

Low heat and short cooking times are important watchwords when you cook with Wisconsin cheese. Heat the cheese over low heat just long enough to melt them. Prolonged cooking and high heat can make cheese tough and stringy.

ANSWER - Patricia Wax, Carlisle, requested a recipe for homemade bagels that taste similar to the frozen Lender's Bagels. Since we did not receive an answer for this, I pulled a recipe from our files. This recipe was submitted by Audrey Nemeth of Mt.Vernon, Maine. I do not know if they taste similar to the frozen Lender's Bagels, but the contributor writes that she has tried other recipes but these are the best.

Bagels

4¼ -4½ cups flour
2 packages dry yeast
1½ cups warm water
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt

In a large bowl, combine 1½ cups flour and the yeast. Combine water, sugar and salt. Add to dry mixture in mixing bowl. Beat at low speed with an electric mixer for ½ minute, scraping sides of bowl constantly. Beat 3 minutes at high speed. Spoon stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Knead until smooth and elastic. Let it rise for 15 minutes.

Cut into 12 portions. Shape into smooth balls. Punch a hole in the center with a floured finger. Pull gently and enlarge the hole. Work each bagel to a uniform shape. Cover. Let rise 20 minutes.

Optional: If you prefer a glossy smooth surface, place raised bagels on an ungreased baking sheet and broil for 1½ to 2 minutes on each side—5 inches from heat.

In a large kettle combine 1 gallon of water and 1 tablespoon sugar. Bring to boiling. Reduce heat to simmering. Cook 4 to 5 bagels at a time for 7 minutes, turning once.

Drain. Place on a greased baking sheet. Bake 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. For bagels that have been broiled, bake 25 minutes.

Onion bagels: Prepare bagels as above except cook ½ cup finely chopped onion in 3 tablespoons butter until tender but not brown. Brush bagel with butter mixture over tops after 15 minutes of baking. You can also sprinkle with poppy seeds, sesame seeds or garlic granules.

BRAN MUFFINS

2 cups oat bran
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup skim milk
2 egg whites, slightly beaten
¼ cup honey or molasses
2 tablespoons vegetable oil

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Line 12 medium muffin cups with paper baking cups or spray bottoms only with vegetable oil cooking spray. Combine dry ingredients. Add milk, egg whites, honey and oil. Mix until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill muffin cups until almost full. Bake 15 to 17 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 1 dozen.

Variations: Add to batter any one of the following: Raisin Nut Muffins — ½ cup raisins and 2 cup chopped nuts.

Banana Nut Muffins — ½ cup mashed bananas and 2 cups chopped nuts.

Blueberry Muffins — ½ cup fresh or frozen blueberries.

Apple Cinnamon Muffins — ½ cup chopped apples, ¼ cup chopped nuts and 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Quarter Horse Prize

Nicole Joann Simcox, Farrandsville, is the 1988 winner of a quarter horse weanling from Bob Evans Farms Inc. of Ohio. She received the horse at the fall roundup at the Bob Evans Farm in Rio Grande, Ohio. Also attending were award winners from 11 other states.

Announcing the award, Ben Nolt, 4-H specialist at Penn State, said, "The Bob Evans Farms Quarter Horse award gives participants the rare opportunity to see their hard work and tremendous effort result in a dream come true."

Nicole was selected for the award on the basis of her participation in 4-H activities and interview held at Penn State 4-H Week in July. A seven-year member of 4-H, Nicole has served as treasurer of the Farrandsville Club and news reporter for the 4-H Equestrians. She also has been a teen leader and has helped with many 4-H activities.

Competing for the award, Nicole said that "my future plans are to pursue a college education in animal husbandry and raise my own line of quarter horses."

"Providing good quality colts to 4-H members who show outstanding qualities of leadership is our way of expressing appreciation for the fine work of the 4-H programs," says Bob Evans, president of the company.

The daughter of T. Jay and Bobbie Jo Simcox, Nicole is a freshman in high school. She is continuing in 4-H pursuing horse, clothing and textiles, foods and nutrition, photography and vegetable projects. She also is active in school, church and community affairs.

Question Corner

ANSWER — A reader from Manheim requested a recipe for baked chicken that tastes similar to Shake and Bake®. Thanks Treva Leese of Hanover, Anna Martin of Reinholds and Mrs. Laurence Martin of Lebanon for sending recipes.

Coating Mix for Oven-Fried Chicken

2 cups dry bread crumbs
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon celery salt
1½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon onion salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, optional
¼ cup vegetable oil

Blend ingredients with a fork or pastry blender until well mixed. Makes 2⅓ cups. Keep unrefrigerated in tightly covered container. When ready to use: preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Put ½ cup coating in plastic or paper bag. Moisten chicken pieces with water or milk. Shake a piece at a time in a bag. Add more mix as needed. Lay chicken skin side up in a greased pan and bake 1 hour or until tender. No turning needed.

Homemade Shake & Bake

⅔ cup powdered milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons paprika
2 teaspoons chicken bouillon
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Remove skin from chicken. Put ingredients in bag. Add chicken and shake until chicken is coated. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 minutes. Can be stored in refrigerator indefinitely. Coats 3 to 4 pounds of cut-up chicken. Delicious on fish, too.

Shake & Bake Style

2 cups cracker crumbs
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon onion powder
1 teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon garlic
½ tablespoon paprika
2 teaspoons salt

Mix ingredients. Coat chicken. Bake in 350 degree oven for 1 hour.

ANSWER — Mrs. Peter Pagetto, Danielsville, requested a recipe for homemade potato candy. Thanks Treva Leese of Hanover and Anna Martin of Reinholds for answering this request.

POTATO CANDY

½ cup mashed potatoes
1 pound confectioners' sugar
½ cup peanut butter

Mix warm mashed potatoes with sifted sugar. Roll out in an oblong shape and spread with peanut butter. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut in slices. If desired, dip in melted chocolate.

Kid's Korner

Push That Pedal!

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG — Screams filled the Farm Show arena on Sunday.

"Push!

Go, Go, Go!"

Fans and parents screamed and cheered as children from ages three to eight took their turn at the wheel.

It was the first state competition in the children's tractor pull division. Many of the contestants had previous experience at their county fair, but for some, it was the first time ever.

The pedal tractor race involves more than pedalling a tractor as fast as possible. A sled with weights attached is hooked to the tractor. The heavy weight slows contestants considerably. In fact, despite huffing and puffing, many are able only to move a few feet.

There were three groups each with 15 children.

3 to 4 year-olds

The three to four-year-olds pulled 15 pounds of weight; the 5 to 6-year-olds pulled 65 pounds; and the seven to eight-year-olds pulled 100 pounds.

The contestants huffed and puffed and strained to pull the weighted sled over the finish line. "My legs are sore," said one, "but I can still walk."

In the three to four-year-old division, Lee Kuzenchak from Clymer in Indiana County won. He is the son of Jim and Patti Kuzenchak.

Jessica Bennetch pulled in second. It was the first time in competition for the daughter of James and Dorothy of Lebanon.

Four-year-old Andrew Herr is following in his brother's footsteps. "My brother won before, but I never did," Andrew said. The third place winner is the son of Allan and Amelia Herr of Millersville.

5 to 6 year-olds

Six-year-old Jaclyn Troutman, Richland, outpulled her competitors in the five to six-year-old division. She is the daughter of Nelson and Mary Troutman. If her name sounds familiar, it's probably because she was the former Li'l Miss Berks County and she was featured in "Kid's Korner" this past summer.

She said, "It was hard. I'm going to have sore legs."

Her third cousin came in third. He is Ryan Miller, 6, son of Calvin and Susan Miller, Fredericksburg. It was the first time for him and he said, "I like it."

He received a tractor for a prize. His only complaint was: "It should have been a green tractor."

7 to 8 year-olds

The winners in the seven to eight-year-old division had to pull 150 pounds in the playoffs.

A first-timer, Corey McCauley who is eight placed first. He said, "It was fun. I might do it again if I can still walk."

He lives with his parents, Mike and Brenda McCauley in Hamburg, Berks County.

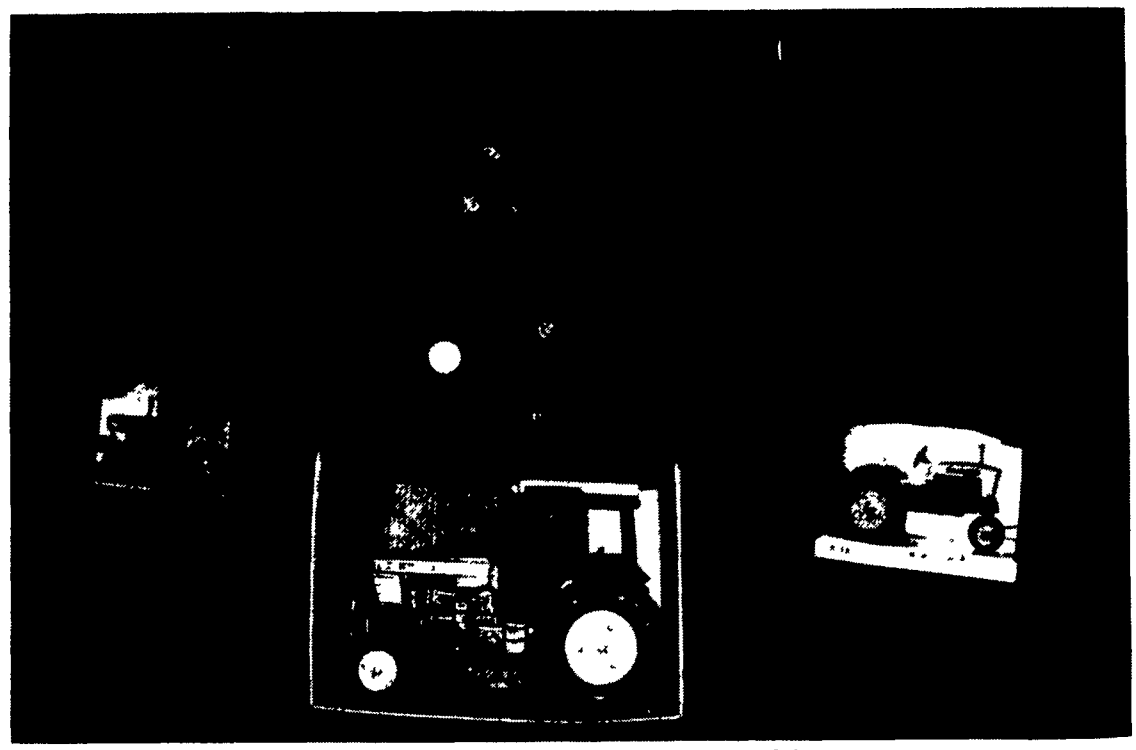
A veteran winner, Frankie Halbleich of Mount Joy placed second. He said, "I won two trophies and whole bunch of tractors before this."

The seven-year-old is the son of Cindy and Fred Halbleich.

Pulling in third was Brian Dombach of Willow Street. The eight-year-old said it was his first time in competition and the relay was tougher than he thought it would be.

He thought he probably won because, "I lift weights at my cousin's house."

Tractor driving is no easy chore when you're hauling a hundred pounds on the sled.



To claim their prizes, these three champions of the seven to eight-year-old division needed to pull 150 pounds in the play offs. From left: Frankl Halbleich, Corey MacCauley and Brian Dombach.

"Watch out," here comes Jaclyn Troutman, tractor pull champion of the five-to-six-year-old division.

Goat Antics Disrupt Race

Handsome, ugly, skinny, leggy, puggy and beautiful—a hilarious assortment of goats entertained the audience during the Family Fun Day at the Farm Show on Sunday.

The goats and their masters raced around the arena...well, most goats did. Some got a bit stubborn and refused to budge despite immense cajoling in the form of tugging, yanking and pushing.

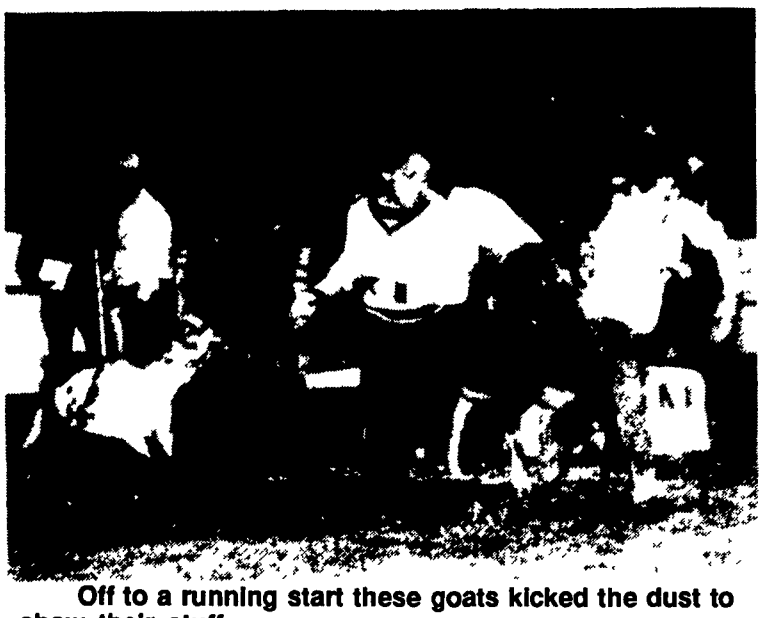
Many goats provided entertainment to the crowd and pure frustration to their masters. A few tears were shed by determined preschoolers whose goats proved uncooperative.

It seemed the more stubborn the goat, the more the audience cheered.

Some galloped off to a winning start, then decided near the finish line that it was a nice day for a stroll.

The goats' masters generally led them with a halter, but a few impatient goats lambasted past their masters in an effort to show their winning streak.

Perhaps the four-legged creatures did not set any racing records, but they certainly proved there's more than one way to get their master's goat.



Off to a running start these goats kicked the dust to show their stuff.

Although she tried her best, this young competitor could not convince her goat that it was time to hurry.

Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

Develop a Sound Money System

As food, housing, transportation and recreation costs continue to climb, your family may find it more difficult to make income stretch from one payday to the next. To increase purchasing power and save for your goals in the near future and long term, develop a sound money system.

Begin by finding out where your family income goes, have family members who are spending money carry a small notebook and jot down the money they spend. This way you can keep track of all expenditures, even small items like parking fees, newspapers, cosmetics, refreshments and one-item stops at drug or grocery stores. These are easy to class as little nothings but they can add up to a significant amount over a month. It will also help your family to decide on allowances for everyone.

By the end of the week, you will notice that most of the family's spending falls into categories such as food, transportation, housing/housing operation, clothing, vacation, education, gifts, contributions, medical care and personal needs. Keep recording your expenses for at least one month. With this information, your family can decide on a specific plan for spending its income.

While your family is learning how they are spending their income, set up specific routines for discussing money. Have regular family conferences to talk freely about family needs and goals -- whether it is a new bike, football, a vacation next summer or paying the tax bill. Be sure to include the children in the regular session. Your children do not need every detail but it is important that they have a sense of being included and heard.

Low Calorie Meat Selection and Preparation

If you are interested in reducing calories in your diet while still including red meat in your menus, the following tips and guidelines may be of interest to you.

Low-calorie cooking with meats begins at your supermarket's meat counter. Beef cuts that are low in fat and calories include top round, top loin strip steak, top sirloin, eye of the round, flank steak, tip steak and extra lean ground beef. Lean pork cuts included tenderloin, fresh ham and loin chops. If you are buying lamb or veal, select cuts that have little external fat.

Before cooking the meat, the outside fat should be trimmed to 1/4 of an inch. In many cases, this will already have been done for you by the butcher at the supermarket. Separable fat should be trimmed from the cooked meat before it is served. When cooking the meat, limit your use of flour, sauces or gravies and season with herbs and spices instead of butter, margarine or cream sauces to reduce calories.

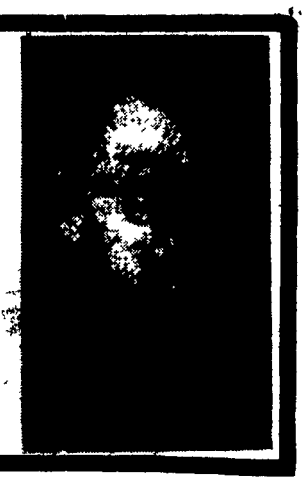
Whenever possible, use low-calorie substitutes in place of high-fat ingredients. For example, use plain, low-fat yogurt instead of sour cream or mayonnaise. Tomato juice can be used in place of tomato sauce, and low-fat milk or buttermilk is a good substitute for whole milk or cream.

Meat that is broiled or roasted should be placed on a rack so that it remains above the fat drippings. After browning a pot roast, ground meat or stew meat, remove the fat drippings from the pan. The layer of fat that forms after stew and soups have cooled should also be removed.

By following these guidelines, your family's favorite meat dishes will be lower in fat and calories.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser



Lately I've been trying to make order out of disorder. I know already that it will not succeed as I have a tendency to save too many papers. As they say, I did not "steal" this approach. You see I've come across old stocks, deeds, diaries and letters that others saved.

I found my father's 1929 account book--the year of the stock market crash followed by the great depression. At this time he had seven mouths to feed and yet he only spent one to two dollars a week for groceries. The exception was August when threshermen and other laborers ate at his house. Then the bills were three or four dollars a week.

One visit to the doctor was .75¢. Nowadays I don't think they'd open the door for that price. However, the veterinarian's visit was $1.75. My father would never believe what we pay our veterinarian in a month. A haircut cost him forty cents.

Even then the biggest items in his detailed expense account book were interest, taxes and insurance. Some things have not changed much. The income was from raising tobacco, feeding steers and selling milk. The milk price varied from $2.21 per hundredweight to $3.61. I was surprised that his test was consistently high -- 4.3, 4.5, 4.7, 5.3, and 5.4.

His one indulgence was his radio. We had no electricity and so he bought two new batteries in 1929 and had them recharged five times. One time in January he spent ten cents for a cigar and a magazine, I'm sure my mother disapproved of that.

His shirts cost .59¢ and .69¢ and my husband still wears one of them. They surely were well-made. There are some items mentioned that we probably would not buy today such as stovepipe, a stoneware crock and lampblack. Egg mash was $3 per hundred and gasoline was .20¢ per gallon. He went to a local mill several times a month to buy oats and have corn chopped. I'm sure it was also a good time to catch-up on neighborhood doings.

Microwave Class

YORK — If you are a new owner of a new microwave oven, Penn State Cooperative Extension has a class just for you. This class will acquaint you with the do's and don'ts of cooking in a microwave oven.

The class will be held January 23, 1:00-3:00 p.m. at the extension office meeting room, 112 Pleasant Acres Rd. The fee is $5.00. Advanced registration is required. Send check, payable to Extension Service Special Fund, to Penn State Cooperative Extension, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York, PA 17402. Call 757-9657 for more information.

The Lamb and Wool Queen admits she would be lost without her mother's help and the assistance of sponsors when it comes to cooking lamb for farm show visitors.

Eat Lamb, Grow Wool Is This Woman's Message

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG — This week was Carla Clutter's crowning moment.

True, it was two months ago that she captured the Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen crown. But Farm Show is where she reigns with royal aplomb.

Dressed in a stylish wool outfit and a crown upon her head, the willowly brunette attracted the crowd's attention as she flitted between handing out grilled lamb samples and ribbons to award winning sheep exhibitors.

"I love to meet people," Carla said. "That's the best part about being Lamb and Wool Queen."

Another part Carla enjoyed was the competition. "I'm very competitive," she said. "I take after my dad."

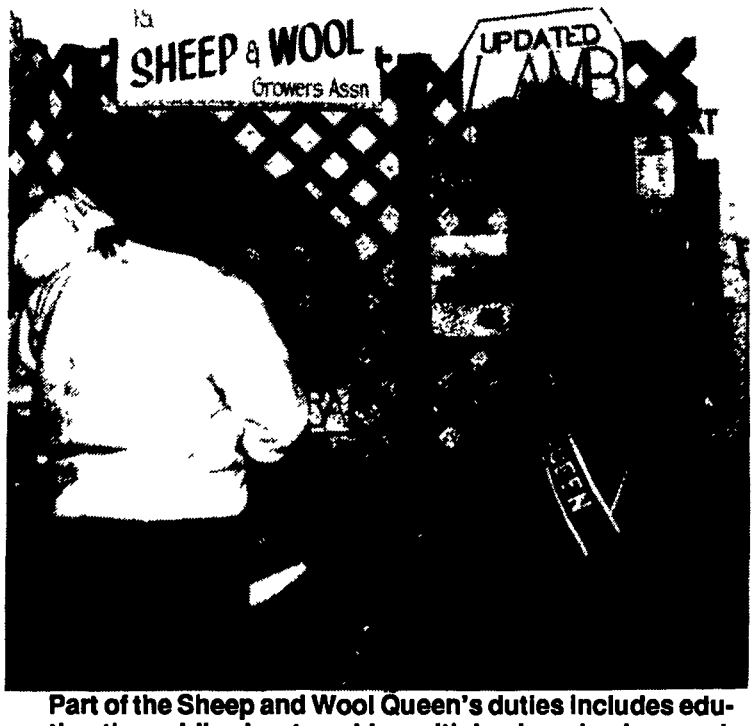
Her parents are Earl and Carolyn Clutter of Prosperity, Washington County.

With her sister Crystal, Carla owns 125 Suffolk sheep. She said, "Other years, I showed market lambs and breeding sheep at the Farm Show. I couldn't do it this year with being queen. I miss it. I'd rather being showing than watching—that's my competitive nature coming out."

The personable queen credits 4-H for developing her public relations skills and for giving her opportunites to develop her talents. She said, "I think 4-H is the greatest thing to get into. It introduces so many new things."

She is a 10-year 4-H member. Presently she is president of Washington County 4-H and vice president of South Franklin-Morris 4-H.

Her outstanding performance earned her a spot at the National 4-H Congress.



Part of the Sheep and Wool Queen's duties includes educating the public about cooking with lamb and using wool. Here Carla stands at her Farm Show display booth decorated with a spun wool wreath, fleece and recipes.

Besides showing and breeding sheep, Carla shows Angus and Charolais cattle. Other 4-H projects are photography, horse, livestock judging and leadership clubs.

Carla has put leadership qualities to use by being a staff member in the Southwest Region Teen Leader Retreat and Penn State 4—H. She attended leadership conferences in Nebraska, Indiana, Tesas, North Carolina, Minnesota, Oklahoma and Kansas.

She was a Keystone winner in beef and a county winner in beef, sheep, agriculture, achievement and leadership clubs.

As if those activities aren't enough to fill a teen's schedule, Carla is treasurer of her church youth group and she participates in cheerleading, track, basketball, volleyball, and is an athletic trainer for the football team and wrestling team.

Being an athletic trainer has steered Carla in the career direction of physical therapy. She said, "My mom is a nurse, I guess that influenced me too."

All her activity does not detract from her scholastic ability. She is secretary of the National Honor Society and has been awarded by Who's Who Among American High School Students, by the Rotary Club, and she received the Presidential Academic Fitness Award.

All this began, she believes through 4-H. She said, "Sheep is a good way for little kids to get started in 4-H. It isn't as expensive as other livestock."

Another incentive to go with sheep is monetary. She said, "I can make more money on lambs than on steers."

As queen, Carla desires to talk to fast food places and to consumers. She said, "They need to know what we already know—that lamb is good and easy to prepare."

She also encourages consumers to purchase American lamb.

The free grilled lamb samples that she handed out influenced the

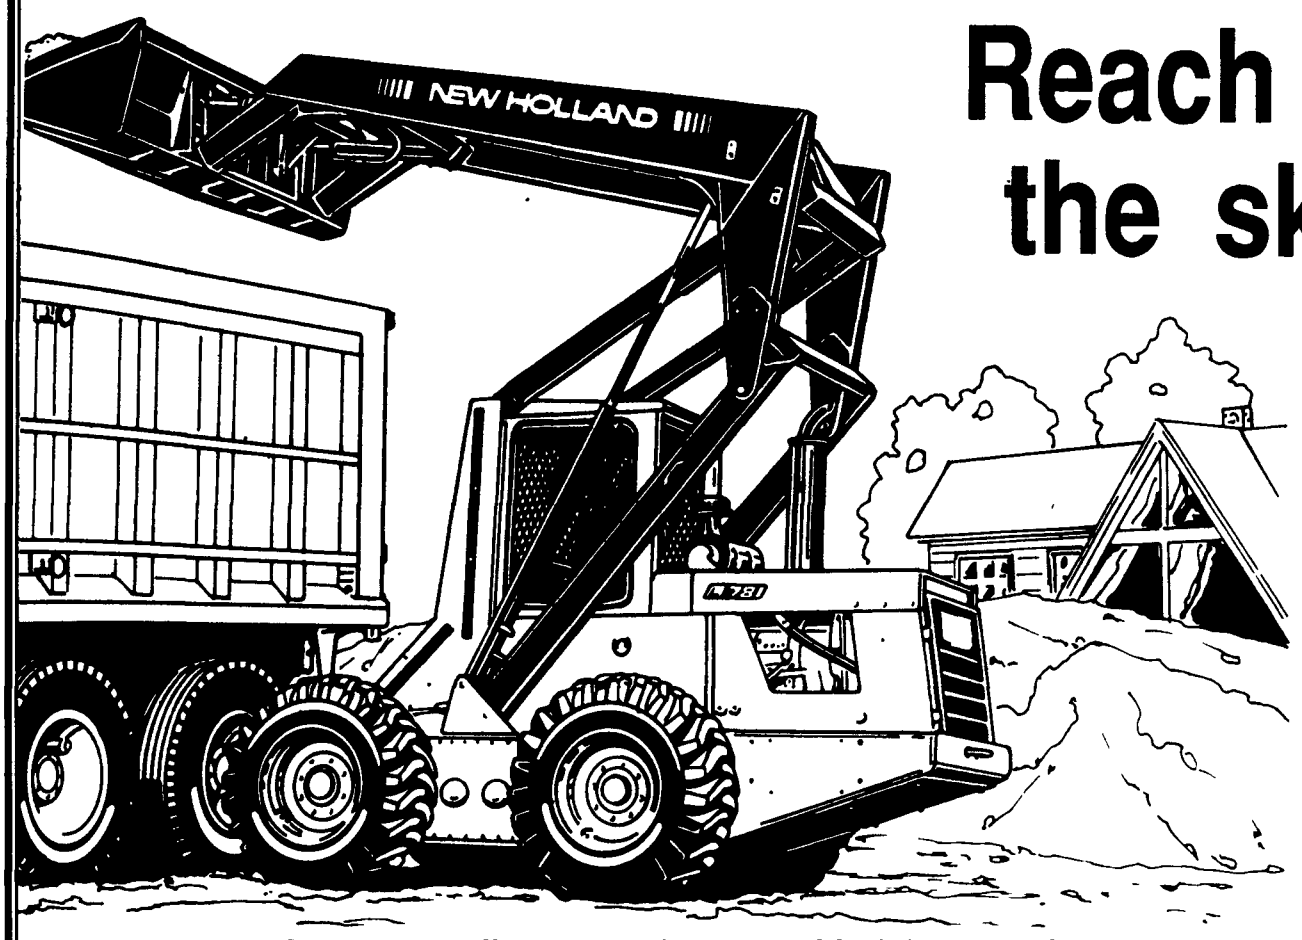
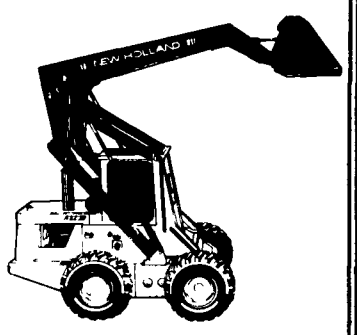
[illegible] SEE WHAT A "SUPER BOOM" LOADER FROM FORD NEW HOLLAND CAN DO FOR YOU



Reach for the sky!



Unmatched dump reach.

Get it done fast!

This loader does it all.

New Holland "Super Boom" loaders lift the payload forward as the boom rises. So you get more forward dump reach where you need it most. Extra dump reach means you can load the center of a tandem-axle dump truck.

Super Boom loaders also feature a longer wheelbase for increased stability and fast cycle times for more productivity.

Models range from 18 to 75 horsepower with SAE load ratings up to 2,050 pounds.

Ask us for a demonstration. You'll see how much better a skid-steer loader can be.

Farm Women Celebrate At Annual Convention

BY LOU ANN GOOD

More people than exhibitors and visitors look forward to the state Farm Show. Farm women members scattered across the state anticipate their yearly pilgrimage to the capitol city where they hold their annual convention.

Business is not the main item on the agenda. It's an unwritten rule that the annual convention is a time to renew old friendships and make new ones.

This year was no exception for the 397 who attended the Monday night banquet and for those who attended the Tuesday business meeting.

Edith Diehl, president of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania that boasts 3,628 members, said the organization gained 372 members this past year. Their goal is to reach a membership of 4,000 by the end of 1989.

This year as last, Boyd E. Wolff, Secretary of Agriculture, spoke at the Monday morning meeting. They were entertained by Harold and Donna Baughman, a magic team.

Speaker for the afternoon session was Richard Ezell, a humorist.

The banquet held at Penn Harris Motor Inn featured musicians John and Gloria Hess and Kathy Long. David Shellenberger and friends of Clown Ministries entertained.

The business session included installing Dorothy Caskey as state treasurer of the organization and Edna Spencer as state director.

Following state committee reports, members debated whether or not delegates should be allowed to make a motion. The bylaw committee will review the bylaws at their next board meeting and see if changes should be made.

Naomi Bupp reported that recipes submitted from members will be compiled in a book this year. The cookbooks will be sold and the profits will benefit the state society.

On the lighter side, Blanche McCullock, state chaplain, encouraged members to celebrate with laughter. She said, "Laughter is healing. It's the best medicine, you don't need a prescription. Look at the bright side of life and there's no need to see a physician.

Laugh at your mistakes, instead of making a fuss. See humor in every thing and share it with others. It feels good to laugh each day. The whole day is brighter and your load lighter.

She referred to many Bible verses to illustrate that "our creater planned laughter as part of life."

"Laughter is like aerobics," she stated. "It's exercise for the heart. It makes you look and feel better. Learn to laugh and pass it on to others."

The hugs, conversation and laughter interspersed between sessions demonstrate that the farm women society finds convention time is a good place to laugh.

crowd that lamb, indeed, is good to eat. Now all that remains is to convince them it is easy to prepare.

BARBECUED SIRLOIN LEG STEAKS

4 lamb steaks, cut from leg
½ cup catsup
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salad oil
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 garlic clove, crushed
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Brush first side of lamb steaks with mixture of remaining ingredients. Broil over hot coals or close to broiler heat. If steaks are thawed, allow 6 minutes for rare, 7 for medium, 8 for well done. If frozen, add 2 to 3 minutes. Turn and brush second side with sauce mixture. Broil same as first side. Serve with any remaining sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Tip: For quick barbecued leg steaks, brush with your favorite prepared barbecued sauce.

Lebanon County Tractor Club

The Lebanon County 4-H Tractor Club is once again gearing up for this year's program. Fran Bushong of Lebanon, organizational leader for the club, states that "this year's program will start Monday, January 16 at 7:00 p.m. at the County Extension Office in Room 11 of the Municipal Building." The 4-H Tractor program gives youth an opportunity to "learn by doing." All interested individuals should attend this organizational meeting where you will learn that better tractor care results in longer tractor life, more power, and lower operating costs. Because you learn how to do many small but important tractor maintenance jobs, you will get better production from farm units and you will cut down on costly breakdowns.

While you are learning how to care for your tractor, you should also learn how to be a safe operator. Another important goal of this program is to help you form good safety habits so you can think and act safely - at all times.

Equally important with learning tractor care and safety is the 4-H goal of helping you to become a sound-thinking citizen. The training you receive in your 4-H program will be very beneficial to you throughout your lifetime.

Maybe you or someone you know is interested in working on a farm this summer. If so, it's important that you become a certified tractor operator. One segment of the 4-H Tractor Program, the Occupational Hazard Course, offers 13 and 14 year olds the training required to be certified to operate farm machinery. This is the only time this course and examination will be offered, so tell your friends and neighbors.

If you have any questions contact Fran Bushong at 867-2071 or Ken Winebark at 274-2801, Ext. 350.

Dorothy Caskey of Adams County Society 2 (right) was elected state treasurer at the Farm Women's business meeting held Tuesday. Edna Spencer of Huntingdon County Society 3 was elected state director.

Rise And Shine

I had just spent 12 glorious days at home over the holidays. Suddenly it was time to return to work. The most difficult task was not only getting myself back into the swing of things but returning our 16-month-old to a routine. Our holidays had been packed with late nights and sleep-in mornings. Now it was time to get back to the "early bird" routine and I was dreading it. Fortunately my files produced some helpful information that I'll pass along that should help anyone take the hassles out of weekday mornings.

First, you may start with the thinking process...sometimes called a time study. What is most important for you and what are your morning habits? I can't wake up without a morning shower, and Elise needs some cuddling time before she'll agree to a diaper change and dressing. However, I could do away with the morning fish feeding and dishwasher loading. Determine how long it actually takes you to complete the morning necessities and allow for it.

Try giving yourself a headstart by doing some things the night before. Set the breakfast table, check that there's gas in the car or lunch money ready, and plan your wardrobe. I found that a quick trip to the babysitters with some new toys and food for the week followed by a trip to the gas station made my return morning less stressful. I even arrived a little early, adding a bright spot to my busy day ahead.

Next, try delegating. We need to be realistic in understanding that even school age children can not be expected to hop out of bed on schedule, eat and run. According to New York City child-development specialist Lorraine Rocissano, "There's no question that young children are not well suited to adapting to a rigid adult schedule. It does put stress on them." The result is unhappiness on everyone's part.

Try delegating some of the morning responsibilities to your spouse and your children. Be willing to accept the outfits that your spouse may select, or set out his clothing the night before. School age children might respond well to a checklist of morning responsibilities. Instead of asking, "Did you brush your teeth?" you can say "Go check the list!" This places the burden on the child and the list rather than mother.

Another idea for delegating responsibilities is recommended by Sally Wendkos Olds in The Working Parents' Survival Guide (Bantam). Olds recommends getting the entire family into the act of setting up a "launching pad" for each child. This is a table or shelf for each individual where you place keys, notes, books and "whatever" the night before. Then everyone is responsible to check their launching pad before they take off for the day.

Finally, it's important to remember that young childeren are not always good at following a tight adult schedule. Instead of rushing children around, it's important to leave them be children...children who are incapable of doing two things at the same time, like eating toast while you put on their shoes. Instead, try waking up your child a few minutes earlier to allow for the needed time that it takes to do those items individually. Here are a few ideas to entice your little one from out of the covers:

- Offer to help her dress while she's still in bed.
- Spin clothes in the dryer for a minute to warm them up.
- Allow a young child to bring a comfort object such as a stuffed animal to the breakfast table.
- Keep a supply of tempting breakfast foods on hand.

Rather than constantly reminding your child to "hurry up, we're late," try using positive directional statements such as, "Time to have breakfas! Time to put on your jacket!"

There will still be difficult mornings for all of us when nothing seems to go right and we leave home late and angry. However, with a little more thought and planning we may be able to get our children's day and our own off to a good start! Happier, less stressful mornings sounds like a great new year's resolution for me!

American Farmer Degree

Rodney Herr of Gettysburg joined an elite group of FFA members.

Herr received the National FFA Organization's highest degree of membership, that of American Farmer. Along with 713 other degree recipients, the Conewago-New Oxford Chapter member was honored at the 61st National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo.

One of the highlights of the convention, the American Farmer degree ceremony, included the presentation of a certificate and gold key to Herr, by National FFA President Kelli Evans.

The American Farmer degree program is a special project that is presented annually at the National convention to the top 2/10s of 1% of FFA membership. Awarding of the degree is based upon a Member's Supervised Occupational Experience Program (SOEP) in agribusiness or production agriculture and his/her leadership ability as demonstrated through involvement in FFA activities.

Rodney excelled in both aspects of the criteria throughout his FFA career. While actively involved in the FFA (since 1981), he has had strong production projects in swine, poultry, corn, and soybeans. For his efforts he also received the State Star Farmer and Eastern Region National Swine Proficiency in 1985. Rodney held the office of chapter and Adams County president as-well-as being chairman of many committees. Rodney also competed in many county and state FFA contests, placing very well.

A major emphasis of the FFA is the development of skills and abilities to prepare young people for leadership roles in agriculture.

Rodney is the son of Erma Herr and the late Clair Herr.

The Systems Approach of Hershey Equipment lets you put it all together

Today's profit minded poultry, swine, and grain producers must think in terms of an automatic system.

"System thinking" can help you plan away problems before you begin, or it can help you automate away problems you now have.

Hershey Equipment Co. is geared to provide all components of the system including equipment, plumbing, electrical and building. This will assure that the pieces will fit together to form a profitable system.

4-H'ers Take The Road To Harrisburg

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

BALLY (Montgomery) — The Farm Show dairy barn is filled with impressive displays from individual farms. A spectator can easily differentiate from one herd to another by the change in the name cards and other aesthetics designed not for cow comfort, but spectator pleasure.

Three years ago a group of 4-H'ers from Montgomery County decided first to go to the Farm Show together and secondly to look like a "real" farm and fashion a display focusing on the 4-H theme and colors. The third place to this project was educating the public about 4-H. At the end of the 1986 Farm Show all participants could safely say "Mission accomplished."

Enthusiasm ran high that first year as each member of the Western Mont-Berks 4-H dairy club chipped in with muscle power to keep the cows looking their best and to make the display look top-notch. The first year also proved to be a trial and error time in determining what would work in setting up a display and what, wouldn't since none of the members nor the leaders had previously shown at the Farm Show and set-up a display. Cloth worked, plastic didn't and wire worked better than wood. The crowning achievement of both years was when the club's banner was hoisted, like a flag and hung across the aisle. "That's when we announced to the Farm Show that we had arrived," explained Paul Gehringer, the club president at the time.

Having the 4-H colors and a display with 4-H information and paraphernalia sparked questions from the passers-by which the club members were more than willing to answer. Unfortunately, the demand for the 4-H handouts exceeded the supply.

The second year they came prepared and planned to vigorously promote 4-H. Their supply of brochures, buttons and pencils just reached for the entire week.

One of the original goals of the display was to make a statement. "We wanted the rest of the Pennsylvania dairy industry to know that 4-H and dairy farming were alive and well in Montgomery County; that it had not yet given into suburban sprawl," comments Martha Gehringer, then leader of the club. "Plus, the Wolfgang kids had gone out to the Farm Show in 1985 and had a good experience. The club members started talking about more of them going out, then the idea of doing a display came up and one thing lead to another and then to another and then the road to Harrisburg."

The club members learned a lot the past two years. Paul notes that the entire show offers a learning experience. The vendors are willing to talk and explain their products, there are experienced showman and fitters who will explain something if asked and the visitors to the Farm Show are just plain fun to watch, Paul recalls. One of the drawbacks to spending an entire week at the Farm Show and sleeping in dairy barns is the dreaded "Farm Show Crud," which strikes the week after Farm Show, "sorta like an inadvertent souvenir of the place," he concedes. That's when straw and dirt keeps showing up in sleep bags, clothing and shows.

"The club members show at the Farm Show building on an annual basis at the Jr. All American Show in late September. However, showing at the Farm Show, with all of the excitement, pageantry and people, is a completely different and worthwhile experience. That is if you can keep up with school work," he maintains.

The second year was easier and this year the club feels they have the program just about down pat.

For this club, the Farm Show offered a chance to come and work together to promote their club and 4-H in a unique way. Through the experience they have grown in their knowledge of the dairy industry, agriculture and personal interactions with people from all walks of life.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 24

LANCASTER — Farm Women Society #24 met at the home of Mrs. Marvin Martin, 120 Oak Ridge Drive, New Holland, December 27, at 7:30 P.M. The business meeting was conducted by Carolyn Groff, president, and the roll call was answered by revealing the most unusual Christmas gift received this Christmas. Plans were made for members to attend the State Convention to be held at Harrisburg, (January 9 and 10). Members sang Christmas carols that were recorded and then played back while they exchanged presents from secret sisters.

Berks Society 3

The Berks County Society of Farm Women, Group 3, held its December meeting at the Washington Inn, Bechtelsville. President Mary Bartholomew presided.

A thank-you note was received from the Soup Kitchen of the Reading Urban Ministeries for the donation of groceries.

Five members will attend the state convention in Harrisburg on January 9.

Following the business meeting, a New Year's Day meal was raffled. Gifts were also exchanged by members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mary Hill, Fourth Street, Boyertown.

Pork Industry Investigating New Cooking Recommendations

CHICAGO — The pork industry is closer to updating recommendations for cooking today's leaner products, thanks to research conducted with checkoff funds. The project looked at both flavor and nutrient retention.

Hildegard Heymann, Ph.D., recently completed an extensive research project at the University of Missouri examining various cooking methods and temperatures for fresh pork roasts and chops. She presented preliminary findings to the Pork Industry Group, a division of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, in December and is currently completing further evaluation of the results.

To ensure that the research results reflect the pork available to consumers today, roasts and chops from 100 hogs were tested. Laboratory tests were used to determine nutrient retention, fat and cholesterol content. A consumer panel taste-tested the roasts and chops for flavor and visual appeal.

"Interestingly, we found that many of the consumer panel members liked the pork cooked to a lower internal temperature, but they had reservations about eating pork with a pink color," Heymann said.

According to Janet C. Williams, Ph.D., R.D., associate director of product development at the Meat Board, the pork industry may need to make separate recommendations for individual cuts.

"A uniform cooking temperature for all pork may do some products an injustice by either overcooking or undercooking. For example, it would be difficult to come up with the same recommendation for cooking a bone-in pork roast and an America's Cut," Williams said.

From these findings, plus input from the National Pork Producers Council, USDA and other organizations, the pork industry will work to establish uniform cooking recommendations for consumers.

The Pork Industry Group of the Meat Board conducts demand-building programs in nutrition and product development/meat science research, education and consumer information, funded by producer checkoff dollars.

Wayne County Capon Roundup

The 1988 Wayne County 4-H Capon Roundup was held recently at the Wayne County Extension Office in Honesdale.

Melissa Nebzydoski of Pleasant Mount, a member of the Pleasant Mount Go-Getters 4-H Club, had the grand champion capon at the roundup. Her pair of dressed capons weighte d11 pounds each and received a score of 17 points out of a possible 20 points from judge Doyle Thomas, Susquehanna County extension director.

Keith Hauenstein of Aldenville, a member of the Aldenville Adventurers 4-H Club, had the reserve grand champion capon. Keith's pair of dressed capons each weighed more than 11 pounds and received a score of 16 points.

A blue ribbon was awarded to Christy Hauenstein of Aldenville for her dressed turkey, while Manuel Seeley of Lake Ariel received a red ribbon for his dressed turkey.

The results of the roundup were:

Junior Division
1. Melissa Nebzydoski, 2. Stephen Nebzydoski, 3. Owen Kapalsky

Intermediate Division
1. Mark Nebzydoski, 2. Matt Nebzydoski

Senior Division
1. Keith Hauenstein, 2 Dave Nebzydoski

Now there's a flowable herbicide specifically formulated to deliver the grass and broadleaf control power you need in conservation tillage corn. Whether you've cut back by only one tillage trip or gone all the way to no-till, new Bullet® herbicide from Monsanto is for you. The difference in Bullet is encapsulation.* The weed controlling firepower of Bullet is protected in tiny, timed release capsules that move through crop residue into the weed germination zone where its power is unleashed.

TIMED RELEASE FOR SEASON LONG CONTROL New Bullet, with its unique timed release feature, discharges its firepower gradually to stop both early and later germinating weeds and grasses. Bullet gives you full season control of the worst troublemakers.

Tough weeds and grasses like crabgrass, foxtail, fall panicum, velvetleaf, annual morning-glory, nutsedge, marestail and common ragweed. Even triazine-resistant pigweed is no match for the firepower of Bullet.

PERFORMS IN ADVERSE WEATHER Hot and dry, cool and wet. Adverse weather conditions steal power from many herbicides. But thanks to encapsulation, Bullet retains its strength and delivers high caliber control during adverse spring weather. If it's dry, encapsulation reduces loss from volatilization. If it's wet, encapsulation minimizes movement out of the weed germination zone.

EASY ON SEEDLINGS The gradual release feature of Bullet means it gives you excellent crop tolerance. That's because Bullet doesn't deliver the entire amount of active ingredient all at once. So it's easy on young corn seedlings. Bullet releases its power gradually for season long control and great crop tolerance.

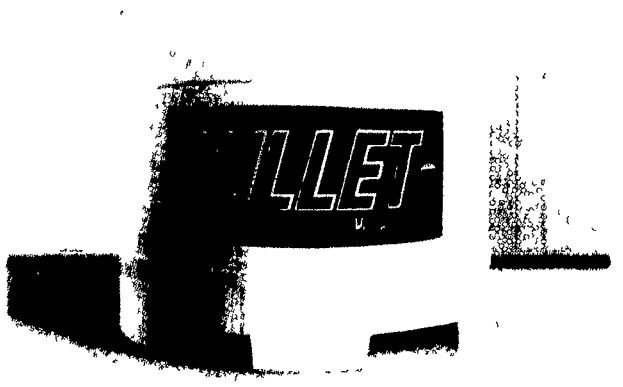
HIGH CALIBER PERFORMANCE FOR YOU Whatever your conservation tillage practice, Bullet is for you. Bullet controls the toughest weeds and grasses. And thanks to timed release technology, even the later germinating troublemakers can't escape. Bullet remains strong in adverse weather conditions and yet it's gentle on young corn seedlings. It's a unique package of benefits that no other herbicide can match. In con-till corn, you need maximum firepower to stay in control. You need Bullet. High caliber control for con-till corn.



U.S. EPA registration pending for use as a pre-emergent herbicide to control labeled grasses and broadleaf weeds in corn.
Always read and follow label directions.
Bullet is a Restricted Use Pesticide.
*Only alachlor is encapsulated.

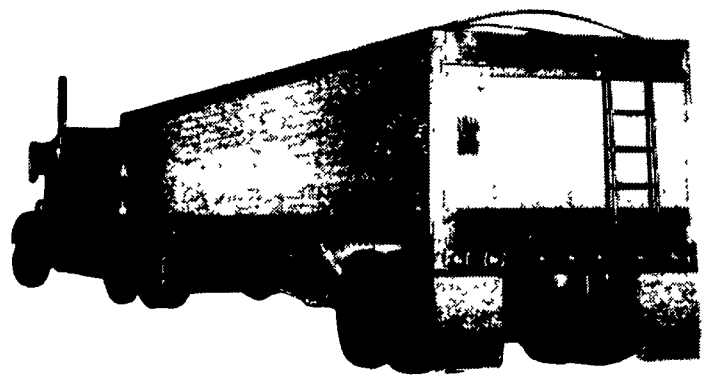
REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

24 foot Ruff Neck trailer on left is Eby's workhorse. Trailer on the right is an economical, 16 foot Wrangler.

Get outstanding value in EVERY Eby trailer.

Whether it's a top-of-the-line Ruff Neck or an economical Wrangler, you know your livestock trailer is built to last if it's from Eby.

Aluminum construction is one of the main reasons these trailers are so durable and reliable. They'll never rust through or need welding. In fact, without ever being painted, an Eby livestock trailer will stay looking new for years.

Standard features make your Eby trailer a profitable investment. Extra-heavy axles, brakes, wheels and tires. Thick aluminum sheet flooring. Sturdy posts and rails. Even an aerodynamically designed front end is standard.

And, while standard features make even the economical Eby Wrangler far more than an average economy-model, we custom-build everything we make. So you tell us what you want. Choose from a long list of options. Select those features you need for your particular operation. Whether it's a Wrangler or deluxe Ruff Neck, the trailer you buy will be the trailer you need.

Call or write for more information and the name of the Eby dealer nearest you.

Belgian Junior Champs Steal The Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Two outstanding junior champion stallions stole the show during the Belgian draft horse contest at the 1989 Pennsylvania State Farm Show on Monday

In the stallion competition class winnings were split between Arthur E. Reist of Lancaster county and Lewis Biddle and family of Centre county.

The junior champion, Seneca Valley Jeff, of the Biddle family captured the grand champion honors. According to Todd Biddle, showman, SV Jeff has never been beaten in Pennsylvania or Ohio. Jeff was the champion at the Keystone International Livestock Show held in Harrisburg in October.

The Biddle's purchased Jeff as a foal in 1986, the day before the Ohio Fair to win his class the next day and has been winning for the Biddle family ever since. He was sired by Seneca Valley Chant to Lopu Ida Seybert.

The Reists' reserve junior champion Kyle's Excalibur, the oldest in the 1-to-2 year stallion class was named the reserve grand champion. He was sired by Oakland's Kyle to J-K Congress. This is a home-bred winner for the Reist brothers. This young champion will be sold at the sale in Columbus, Ohio next month.

However, it was Concord's Conquest, the second placed stallion of Larry B. Orndorff Sr. of Adams County who took the reserve senior champion title.

In the Belgian mare contest the tradition continues for Orndorff's Belgians of Greene County. For more than 40 years this family has been receiving accolades for their breeding success since their grandfather, Charles, started it all in 1948.

Corbly L. Orndorff and sister Christina O. Lemley carried on the winning ways of the Orndorff's Belgians by capturing four class wins and five championship titles.

Belgian show judge Tim King of Fremont, Ohio, tapped 5-year-old Orndorff's Highland Brandy for the senior and grand championship honors. Brandy was sired by Confidents Red Man to Orndorff's H Lassie. Orndorff's Belgians exhibited the grand champion last year in the 1988 State Farm Show.

The 2-year-old winner was Orndorff's Supreme Debbie. Deb' sired by Congolaise Supreme to Connie's Lori, took the junior champion on her way to taking the grand reserve title in the Belgian mare contest.

Shirley and Jerry Ray of Indiana County kept Corbly and Christina Orndorff from making a clean sweep in the mare competition. Show judge King went back to his 5-year-and over class for his reserve senior champion. The Rays' SJF Maybelline, the second place winner in the 5-year and over class took the reserve title.

Orndorff's Supreme Unity, the winner in the 1-year class took the reserve junior title.

Percheron Show Hosts Tough Competition

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — The 73rd Pennsylvania State Farm show drew some tough competition in the Percheron contest.

Last year the Allebachs of Centre County swept all but three titles in both the Clydesdale and Percheron competitions of the 1988 State Farm Show. This year it was a different story. However, the Allebach family, as usual made a great showing of their breeding expertise. They exhibited eight of the 12 champions named in the Percheron competition.

Show judge Richard Lee of Hilbert, Wisconsin, went to Windermere's Laddy for his grand champion stallion. This two-year-old was sired by Blackhome Duke to MEF Miss Jacqueline and is owned by Gerald Allebach.

Laddy was also named the junior champion stallion of the show. Reserve grand champion of the Percheron stallion contest went to Allebach's Windermere's Ceasar. Also named the senior champion the 4-year-old sired by Mystic-Did-It to Beth Mill.

Michael Wian, Centre County, took the reserve junior champion spot with Winsor Hill's Daniel also sired by Blackhome Duke to Windermere's Dixie.

Reserve senior champion went to Coady's Creek College Jack exhibited by H. Lee Brown of Oxford in Chester County.

The Percheron grand champion mare was a repeat of the 1988 State Farm Show. The Allebach's Windermere's Roxanne, took the title again. Roxanne is the offspring of Giron's Mr. T and Jeremiah's Roxie.

Buckeye Gypsy Rose took the reserve grand title. Also owned by the Allebachs, this 2-year-old was sired by Mi Marcus to Buckeye D Jacqueline. Rose took the junior champion title also.

Lee returned to his 5-year-and older class for his reserve senior champion. Pennswoods Miss Penelope, owned and exhibited by Alfred Rovenolt Jr. Rovenolt's winner was sired by Lo Lynn Joe to RHB Mindy.

For the junior reserve champion mare MEF Dixie was tapped. Owner Marvyn Forwood is from York County. Dixie is sired by Windermere Imperial Max to Miss Dianah.

Saul Students Among Most Highly Recruited In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — Recently, W.B. Saul High School of Agricultural Sciences presented a College Fair Day to the junior and senior classes. Because of the quality of the students at Saul, colleges from as far away as Alabama sent recruiting teams to encourage students to apply to their institutions.

Fifteen colleges and universities met with the students in their agriculture classes for 45-minute sessions. Following the presentations, booths were set up and students were able to talk informally during the lunch session. This presentation was well-accepted by our students, and is fast becoming a tradition at Saul.

Tuskegee University has recruited more students from Saul High School than anywhere else. Last year, Delaware Valley College accepted 15 of our seniors; Penn State, 17; Temple University; Manor Junior College; Williamsport Area Community College; Harcum Junior College; Alabama A. & M. University; University of Maryland, College Park; University of Maryland, Eastern Shore; Virginia State University; North Carolina A. & T. State University; Ohio State University; and the University of Delaware.

Temple University has recruited a group of Saul students into the Philadelphia Ranger Corps. Funded by Temple and in cooperation with the Fairmount Park Commission, students are offered a two-year tuition-free Associate degree program. The young men and women work full-time in Fairmount Park during the summer months, and part-time during the school year. The credits they earn for the Associate degree are transferrable to a full four-year Baccalaureate degree program. Temple staff members encourage students to pursue a four-year degree.

Students in the Philadelphia Ranger Corps are Park Guards. Their duties include working with park visitors and answering questions about the park system. The Rangers explain what is available in the Fairmount Park system, share information on historic sites throughout the park, while helping make guests feel welcome.

In the future, Saul is looking to expanding College Fair Day to include more colleges and universities, develop more work study/ tuition-free programs, and increase industry-funding internship programs.

WESTFALIA Sales Center

Steve & Bob Waltz, Owners

We Offer Hi-Tech Equipment Like:

• The WESTFALIA BIO MILKER

That lowers vacuum at teat end in the release phase. Pushes milk up into the pipeline, giving high line pipeline the same advantage as low line parlors. And the unit is designed to prevent cross contamination.

• The WESTFALIA VISOTRON

Automatically shuts off when milk flow stops lowering vacuum to approximately 4 1/2" to prevent udder irritation. East cow is treated as an individual.

• The WESTFALIA STIMOPULS

Offers the latest in Hi-Tech milking, stimulating the cow for optimum oxytocin release thus increasing 8% to 10% more milk per lactation.

Johnston, Allebach Share Titles In Clydesdale Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — The 73rd Annual State Farm Clydesdale Draft Horse competition saw some veteran winners in the ring and some new faces in the champion line-up. Ed Johnston from North Alexandria in Westmoreland County won all the Clydesdale mare classes on his way to capturing the grand champion mare title.

Show judge Richard Lee of Hilbert, Wisconsin, tapped Garr-Dell's Miss Molly, an 8-year-old for the took the honors. Molly is sired by Mike's Scott to Jonesway Ideal Sadie.

Johnston also had the reserve grand champion mare, Johnston's Premier Kate, a 2-year-old sired by J P Jake to Garr-Dell's MS Molly.

CHISEL PLOWS, FLAIL SHREDDERS & SOIL GROOMER

A POPULAR VERSATILE SOIL MANAGEMENT TOOL

The husky, curved shanks of the Sub-Soiler dig down as deep as 16 inches, shattering compacted layers of plow sole and lifting the hardpan while it is being broken. Once the soil is opened, moisture gets down to the newly created loose soil; root systems are no longer restricted and better drainage results.

What makes the BRILLION Sub-Soiler better? Check these features: hefty shank mountings (shear pin protection) with lateral adjustment; replaceable wear strips to prolong shank life; rugged, wide chisel points; cross braces on all models for extra strength and optional gauge wheels. Available in two frame sizes, four models - with 5, 7, 9 or 11 shanks.

Soil Groomer

Flail Shredders

The gear box on the Brillion flail shredder is made in Brillion's own modern foundry. It is then assembled with husky machine cut gears and tapered roller bearings. Input and output shafts are 1¾" diameter. The gear box is designed to match the horsepower of large tractors... to keep going when others heat up and quit.

Foraging Around

By Dr. John E. Baylor
Director of Market Development
Beachley-Hardy Seed Company

Hay Quality - What Is It?

Whether grown to be fed directly to livestock or as a cash crop, alfalfa growers agree that quality in hay or hay crop silage is the key to profits. And so do I.

Quality in forage can be described in several ways. Kim Cassel, dairy nutritionist at the University of Maryland, describes quality hay as "hay that contains a high level of digestible energy and is consumed in large amounts per unit of time." USDA nutritionist, Dale Waldo, and Wisconsin dairy specialist, Neal Jorgensen, say that for a forage to be of high quality it must be high in (1) intake, (2) digestibility, and (3) efficiency of utilization. "The factor of high intake," they say, "must include the subfactor of high substitution of concentrates." Dr. Vern Marble, extension agronomist in California, defines quality as "the ability of a forage to produce milk, meat, and/or fat, when consumed in sufficient quantities."

Authorities likewise generally agree that high quality forage also contains an abundance of minerals and vitamins, isleafy, free of foreign material, shows no signs of weathering, and has a bright green color.

But, one thing is certain, any definition of high quality forage must include high digestibility, and high intake by the consuming animal, with metabolic efficiency a third important factor.

Quality - What Is It Worth?

What is quality worth to you the dairyman? D. L. Mertens, research dairy scientist at the U.S. Dairy Forage Research Center at Madison, Wisconsin, predicts that high quality forage will be the key to survival for dairymen in the future. Again, so do I.

That's a strong statement, but there are plenty of facts to support this belief. For example, in one Wisconsin study, potential milk production per cow per day dropped from nearly 53 pounds to under 12 pounds as quality declined. Put this in terms of dollars, and it adds up to big bucks in a hurry.

There is no doubt that dairymen and other livestock farmers who buy hay also put a big price on quality. For example, at a recent New Holland hay auction, the price paid for alfalfa hay ranged from $80 to $200 per ton. Quality, as the buyer received it, was the main factor determining price. Unfortunately, visual inspection on the spot was the buyer's only guide.

Results from the Wisconsin quality tested hay auctions organized through the Wisconsin Forage Council provide, I believe, a truer picture of what farmers will pay for quality.

Price vs. Quality Grade Summary
Quality Tested
Wisconsin Hay Auctions

Grade	No. Lots	Average Prices ($/T)
Prime	95	$117.21
2	239	79.25
3	50	68.22
5	18	63.59

In the Wisconsin auctions, hay was actually tested and rated according to test results, based on a modification of the AFGC hay grades. Testing was made possible with th introduction of NIRS equipment, usually in mobile units, as a rapid but reliable method of measuring hay quality prior to sale. A Relative Feed Value (RFV) rating was given to each lot before sale.

The term Relative Feed Value is quite new. Briefly, it is an index that combines digestibility and intake, and is calculated from forage fiber analyses. It places these values into one number for a quick, easy, and effective method of evaluating quality for maintenance and high performance animal rations.

Since RFV is a new term, and one that you'll see a lot more in the year ahead, we'll devote next month's column to a fuller explanation of this term.

Lan-Chester Pork Day Announced

LANCASTER — The Lan-Chester Pork Day is scheduled this year for Tuesday, January 24, at the new facility at the New Holland Sales Stables, New Holland (Maw's Restaurant on Jackson Street). The event begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration and commercial exhibit visitation. The educational program begins at 9:30 a.m.

Dr. Matt Parsons, swine consultant from Hadley, Mass., will discuss "Animal Welfare Issues for Swine Producers" and "Molds and Mycotoxins." Parsons, a swine nutritionist, was heavily involved in defending farmers regarding the animal welfare legislation that was defeated in Massachusetts.

From Penn State Extension will be swine specialist Dr. Ken Kephart, who will outline "Hatfield's New Grading System" and present topics on "Today's Feeding Considerations" and "Update on Growth Agents." Dr. Dan Meyer, extension ag engineer will discuss "Protecting Yourself in Swine Buildings" and will be available for one-on-one consultation. Chester Hughes, Lancaster extension livestock agent and Alan Strock, Penn State regional farm management agent will offer suggestions for "Protecting Profits in Pork Production" and Bob Anderson, Lancaster extension agronomy agent will discuss "Fly Control in Swine Buildings." His topic will qualify for one credit towards pesticide recertification.

Dr. Tim Trayer, local swine veterinarian, will update swine producers on "Pseudorabies Progress" both locally and nationally.

Reservations are not needed and lunch will be available. This meeting providing update issues for swine producers is being conducted by Penn State Cooperative Extension.

Before You Buy A Heavy Duty No-Till Drill, Consider The Advantages Of The Heavy Duty Double Frame KINZE Bean/Corn Planter With Push Units That Really Penetrate The Toughest Soil Conditions For The No-Till Advantage!

The planter that can.

- Gives you liquid or dry fertilizer options with all the extras.
- Lets you set row spacings down to 15", 18", 19" with patented KINZE push units.
- You can equip it with all the no-till options you need.
- Offers you the dependability of spring-loaded contact drive wheels and precision seed placement accuracy ... with the finest row unit technology in the field today.
- Hydraulically folds — from planting to transport — in seconds. (Locks into a rigid transport position, and yet, gives you plenty of flex for uneven terrain.)

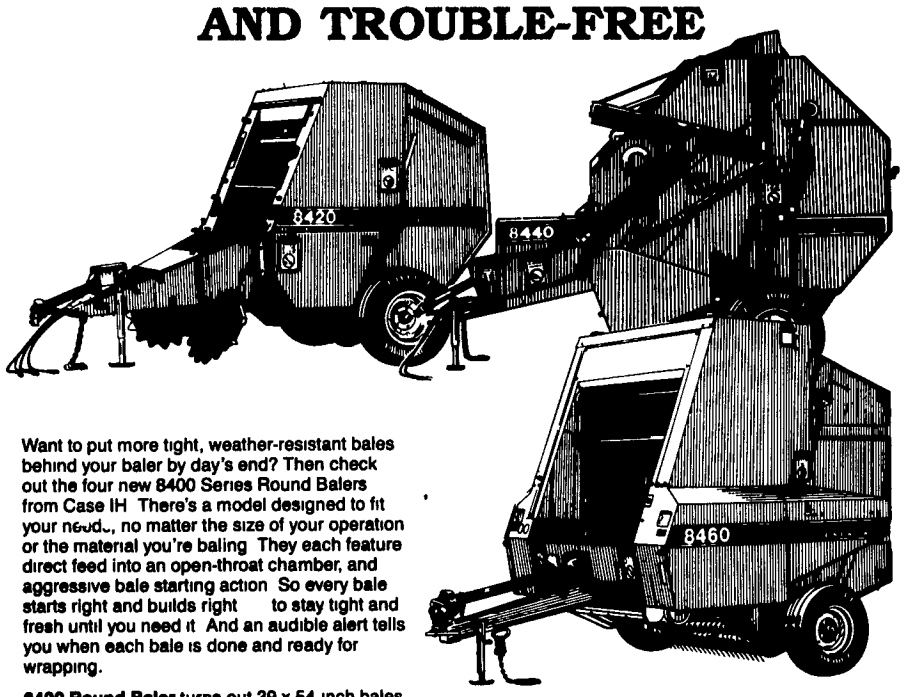
The New Case IH 8400 Series Round Balers

BALING THAT'S FAST, VERSATILE AND TROUBLE-FREE



Want to put more tight, weather-resistant bales behind your baler by day's end? Then check out the four new 8400 Series Round Balers from Case IH There's a model designed to fit your needs, no matter the size of your operation or the material you're baling They each feature direct feed into an open-throat chamber, and aggressive bale starting action So every bale starts right and builds right to stay tight and fresh until you need it And an audible alert tells you when each bale is done and ready for wrapping.

8420 Round Baler turns out 39 x 54-inch bales for smaller needs

8440 Round Baler builds tight, firm bales up to 5 x 5 feet, regardless of the crop.

8450 & 8460 Round Balers are high-production models, built to produce big bales 46.5 and 61.5 inches wide, respectively, and up to 6¼ feet in diameter.

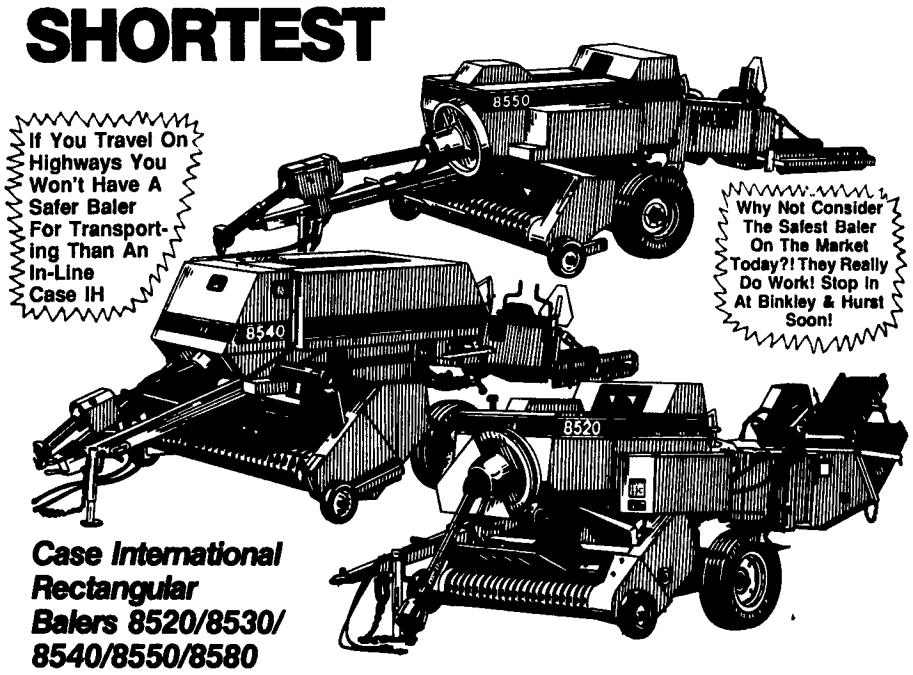
A STRAIGHT LINE IS STILL SHORTEST

If You Travel On Highways You Won't Have A Safer Baler For Transporting Than An In-Line Case IH

Why Not Consider The Safest Baler On The Market Today?! They Really Do Work! Stop In At Binkley & Hurst Soon!



Case International Rectangular Balers 8520/8530/ 8540/8550/8580

That's why all five 8500 Series Case IH Rectangular Balers give you center line design Your hay moves in a straight line from the time it's picked up until it leaves the baler as a tight, uniform bale

Center line means there are no corners to turn to get crop into the bale chamber as with conventional balers Nutritious leaves go into the bale, not on the ground. And with the baler directly behind the tractor, it's easy to transport through narrow bridges and gates

Case IH Rectangular Balers also give you:
- Wide, low-profile pickups collect full, heavy windrows with leaf-saving gentleness because the crop is not lifted as high to get it into the baler
- Prepacker chamber compresses hay into uniform flakes
- Flake size, density and bale size are more uniform
- High-speed, short-stroke plunger to pack bales tighter
- Hydraulic density control (optional on 8540, standard on 8550/8580) to regulate chamber pressure for tighter, square-shouldered bales for easier stacking

IS SUPERIOR FOR MANY REASONS

Case IH put more into the new MAGNUM tractor line than any farm tractors developed in over twenty years Here's why you'll get more out of it

- MAGNUM means more. Outstanding field performance from a new 505 cubic inch turbocharged engine with reserve power MAGNUM power
- The MAGNUM tractor's powershift puts 18-speeds of shift-on the-go workpower at your fingertips — standard And only MAGNUM tractors offer a full powershift creeper transmission with six additional speeds from 5 to 2 1 mph for more control and performance MAGNUM performance
- The MAGNUM tractor's new larger cab has 48 square feet of window area virtually unobstructed visibility more room and more seating comfort MAGNUM comfort
- It all adds up. Case IH MAGNUM tractors are setting new standards for the 130-195 PTO hp power range and for you See us for details

MAGNUM means more.

More Visibility
More Comfort
More Speeds
More Engine Torque
More Cubic Inch Displacement - 505"
More Features

MAGNUM means more.

More Guarantee Than Any Other Brand.

With The Advantage You'll Probably Never Take Advantage Of

5,000

Every Case IH MAGNUM tractor comes equipped with dozens of exclusive features that put it in a class by itself.
But none is more impressive than the 5-year/5,000-hour MAGNUM tractor warranty.
It covers every MAGNUM tractor—from top to bottom, front to back, for 5 years or 5,000 hours, whichever occurs first. * It's the best warranty in the business. By far.
But the way MAGNUM tractors are built there's a good chance you'll never need to take advantage of this advantage.

Gehl has the answer to every spreading need.

And Binkley and Hurst Bros., Inc. has a good deal waiting for you!

a. Solid

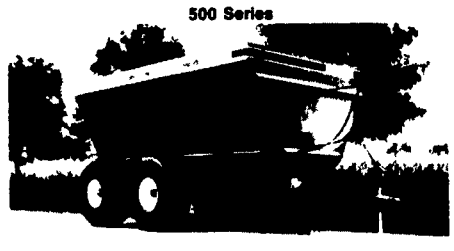
If you handle mostly solid manure, the Gehl 100 Series box spreader should be your choice It's built to give you more years of service A specially constructed floor with Clad Tuff™ protection prevents the apron from freezing to the floor The Ex Ten 'A' steel frame has more strength than ordinary steel And, the copper-bearing steel sides form a self healing rust scale that prevents pitting Six sizes are available, with load capacities from 135 up to 425 bushels heaped (243 cu ft)

100 Series

b. Semi-Solid

The Gehl 500 Series gets semi-solid manure onto your fields fast and economically Loading is easy from barn cleaner or bucket with the efficient, open top design An internal chopper type auger blends manure and forces it to the oversized, heavy duty rear fan for wide, even discharge patterns Engineered to handle high volumes, it can spread up to 1500 gallons of semi-solid manure in 2 5 minutes with uniform patterns up to 50 feet

500 Series



c. Liquid

If you handle only liquid manure a Gehl 700 Series liquid tanker should be your choice Featuring an internal auger it spreads evenly uphill or down Plus two discharge outlets let you choose either high application rates and fast unloading or moderate application rates And a fill indicator helps prevent overflow during loading

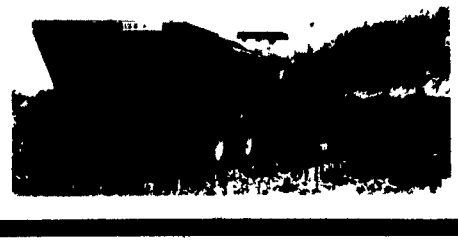
d. All of the above

The one spreader for a two spreader farm a Gehl 300 Series spreader lets you spread liquids semi solids pen pack even frozen manure The patented heavy duty square tube auger makes the big difference Turning at low RPM it produces a unique "pulse action that breaks up manure in the tank Specially formed paddles rip through tough clods to deliver a steady constant flow to the discharge The auger can be powered up and down to chop through bridged and frozen material Variflo discharge gives you complete application control

300 Series



For more answers about the Gehl spreader that best fits your manure management system, talk to your Gehl dealer. Or contact Gehl Company for a free manure spreader technical series buyers' guide. Gehl Company, 143 Water Street, West Bend, WI 53095.

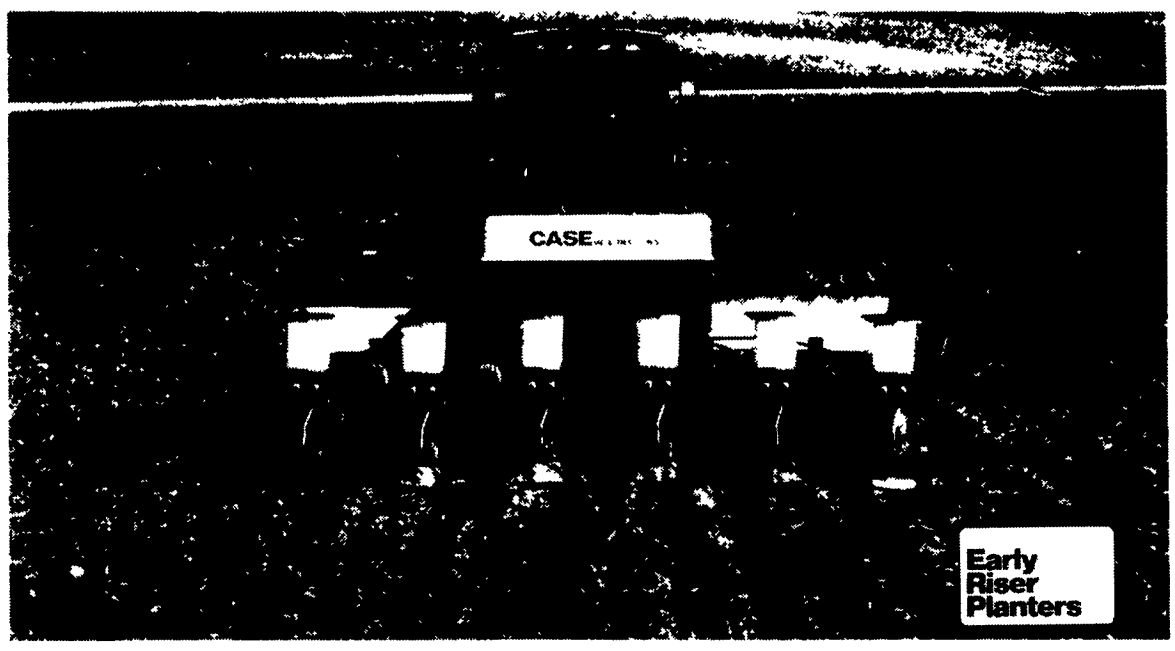
TO TILL or NOT TO TILL...

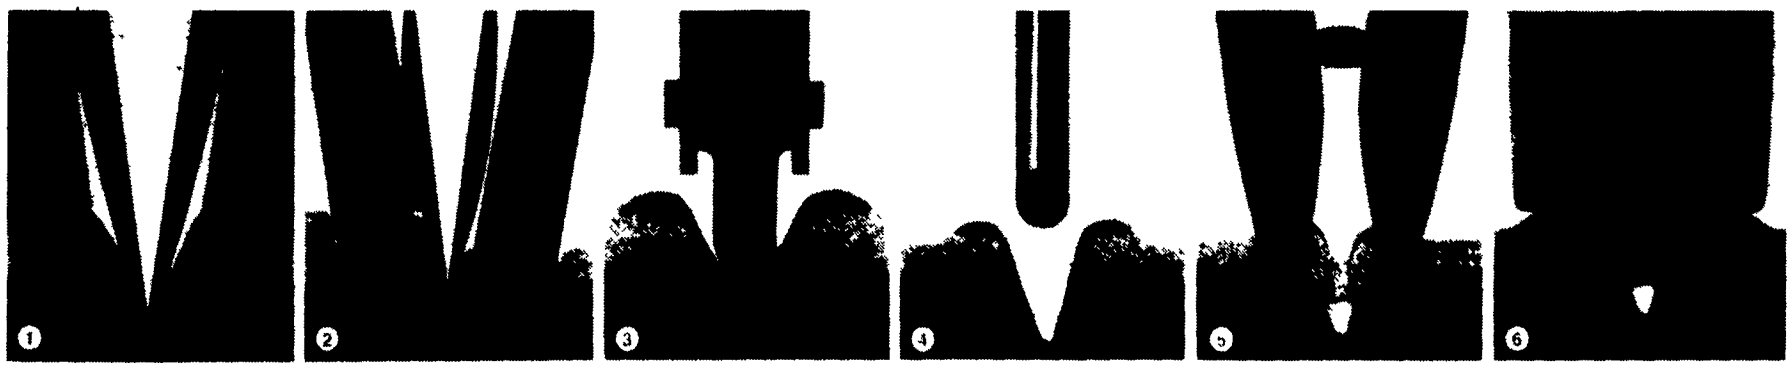
The Choice Is Yours

EARLY RISER PLANTER

THE ONE FOR CONVENTIONAL, MIN-TILL, NO-TILL & SOD



The 900 Series Early Riser Row Units Are The Secret!



1. Case IH staggered doubled disk openers reduce power demands, effectively cut through trash and penetrate hard soils, eliminating the need for costly colter attachments common to so-called "no till" planters.

2. Exclusive front pull equalizing depth gauge wheels are connected through special linkage that maintains equal pressure on the gauge wheels at all times. Grooved gauge wheel tires work to trap the moist soil brought up by the openers so that soil is placed back into the bottom of the seed trench following seed placement.

3. Improved Furrow firming point forms a well-defined "V" furrow bottom offering optimum depth control, seed spacing and germination.

4. With the clean "V" furrow bottom and smooth, narrow seed trench, seeds are delivered to the same depth and held in place for reliable uniform emergence.

5. Twin inverted staggered covering disks mounted directly behind the openers, return moist soil to the seed trench and provide good seed/soil contact.

6. Chevron-tread press wheels seal the closed seed trench and firm the furrow, eliminating air pockets and promoting optimum germination.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

QUALITY USED PARTS

We specialize in IH tractors but we also have Case, Oliver, White and Massey tractors in our inventory.

WE'RE HELPING OUR COMPETITORS SEE INTO THE FUTURE.

8 GEARS FORWARD & REVERSE WITHOUT CLUTCHING

One day there will be tractors everywhere that glide through eight forward and eight reverse gears without clutching. Ever. Of course, if you'd rather get a leg up now, consider a Kubota.

Our L2850 features the first Glideshift Transmission that requires no clutching. Easy on you, easy on your machine.

The same advanced engineering is responsible for its unique bevel gear four-wheel drive system. And the L2850GST is one of the few tractors in its mid-size class powered by a 4-cylinder direct-injection diesel engine.

It'll be some time before the competition shifts to our way of thinking.

York County Dominates Bred Gilt Show

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — York County hog producers dominated the bred gilt show at the 73rd Pennsylvania Farm Show on Saturday. Exhibitors drove their finest animals before Judge LaVern Weller of Dwight, Ill., a hog producer himself.

One of the only swine competitions in the nation to feature only bred gilts, the show was followed by a sale of the gilts on Monday and Tuesday.

Ken Winebark, hog producer and Lebanon County extension agent, got a little help showing a Hampshire gilt from his son, Brandon, 2, and daughter, Janine, 4.

John Strawbridge of Strawbridge & McCleary exhibited the champion Hampshire gilt. A March daughter of Sport, the gilt is out of Miss Superman.

Berkshires

D. L. Grumbine and Sons swept the Berkshire competition to have all class winners and both the champion and reserve champion Berkshire gilt. The champion, a homebred March gilt, possessed natural thickness and was a big gilt for her age, according to Weller.

The reserve champion, like the champion, is a Cobalt daughter and is bred to Mr. Wildcat. The Grumbines of Myerstown have a long record of winners at Farm Show, to which they have been coming for about 20 years.

Chester White

TMS Ann S88 is the tenth consecutive Chester White champion for James T. Parlett and Sons of Airville. A big gilt with tremendous natural thickness and a good underline, Ann is a Tip Top's EZ daughter out of TM Ann 5-4. She is bred to Running Gear. Tip Top's EZ also sired last year's champion and the first-place hog at the Chester White Spotlight Conference.

Scott Lazarus' February gilt was named the reserve champion CHester White. Lazarus, a Germansville hog producer, also showed last year's reserve champion at Farm Show. SL SFTKO Star is a WG7 SF TKO daughter out of GA Royal Star and is bred to Timex.

Duroc

Weller, whose plane was forced to land in Pittsburgh Friday night due to weather thereby making him late to the show, was impressed by the quality of the Duroc show. "At 4:00 a.m. today I got a call cancelling the first flight to Harrisburg, then when I just fell back asleep, the smoke alarm went off, and when I finally got to Harrisburg, the plane couldn't land immediately becase a snow plow had broken down on the runway. But it was all worthwhile when I see classes of gilts this good," he said.

Newcomer Stoney Ridge Farm, owned by the Tom Frantz family of Seven Valleys, took champion honors in the Duroc competition with 8 MS HP, a February gilt. Her dam, DCH7 PS Kay, was the reserve champion at last year's Farm Show and the show's top-selling gilt at $1,600. An HP 12 2 daughter, 8 MS HP is one of a litter of 13 that produced the grand champion at the Somerset Couty, Md., 4-H market hog show, grand champion at the 4-H York Fair open gilt show, and grand champion market hog pair at the Somerset County and York County fairs.

The second-place February gilt, shown by Mahoning Creek Farms of Smicksburg, was declared the reserve champion Duroc gilt. CM8 MS Wide Track, a Wide Track daughter out of Wide Bell, is bred to Toolbox. Mahoning Creek Farms, owned by Clyde McConaughey and family, had the champion last year.

Hampshires

The two championship Hampshire titles went to Strawbridge & McCleary of Windsor. Exhibitor of last year's champion, the farm has had many champions in the 30 years it has been coming to Farm Show.

This year's champion, a March gilt called Miss Sport 6-4, is a Sport daughter out of Miss Superman. She is bred to a grandson of Good News. "She's level on top, is free moving, has a good underline on both sides, and carries natural thickness all the way through," commented Weller.

The reserve champion was the winning February gilt, Miss Sport 3-2. She is a Sport daughter and her dam is sister to the champion's dam.

First-time Farm Show exhibitor, John Mummert and his wife, Karen, showed the champion Landrace gilt, a February Barsk daughter.

Lebanon County hog producer Leon L. Arnold showed the champion Yorkshire gilt. LLA8 Tillie farrowed in March out of LLA6 Tillie. Her sire was Smithsonian.

Landrace

First-time exhibitor John Mummert of Seven Valleys exhibited a February gilt that Weller called an outstanding individual. "She is level on top and very broody," said Weller.

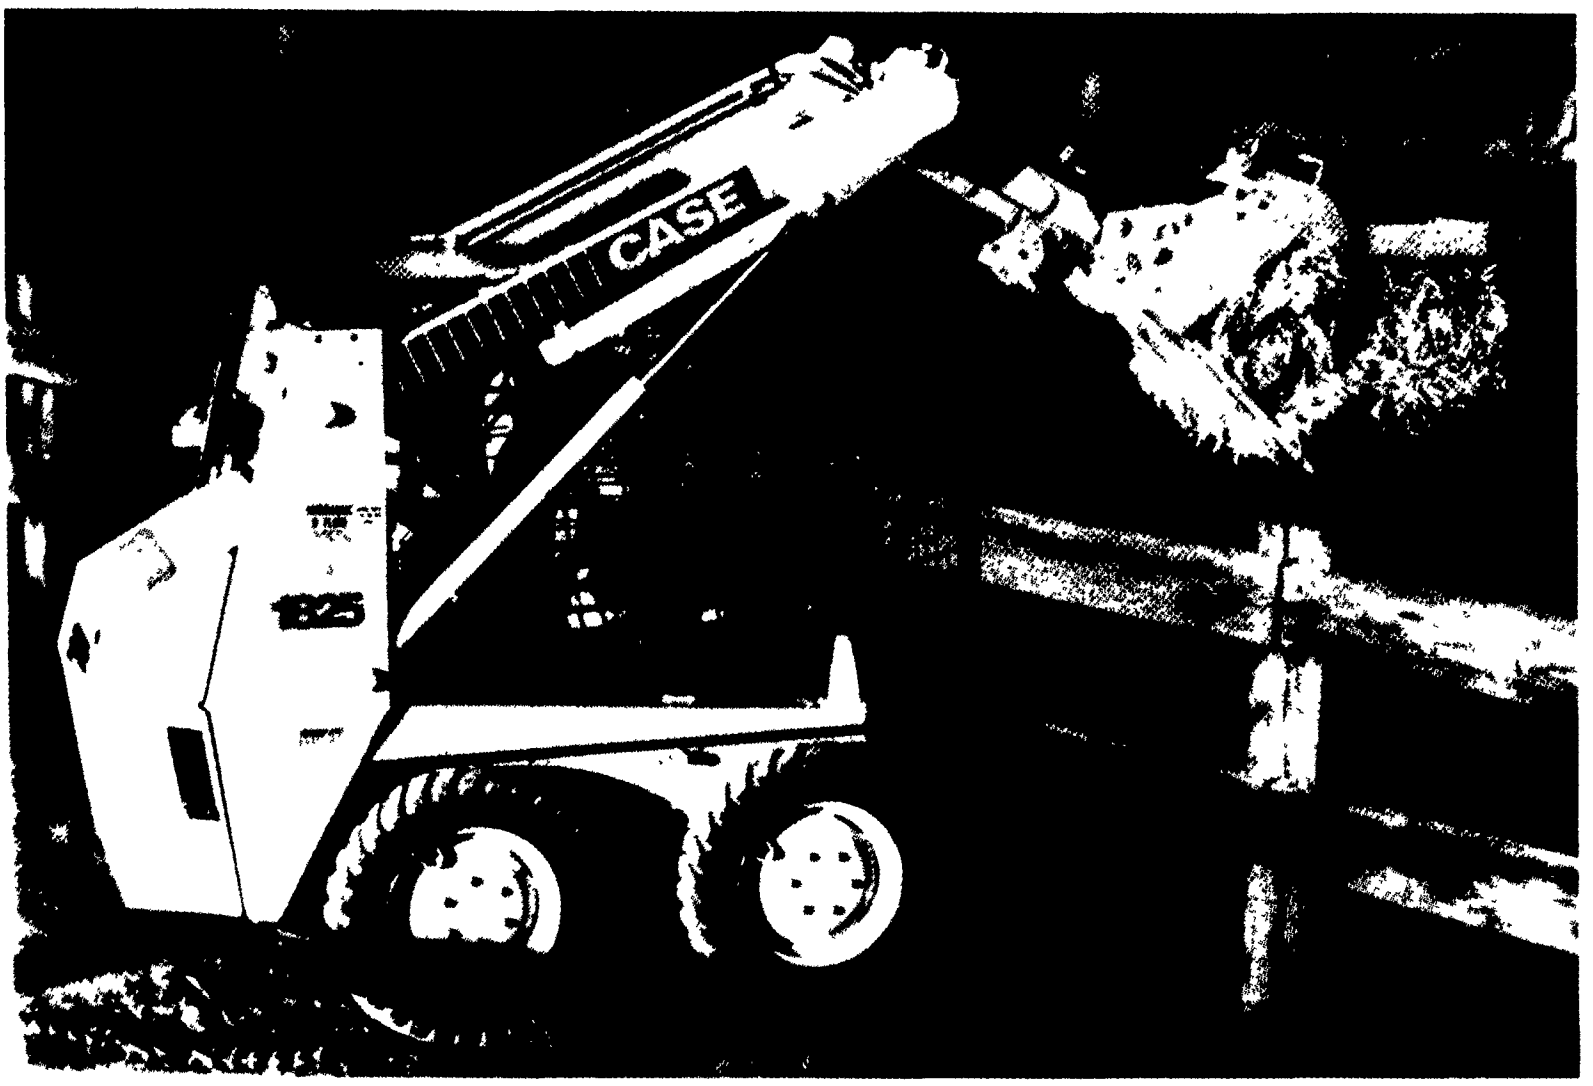
Best Values in New Equipment



Construction-site toughness assures on-farm reliability.

Day after day, year after year, Case Uni-Loader' skid-steers earn their reputation for reliability on construction sites. Their heavy-duty mainframes and rugged industrial-grade engines stand up to the most grueling punishment.

With this outstanding track record, a Uni-Loader is a natural for a long life of hard work on the farm.

It works hard. But you'll work fast and easy, controlling speed, direction and loader functions with just two hand levers. So you can concentrate on the job and forget about your feet.

A hard-working, long-running, tight-turning Uni-Loader is one of the handiest machines you'll ever own. It handles everything from feed hauling to stubborn stump removal. These industrial-strength skid-steer loaders are popular performers on farms and ranches all across the country.

See a Uni-Loader at your nearby Case IH dealer soon.

Mummert's gilt, THF 8 Blender 10-1, is out of THF Blender 6-1, the daughter of the 1987 Farm Show champion. Her sire is Barsk and she is bred to Lightning.

The reserve champion, a January daughter of White Lightning, was exhibited by Barbara Mummert, who has shown many champions at Farm Show including last year's reserve champion. THF Sandy 9-5 is out of THF Sandy 4-5 and bred to Barsk.

Poland China

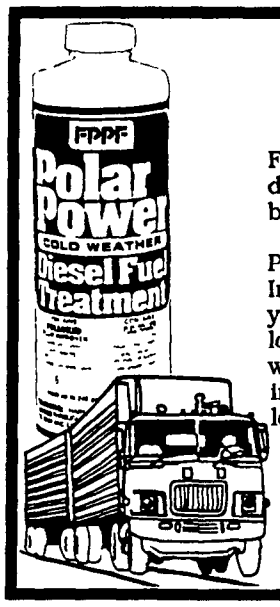
James Hilty of Mount Pleasant has been showing at Farm Show for six years and finally had a champion this year. His January Poland China gilt, King's Doll 1-5, is a Thunderdome daughter out of Miss King. Thunderdoe was premier champion at the Ohio State Fair.

Hilty also had the reserve champion, his March gilt, Miss Spider 2-3.

(Turn to Page D5)

The muscle expression and feminine head on TM8 Joanna 7-2 impressed the judge enough that he named her champion Spotted Swine gilt. She was shown by James T. Parlett.

James T. Parlett exhibited the champion Chester White gilt. TMS Ann S88 is the 10th winner in a row for Parlett.



FPPF Polar Power

Keeps Your Diesel Running When Nothing Else Will!

Fuel filters, separators do nothing to keep diesel fuel from the waxing or gelling that blocks up and clogs fuel lines and filters.

FPPF Polar Power contains FPPF's Fuel Power and FPPF's Polarized Diesel Fuel Flow Improver, the industry's leaders. It will keep your diesel running in the worst winter cold: lowering the pour-point, totally dispersing water, eliminating gum/varnish...outperforming all other additives and at lower cost.

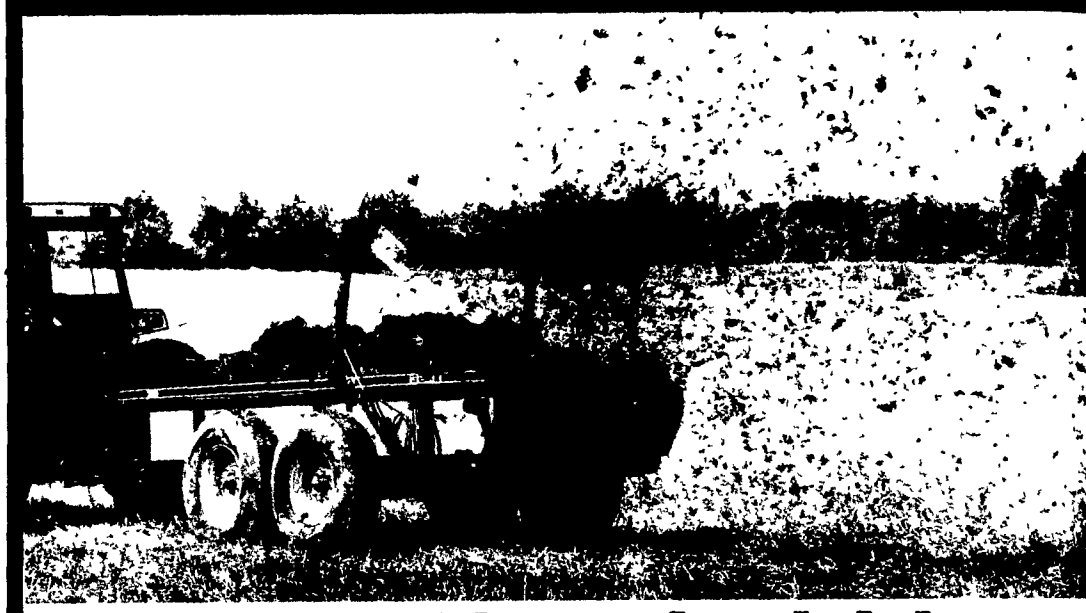
GEHL®



Unbeatable...priced right

If you handle mostly solid manure a Gehl box spreader has the performance features you want At a price you'll appreciate Add a 10-year warranty on the floor and sides and you have an unbeatable package Available only from Gehl

You get more features for your money with Gehl exclusives like these

- Special GehlTuff flooring prevents the apron from freezing to the floor and lets manure slide out with little resistance So you can start heaped loads fast even on the coldest day without excessive wear on the drives and apron chain
- Sides are made of 12 gauge corrosion-resistant GEHLSTEEL for strength and endurance
- The Gehl wide-spread beater paddles are welded on for more strength symmetrically positioned to give wide even spreads
- Constant velocity pto delivers constant smooth power transfer when you're spreading on turns
- Two speed worm drive transmission is standard
- The transmission has a polyethylene shield that sheds manure and won't rust like metal

Spotted Swine

The February Spotted gilt "exemplifies what we're looking for now and in the future when we'll need really sound hogs," stated Weller. TM8 Joanna 7-2 is owned by 25-year exhibitor, James T. Parlett of Airville who also showed last year's champion Spotted Swine gilt. Parlett has won three Farm Show championships out of the last four. Joanna's sire, Timber, was purchased in Indiana at the Farrer Stock Farm. She is out of TM7 Joanna 8-2.

The reserve champion Spotted Swine bred gilt was consigned by Russell E. Kegg of Bedford. The March class winner, RA8 Power Girl, is a Dozer daughter out of RA7 Power Girl 20-12. She is bred to Blue Ghost.

Yorkshire

In a reversal of last year's standings, 40-year veteran showman Leon L. Arnold of Lebanon edged out Windsor producer Strawbridge & McCleary to have the champion Yorshire bred gilt.

The March gilt, LLA8 Tillie, has what Weller called a total body. "She has substance, moves free and easy, shows some production, and comes at and moves away from you wide," he said. Tillie's sire, Smithsonian, was the champion at the 1986 Yorkshire boar test and sold for $2,800. She is bred to Muscle.

Grain swather heads for the model 276 bidirectional versatile tractor have been made available by Ford New Holland. Windrosw can be placed right, left, or center. The windrower push fram attaches to loader mounts and goes on in minutes.

Ford New Holland Adds Grain Windrower Heads

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster) — Ford New Holland announces the new model 4250 push frame to adapt the versatile 4000 series grain windrower heads to the "276 Series II" bidirectional power unit. As a result, bidirectional owners can mount grain windrower heads exactly as they mount the tractor's loader using the frame rails and hydraulic quick couplers. The tractor can be used to feed livestock or do other work around the farm and still be ready to windrow grain again in a matter of minutes.

This gives bidirectional owners added tractor value because they have the advantage of the high-capacity harvesting of a large hydrostatic grain windrower at a very modest cost, explained product manager Haroldo Pinto. Manager for grain windrowers at Ford New Holland, Pinto emphasized that the switch to windrowing and back to other tasks is quick and easy, not time consuming.

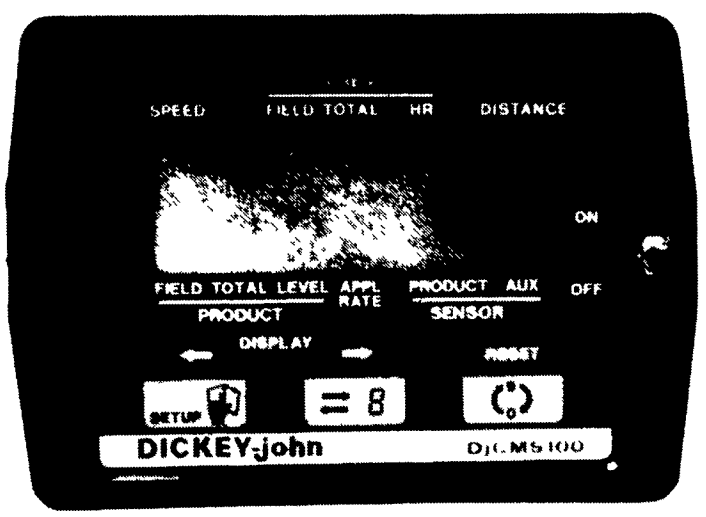
Four grain windrower heads are available. They include an 18-foot center-delivery unit, 22- and 25-foot units that deliver the windrow to either the right or left side for double swathing or to the center, and a 30-foot header designed for delivery to either the right or left side for double swathing. Windrow width can be varied from 45 to 60 inches to suit crop conditions.

The Model 276 Series II bidirectional has ample hydraulic capacity to handle the hydraulic-drive headers, noted Pinto. Three-range hydrostatic drive, high clearance and articulated steering give the unit the maneuverability it needs for grain windrowing.

Dickey-John Introduces Custom Monitoring System

AUBURN, IL. — Dickey-john Corporation has introduced the CMS100, a new monitoring system for liquid chemical sprayers.

The CMS100 custom monitoring system features a large easy-to-read liquid crystal display. A convenient touch-switch allows the user to select readouts of actual application rate (gallons per acre), vehicle speed, spraybar pressure, gallons applied per field, total gallons applied, tank level (gallons remaining), field area covered, total area covered, and area covered per hour.



A monitoring system for liquid chemical sprayers, this product has a touch switch that allows the reader to select readouts of things such as vehicle speed, total gallons applied, and tank level.

The CMS100 can be used as a stand-alone spray monitor or as a companion unit to the popular Dickey-john CCS100 Custom Control Unit to provide a fully-instrumented liquid or anhydrous control system. When used with the CCS100, the CMS100 can be programmed to activate the CCS100 audible alarm for low tank level warning.

For information on dealers, contact Advertising Manager, Dickey-john Corp., PO Box 10, Auburn, IL 62615.

Automatic's Mist Sprayer Covers Large Area

PENDER, NE. — The Automatic MS-25 mist sprayer is an economy sprayer that can cover large areas quickly, according to Ryder Supply Company. The PTO-operated sprayer covers up to 100-foot swath at speeds up to 12 mph. The polypropylene roller pump feeds nozzles into a jet stream produced by a centrifugal fan, creating a high-speed cloud of active ingredient.

The MS-25 has a 25-gallon tank and is suited to a wide range of uses. It's ideal for acreages, nurseries, estate and small truck farms and adapts well for mosquito and fly control.

Designed for Category I tractors with 540 RPM PTO, 15-40 h.p., it operates efficiently with small diesels.

For further details contact the manufacturer, Automatic Equipment Mfg. Co., Department NR, One Mill Road, Pender, Nebraska 68047, phone 402-385-3056, or the distributor for your area, Ryder Supply Company, 539 Falling Spring Road, Box 219, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania 17201, phone 717-263-9111.

BUSINESS NEWS...

Grumelli Tests Deutz-Allis

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster) — Tony Grumelli of Grumelli's Farm Service was one of more than 2,000 people who attended a Deutz-Allis North American Dealer meeting in Florida last month.

"It's very exciting to be here," he said. "I feel we're beginning a new era in this industry."

With his fellow dealers, Grumelli previewed and test drove the new 9100 Series high-horsepower tractors. He also previewed several other new products for 1989 including a 12-row planter, gleaner combine corn head, hay tools, and lawn and garden products.

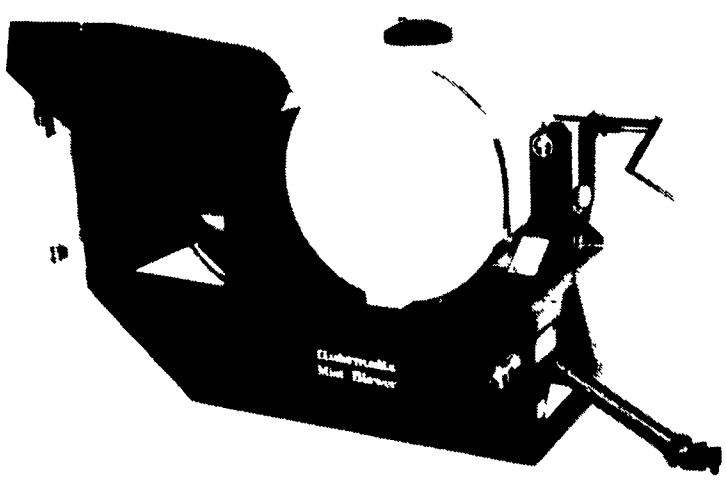
Grumelli also had the opportunity to meet with top Deutz-Allis management including Robert J. Ratliff, the company's new president and chief executive officer.

Heavy-Duty Coulters By Yetter

COLCHESTER, IL. — These rugged attachments are designed for mounting on individual planter units of Yetter row units, JD 7000, 7100, 7200 and 7300, New Idea and Kinze planters. They are mounted on such a way that the entire assembly - coulters and planter - operate as one efficient unit. The rigid steel coulter arm is fully adjustable for blade wear so the coulter always cuts to uniform depth ahead of the seed drop for precise planting.

Heavy-duty down pressure springs provide extra penetration in hard soils and prevent bouncing on rough ground. The 16-inch bubble-fluted coulter blades slash through clods and heavy trash to provide minimum tillage with maximum, uniform seed placement.

For information on dealers, contact: Yetter Mfg. Co., Colchester, IL 62326; Toll Free Outside IL —— 800/447-5777.



Capable of covering large areas, Automatic's mist sprayer has a 25-gallon tank and emits a jet stream that covers up to 100-foot swaths.

Deutz-Allis Extends Warranties On Tractors, Combines

New extended warranties now back the entire Deutz-Allis line of air-cooled diesel tractors and rotary Gleaner combines.

A four-year 4,000-hour warranty covers all the company's farm tractors from 40 to 193 PTO horsepower. The Gleaner combine extended warranty is a five-year 5,000-hour program.

"Extending the warranty periods supports our reputation for dependable farm equipment. It shows our customers that we back our products," says Bill Templeton, vice president of marketing for Deutz-Allis.

No other North American farm equipment supplier offers as broad of coverage over its entire tractor line, Templeton noted.

"This sets us apart," he says, noting that the Deutz-Allis warranty covers the company's small, mid-sized, special-dimension and large farm tractors, including the newly introduced high-horsepower 9100 Series models.

The warranted tractors, powered by renowned Deutz air-cooled diesel engines, have demonstrated reliable performance, reduced downtime and efficient operation, adds J.R. "Russ" Green, Deutz-Allis tractor marketing manager.

"We're the first industry player to have a four-year warranty across its whole tractor product line," Green says. "This is full coverage -- from the hitch pin to the weight bracket." Some components, such as tires and batteries, would be covered by manufacturer warranty.

Other manufacturers have offered extended warranties on their larger row-crop tractors, he notes, but not across their entire product line.

"We feel comfortable offering this warranty because our equipment is field-proven. Because the engines are air-cooled, farmers benefit from efficient performance and fewer breakdowns," Green notes.

Typically 40 percent of equipment downtime is caused by breakdowns in liquid-cooled systems, he says. The Deutz air-cooled engine design eliminates the need for these systems -- and the costs of fixing these kinds of breakdowns, he explains.

"In farmers' terms, this means that the engine won't overheat during heavy spring fieldwork. It won't pop a hose during planting operations. And it won't blow a water pump when you need to get the crop in the ground water rather than be running across the countryside to get a part," he adds.

Smooth-running operations are just as critical at harvest, notes Tom Stadtmueller, Deutz-Allis combine marketing manager.

"At harvest you need to be in the combine, not be up to your elbows replacing a radiator hose," says Stadtmueller.

"Our entire rotary Gleaner combine line is powered by the Deutz engine. The product is dependable, and the warranty demonstrates to our customers that we mean what we say about the heart of the Gleaner," he says.

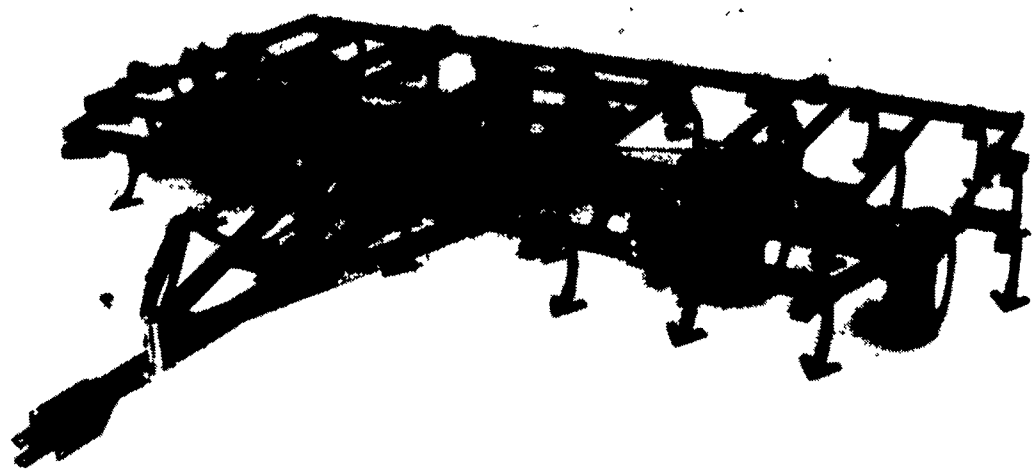
The combine warranty offers full coverage for the first two years, then adds three years of extended coverage over the engine and power train. The key components that are covered in years three through five include: the cylinder drive gear box; the transmission, the hydro unit, the final drives and the internal components of these major units; plus the front and rear axles.

Both the tractor and combine warranties have deductibles built into the programs. For combines, there's a $100 deductible for each repair starting in the second year of the warranty. For years three, four and five, there's a $400 deductible per repair.

For tractors, starting the second year of the warranty the deductible for tractors under 100 PTO horsepower is $150 per incident. For tractors over 100 PTO horsepower, the deductible is $250 per incident.

Deutz-Allis dealers across North America have details on the new warranty program, notes Templeton. "We invite producers to stop in and see what sets us apart," he says.

Kewanee Offers New Cultivator



This new field cultivator from Kewanee Farm Equipment offers improved clearance and less plugging. Kewanee's 380 Series field cultivator has unique, heavy-duty shanks that provide more vibrating action and less opportunity for trash to slow farmers down. Shank spacing is 6 or 7½ inches, allowing farmers to match conditions for maximum soil mixing and chemical incorporation. Non-folding models are available from 10 feet 6 inches to 15 feet 8 inches and winged and flex-winged models come in widths of 16 feet 6 inches to 53 feet 2 inches.

For Yield... W-L alfalfa stacks up.

FOURTH YEAR

WL Competitors

W-L Alfalfa varities are strong producers throughout the life of your stand. You can't afford to settle for less.

If your alfalfa doesn't make it to the fourth year, you've reduced the overall profitability of your crop.

In test after test by public and private researchers, W-L alfalfa yields stack up for profits. For more than 25 years, W-L alfalfa varities have been bred for long stand persistence, quick recovery after cutting, multiple pest resistance and extra leafy, fine-stemmed forage. With proper crop management, you'll have strong fourth-year yields that stack up for a profitable crop.

Pennsylvania's Outstanding Sheep Compete At Show

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG — With stately airs, hundreds of sheep paraded around the Farm Show arena on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Judge Gale Cole from Illinois remarked, "It was a much bigger show than I expected and very competitive."

Competition included the following breeds: Cheviot, Dorset, Hampshire, Shropshire, Southdown, and Suffolk.

Hampshire

In Hampshire competition, Musselman astounded competition with his ram Master Blaster.

"It's a big as a horse," admirers exclaimed.

The handsome sheep almost did not make it to competition. Musselman reported that he tried to sell the ram in the spring. When bidding only reached $300 on the auction block, Musselman changed his mind.

He's thrilled he did. The champion ram turned out to be so impressive that a breeder recently offered Musselman $8,000 for Master Blaster.

"I'm not selling," Musselman retorted. He's going to do all my breeding for me."

Musselman with his children and sister Diane, has been raising Hampshires for four year. Since the beginning, his flock has earned consistent placings in competition.

This year Musselman, who has a flock of 35, concentrated on showing his rams because he wants to expose them to the public. They were bred from his past grand champions and show the dimension and correctness of his flock.

"It was a very strong show," Musselman said. "Because Hampshires go for market lambs, it's a more competitive breed.

Competition to Musselman came in the name of Blu-Acre Farm from Robesonia. The farm is run by two families who share chores but own their sheep individually.

One family is Tim and Sarah Fleener who won the premier breeder and the champion ewe awards.

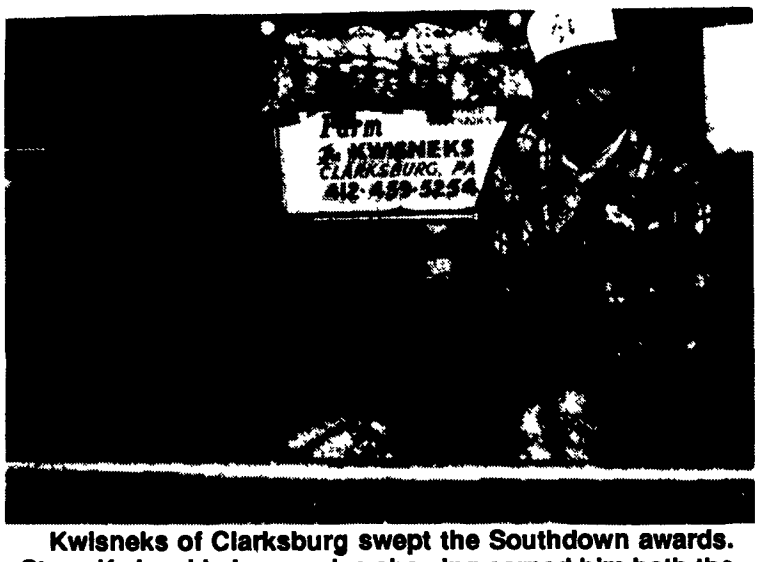
Donna MacCauley (right) of Atglen showed the Suffolk champion ewe and ram. Donna's brother, Bill, holds the ram, her mother Joan holds the plaques.

Pine Haven Farms showed the Suffolk reserve champion ewe and lamb. John and Dianne Conaway, above, were also named premier exhibitor for the Suffolk division.



Kwisneks of Clarksburg swept the Southdown awards. Steve Kwisnek's impressive showing earned him both the premier breeder and the premier exhibitor awards.

placed first in pair and pen of lambs.n

Dorset

It was no surprise that Dr. Robert and Mrs. Herr of Narvon captured the champion ram and ewe honors; they've been doing it for about 15 years.

The Herr family owns a group of 40 Dorset; six came for Farm Show competition. Dr. Herr said last year's champion ram sired all the lambs for the fall.

"We're be back next year with lambs sired from this year's champion," promised Herr.

The Kenneth Staver family from Palmyra was named premier breeder for the Dorset breed.

Veteran winner Alicia Strausbaugh from York claimed the premier exhibitor award.

Southdown

Steve Kwisnek did it again. His Southdowns swept all categories except fall and spring ewe competition. Representatives of their 100-head flock have topped competition for the last three years. The Kwisneks are from Scenic View Farm in Clarksburg, Indiana County.

They do their own breeding and have built an enviable reputation among sheep breeders.

Shropshire

Wey Shropshires is a familiar name in the Shropshire competition. With champion and reserve champion rams, the Mertztown breeder captured the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

Champion and reserve champion ewe honors went to Geoff Powell. The Rome, Bradford County breeder gave Wey Farms stiff competition. They followed a close second with their numerous first placings.

Cheviot

Mike Koehler of Schnecksville, Lehigh County, showed a strong lead in Cheviot competition. In addition to placing first with his

Sarah and Kevin Kuykendall showed prize winning Southdowns for breeder Steve Kwisnek.

Line up in the Dorset division shows what judge Gale Cole of Illinois called a very competitive and outstanding show. "It was a lot more sheep than I expected," he said.

champion ewe and ram, Koehler earned the premier exhibitor award.

Jodie Frantz from Koehler's hometown received the premier breeder award.

Suffolk

Pine Haven Farms made their annual pilgrimage to Farm Show. John and Dianne Conaway show Suffolks from the 100-head flock that garnered them a premier exhibitor award.

With reserve champions in both ewe and ram divisions, Pine Haven continued their consistent record of winning four out of five years.

Donna MacCauley was back this year with a better than ever flock. Her Suffolks, which she breeds herself, earned champion honors in both ewe and ram categories. Those points resulted in a premier breeder award for her. Donna also shows in 4-H and FFA competition.

Conservation Topic Of Ag Breakfast

NEWARK, DE — Conservation will be the topic of this year's first Friends of Agriculture buffet breakfast Wednesday, January 25, at 7:30 a.m. at the Sheraton Inn, Dover. The chairperson of the Washington County Soil Conservation District (Maryland), Donald L. Stickler, will be the speaker. The monthly meeting is sponsored jointly by Cooperative Extension and state agricultural leaders.

Stickler, a Maryland beef and grain farmer, is a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The annual meeting of the Delaware Association of Conservation Districts is scheduled to follow his presentation.

Reservations for the $6 breakfast should be made by January 19. Send a check payable to Friends of Agriculture to David H. Woodward, 127A Townsend Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19717.

Girven Wins IFYE Award

HARRISBURG—Alice Girven, Muncy (Lycoming) received the highest honor for her work with the International 4-H Foreign Youth Exchange. As her recognition from the national organization, Girven received a plaque during the IFYE meeting here at the Farm Show.

In making the presentation, Gail Crooke, state vice president and chairman of the state selection committee, said Girven was selected on the national level for her work as a volunteer along with her family because over the years they became involved in promoting interest and understanding in the IFYE program.

Girven said her family received more than they gave to the program. "We learned how people in the other half of the world live," Girven said. "And we found that even though people may speak different languages and have different cultures, they are still people and they can still live under one roof."

The Girven family hosted their first 4-H Exchangee from the Island of Jersey in 1979. This visit started a friendship that continues today. Since then visitors from the Netherlands, Columbia and Japan have stayed in the Girven home. And the Girven family members have visited abroad too.

"Our children still remember our first visitor," Girven said. "All our visits and visitors have been quite an educuation for our family."

Girven was a 4-H member for nine years and has been a 4-H leader for 24 years. She has held numerous county, regional and state offices including at present: key leader, international program, secretary of the State IFYE task force, president, regional 4-H committee and president of the county 4-H advisory committee.

In addition, Girven is treasurer of the Auxiliary of the Muncy Creek Volunteer Fire Company and is captain and treasurer of the fire company's ambulance service. She has been active in numerous offices for the elementary and high school parent/teacher organizations and is an active member of Messiah Lutheran Church, its ladies aid society and church choir.

Girven and her husband, Jim, have three children: Greg, 18, Krissy, 14, and Creig, 10.

Pennsylvania Honors Its Master Farmers

Honored this year are D. Ellis Dix, Wayne County; William Hoover, Huntingdon County; George Moyer, Berks County; John Park, Jefferson County; Fred and Dale Rice, Franklin County; and Larry Weaver, Lancaster County. All are from Pennsylvania.

They are recognized for their accomplishments in agricultural production, community service and leadership in farm and civic organizations. Co-sponsored by Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and Cooperative Extension in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the Master Farmer Award Program is now in its 55th year. More than 460 individuals have been honored since 1927. It is the longest-running such program in the United States.

Judges for this year's Master Farmer Awards were Art Brown, New Jersey secretary of agriculture; John Crowgey, vice president of special credit, Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore; Don Evans, assistant dean for Penn State's College of Agriculture.

Master Farmer D. Ellis Dix is a dairy farmer from Pleasant Mount who is proud of the quality of his herd and the sound conservation practices he employs on his hay and pasture land. Since starting in 1960 with 30 cows, nine heifers and bought hay, Dix has built his operation to include 45 milking cows, 38 heifers and enough hay to feed them. Dix has not plowed or seeded since 1961. He tests his forages each year for feeding recommendations and feeds his herd a mix of grass hay balanced with an economical grain mix.

Dix is the fifth-generation dairy farmer in Wayne County. He has won breeder awards at the Wayne County Fair and was on the Honor Roll for the low somatic cell count of his herd. In 1987 he received a quality milk award from Eastern Milk Producers. Dix has been a 4-H leader for 20 years and a member of the Wayne County Extension Executive committee for 16 years. He is a certified lay speaker for the Pleasant Mt. United Methodist Church.

"Over the years, Ellis has made a substantial contribution to the agricultural industry and his community. We are quite proud of the fact that he has received this award," says Wayne County extension director John Creighton.

Both a hog producer and dairy farmer, William W. Hoover of Huntingdon County believes in both diversification and simplification.

William Hoover

Huntingdon County dairy and swine farmer, William W. Hoover, has increased the efficiency and profits of his farm operation by expanding, simplifying and diversifying. In 1976 when he bought his father's farm near Tyrone, Hoover says he was "milking 60 cows in a stanchion barn with a pipeline milker system. We now milk 120 to 150 cows in a double-six milking parlor." He also has increased the size of the farm from 295 acres to 600 and rents two nearby farms. He simplified by adding automatic take-off units to the milking parlor to reduce labor costs and diversified by adding a contract hog-finishing operation.

"By diversification, we hope to increase our income substantially in both dairy and swine," he says. Hoover has served on the 4-H Development Committee and is an elder of the Birmingham Presbyterian Church. He also has a brown belt in karate, builds clocks, and is a self-confessed avid reader.

"Bill and his wife, Debbie, work as a team using farm records and managing for profit," says Huntingdon County Extension Director Bryon Ginther. "They worked closely with farm management extension agent John Brockett when they were getting started and have been supportive of extension programs ever since. The whole family has been part of 4-H," he says.

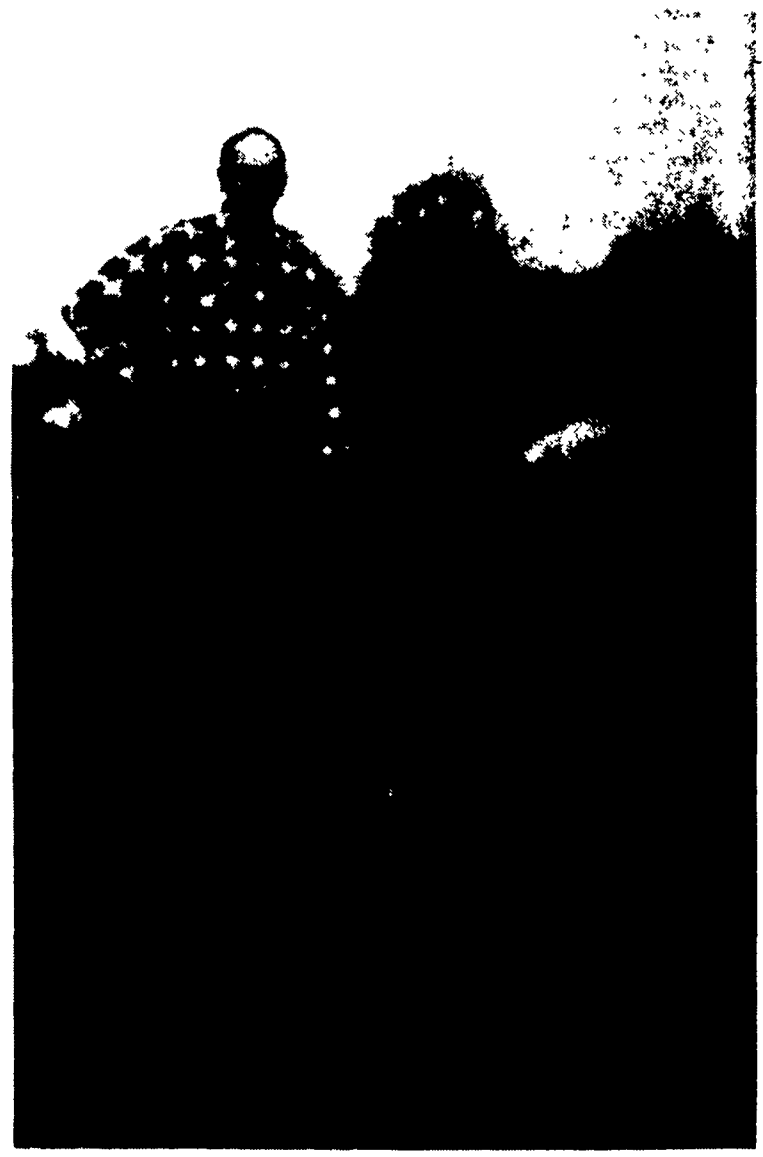
John J. Park is the owner of Parkacres, a dairy farm in Brookville. His farm has produced many winning cows including two-time Pennsylvania State Show champion Parkacres Sun Ivy EX95. Here he discusses farm management with his son.

George E. Moyer

Beginning full-time farming at the age of 16, George E. Moyer has accumulated nearly 40 years of farm management expertise. His careful attention to financial management, machine maintenance, tillage practices, and balanced ration programs have helped him produce a quality milk product that commands premium prices. Moyer established his farm near Myerstown in Berks County in 1967 and has been making improvements ever since. The original 128-acre farm with obsolete buildings is now 450 acres with a remodeled house, a remodeled bank barn, three new silos, a new milk house and milking system. He plans to build a new heifer barn and complete a partnership with his sons.

Disabled by a forage-harvester accident in 1975, he has since turned his farm into a model of farm safety. In 1987 he received an award from the National Safety Council and last year he received the Pennsylvania and Mid-Atlantic Safe-Farm Awards. He has served on the township zoning hearing board, the Berks County Land Preservation Board and has been active in a number of area churches.

"George has been very supportive of agricultural programs in Berks County, including Cooperative Extension," says Herbert Wetzel, Berks County Extension director. "He has served on the Berks County Cooperative Extension Association Board of Directors for several years and was president for two years."



Ellis Dix is a Wayne County dairy farmer who milks 45 cows and who has not plowed or seeded since 1961 yet has won numerous dairy awards and whose herd is on the honor roll for a low somatic cell count.

New Holland farmer Larry R. Weaver has a hog and beef cattle operation that began as 45 acres of land and rented equipment. The fourth-generation farmer's goal for the next few years is to have a century farm.

Farmer John J. Park. He has a herd of 80 registered milk cows and an equal number of replacements. Park is known for his breeding program, which has given him a number of show and production winners. The most notable winner is Parkacres Sun Ivy EX95 with nearly 40,000 pounds of milk. She was the Pennsylvania grand champion in 1981 and 1982 at the Pennsylvania State Championship shows. His breeding program also has allowed him to sell replacement animals world-wide.

Park has continued to make progressive changes to keep the farm profitable. No-till and minimum tillage have reduced energy and labor costs and soybeans have reduced costs of protein purchases, he says. He also maintains corn test plots to find the best varieties for local conditions. His cattle have received awards at county, district and state Holstein sows, and he is a county 5-Acre Corn Club Champion. Park is president of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association in Jefferson County. He is a member of the Masons, served on the Eldred Township Board of Supervisors, and was a Brookville Area School Board Director for two years.

"John Park is a former Extension Association Board member and has continued to support extension and other agricultural programs in the county. I've enjoyed working with him on the Master Farmer program," says Susan DuFour, agricultural extension agent in Jefferson County.

Fred and Dale Rice

Master Farmer partners Fred and Dale Rice are owners of Ricecrest Farms near Chambersburg in Franklin County. Their model dairy farm has been a feature for farm tours, builders groups, field days and even the Franklin County Extension Dairymen's Open House. Fred began farming with his father in the 1970s after having worked for the U.S. Department of Agriculture at the Beltsville Research Center in Maryland. He takes care of the management and Dale, a Penn State graduate in animal science, is the herdsman.

Brothers Fred and Dale Rice of Chambersburg have dairy farm that has been featured on farm tours, in field days and the Franklin County Extension Dairyman's Open House.

Since going into partneership in 1980, the brothers have been working toward "cost-efficiency, time-efficiency and labor efficiency" through a number of production, conservation and management innovations. The farm has received several individual cow production awards. Fred has served as grade-school basketball coach and is a member of the New Guilford Church Board. Dale is also active in the New Guilford Brethren Church.

"They are top folks and have been tremendous cooperators. We have worked closely with them in developing their operations and they have been generous with their time supporting extension program and the community. Fred has been president of our extension Association Board," says extension dairy agent in Franklin County.

Larry Weaver

New Holland Master Farmer, Larry R. Weaver, is a fourth-generation farmer who concentrates on diversification. In 20 years he has transformed 45 acres and rented equipment into a 200-acre farm with an additional 150 acres of rented land. Having bought his uncle's neighboring farm and then the family farm from his father, Weaver has a 150 sow, farrow-to-finish operation and feeds 160 head of cattle. He began with 40 steers, 2500 laying hens and eight acres of tobacco. Hailstorms wiped out the tobacco early on.

Several years later he switched from poultry to swine in order to keep his independence and in increase his profitability. In the late 1970s, he increased his feeder cattle operation. Farming at the urban fringe, flexibility has worked for him. His goals for the next few years are to have a century farm and to maintain his diversification. Weaver received a 20-year service award as a 4-H leader in Lancaster County, an Outstanding Farmer award from the U.S. and New Holland Jaycees and was named honorary chapter farmer by the Grassland chapter of FFA. He also serves on the Agricultural Committee of the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce.

"Larry got his start in 4-H and has maintained his interest and support ever since. He's very deserving of this award," says Jay Irwin, Lancaster County Extension director.

After nearly 40 years as a farmer, George E. Moyer of Berks County has built up a 128-acre farm into 450 acres with a remodeled house and bank barn, three new silos, a new milk house, and a new milking system. Next to come will be a heifer barn and a partnership with his sons.

Pioneer Receives Alfalfa Inoculant Patent

JOHNSTOWN, IA — Pioneer now has a patent to augment the laboratory research and field trials of Pioneer/brand 1155 alfalfa hay inoculant. 1155 was introduced in the summer of 1988, in a limited introduction, as the first bacterial inoculant specifically for alfalfa hays. It contains naturally occurring micro-organisms isolated from high-quality alfalfa hay. The organisms in 1155 are not single organisms, but rather aerobic bacteria adapted to grow on moist alfalfa hay.

The advantage of harvesting hay at higher moisture levels is protein savings from retention of more leaves in every ton of hay. By using 1155, producers can bale hay at higher moistures, reducing weather risks.

The 1155 patent is a utility patent for the use of Bacillus pumilus on hay.

"Many of the products on the market currently contain acids and salts, which can be damaging to the environment. 1155 contains only naturally occurring micro-organisms that have not been genetically manipulated. The micro-organisms in the product are environmentally friendly and non-toxic," explained Dr. Nancy Tomes, a MGD microbiologist of the Microbial Genetics Division, who has directed the research for the development of 1155.

"The patent itself is unique, in that it is the very first and only patent for the use of Bacillus organisms on hay," said Tomes. "This patent will protect our invention. No one else will be able to use this microbial technology -- the use of Bacillus pumilus on hay. Further, we have data to show that the product works throughout the major hay producing areas of North America. We have applied for the patent in many other countries throughout the world where hay is produced.

"We're the only company with extensive research to back up our product. Other companies with other preservative products for use on hay may have four of five trials, but we have more than 50 trials on the product. 1155 has been developed especially for use on alfalfa hay. This patent reinforces the leadership position of Pioneer in the development of microbial inoculants, using naturally occurring micro-organisms," Tomes said.

"We are evaluating tests of the product on large, round bales and on different types of hay. We'll make additional recommendations of the product once they are supported by the research," said Greg Dana, director of product development and regulatory affairs. "Today, 1155 is sold as a water soluble powder, but we're testing a granular formulation for use on small square bales of alfalfa hay."

Effect Of Milk Production On Forage Intake Of Beef Cows

A Nebraska report recently shows the results of forage intake of beef cows differing in milk-production potential. They used three groups of cows with high, medium, or low milk-production potential, in early and late lactations.

We know that the weight of the cow will have the most important impact on the intake of feed. Their data suggests the milk production of the cow will be just as important in some cows. The high-production cows consistently ate more feed and weaned heavier calves, while little differnce was found between medium- and low-production cows for weaning weight and forage intake. Further, the weight of the cow did not influence intake as greatly as did the level of milk production.

This suggests to us that, as we plant the forage-based wintering system or a rotationally grazed pasture system, we need to take into account the milk production potential of the cow. Those higher-milk producing cows should be handled differntly by feeding them separately or by using a little different stocking rate for them than we would use for cows with less production potential.

Subsequental Implanting With Growth Stimulants

A recent Kansas State study has found implanting of calves during the suckling or growth phase had no effect on performance during the feedlot phase. These researchers implanted calves at birth, at weaning, and/or during the feedlot phase. They were trying to determine if any earlier implants would have any effect on performance in the feedlot.

Their results indicated there was an increase in final weight for all implant treatments compared to non-implanted controls. They further found that any combination of implants increased feed conversion in the feedlot, and all but one of the treatments reduced quality grade in the carcass because of less fat disposition. However, one of the treatments reached an average of Choice grade and all treatments averaged within the Select grade. Other carcass traits were not effected.

This study points out some important factors about implants. First, they are an effective way to increase weight in cattle at any time during their lifetime. For the calf producer who is marketing a weaned or backgrounded steer, it still remains one of those "must" things to do for profitability. Secondly, the compromise is that the cattle will have to be fed slightly longer to reach a Choice endopint. Most of the simulation I have seen for the feedlot will show the added cost of keeping them a little extra time will be more than paid for by the added value of the Choice steer. Finally, the added feed conversion is a plus that should not be underestimated.

Pennsylvania Beef Conference

The Pennsylvania Beef Conference will be held at the Sheraton Hotel in Altoona, Pa., on March 17-18. The educational program will focus on production and marketing of the calf at weaning. This will include topics of health and nutrition of the cow at weaning, marketing cull cows, using the single-calf heifer system, a marketing analysis for the weaned calf, and a live tele-auction of feeder calves. The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association will hold their annual membership meeting, banquet, and Fun Auction during the event. If you would like to have more information, contact me at 814/863-3661 or Dr. Lowell Wilson at 814/863-3659.

Farm/City Awards Given

HARRISBURG — Three counties recieved plaques in honor of their efforts to promote Farm-City relations. Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff made the presentations.

Lebanon County placed first in the 1988 Farm-City awards with Mifflin County receiving second and Franklin County third.

The Lebanon County Farm-City Council headed by Leroy Geesaman provided the best countywide effort to promote Farm-City activities and to further understanding between rural and urban Pennsylvania citizens. Their activities included farm and industry tours, educational programs in local school and job exchanges. By virtue of their win, Lebanon County will automatically host the Farm-City Kickoff next November.

A close second place was recorded by the Mifflin County Farm-City Council and chairwoman Donna Snook. They had numerous countywide activities such as an antique farm equipment show, farm tours, and petting zoo with farm animals.

The Franklin County organization headed by Dalton Paul is a perennial winner in the Farm-City competition. They held a variety of activities during 1988 and hosted the annual State Farm-City Week Kickoff Luncheon with the state honorary chairman Governor Robert Casey as guest speaker.

Judging for the awards was based on innovative approach, community impact, use of local agencies, citizen participation and rural and urban cooperation. Records of activities or events that are kept by the participants, along with the amount of news coverage also aid in the judging criteria.

Pennsylvania Farm-City Week starts the Friday before Thanksgiving and runs through Thanksgiving Day. It is sponsored by local, state and national Farm-City Councils. The purpose of the week is to help create a better understanding of the problems faced mutually by rural and urban residents.

Each year counties, groups and agencies are selected for activities that support and promote understanding between rural and urban areas of the Commonwealth. This includes things like job exchanges between city people and farm people and tours of industries, farms, and food processing facilities.

All county Farm-City organizations are encouraged to submit reports on their activities for recognition under the awards program sponsored by Kiwanis International. Reports should be submitted to the Pennsylvania Farm-City Council, 2404 Park Drive, Commerce Park, Harrisburg, PA 17110 by December 2, 1989.

Beef Producers' Workshop

ELKTON, MD. — The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, Cecil County is sponsoring a Beef Producers' Workshop to be held January 23. A dutch-treat lunch workshop will be held at 11 a.m. at the Dock Street Crab House in the Big Elk Mall in Elkton, Maryland.

Topics for discussion include calf health and vaccination update by Dr. Douglas Carmel, University of Maryland veterinarian. Carmel will cover updates on vaccine techniques and diseases. Pasture management topics will be addressed by Dr. Scott Barao, University of Maryland Livestock Specialist. Pasture nutrients, fertilization planning and species selection will be discussed by Barao. The third topic covered will be cattle breeding by Robert Halman, Cecil County Agricultural Agent. Bull soundness exams, artificial insemination, and sire selection will be highlighted.

This workshop is free of charge. Buffet lunch will be available for individual patronage at the approximate cost of $5. So that we may estimate the number of participants, interested persons are asked to contact the Cecil County Extension Office at 301/398-0200 or 301/658-4041, Extension 180 if you plan to attend.

One on One

What's the best approach to solving a farmer's problem? At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, we believe it's one-on-one. Face-to-face, informal meetings between our field representatives and our members.

Our field representatives are a crucial link between Atlantic and its members. The cooperative can pay out a record amount in patronage, equity and premiums, yet our members rely on the personal service they receive.

Each of our field representatives is trained to help dairy farmers produce better milk and make more money. They are experts in improving milk quality and milking systems, and are well-versed in farm construction and equipment.

Would you like to be a part of this one-on-one approach? Then call or write today. Get to know the advantages of Atlantic membership.

USE COUNTER®. BECAUSE YOU CAN'T AFFORD A PERFORMANCE GAP IN INSECT CONTROL.

Every season, a complex of insect pests is waiting to attack your corn crop. So you need the best protection you can get with COUNTER® systemic insecticide-nematicide.

NO PERFORMANCE GAP

COUNTER consistently controls more major corn pests than any other product. And you can't afford to risk a performance gap in your insect control. (See chart.)

COUNTER controls a broad spectrum of pests, including corn rootworms, wireworms, white grubs, nematodes and other insects that can attack your crop and reduce yields. And COUNTER gives you guaranteed cutworm protection. See your local Cyanamid AgriCenter™ dealer for details on this product guarantee.
